Rankin Branch opens new facility in Pearl

by Chris Howie

The Hinds Junior College District Rankin Branch Vocational-Technical Center opened its doors this past week.

The Center is located on Highway 80 East in Pearl. Students in the Rankin and Pearl Separate School districts will have the opportunity to take vocational and technical courses. At the Center, the students will receive basic job skills associated with a specific occupation or career. When the students finish the course, they will be ready to find employment in their area of study or continue their education at a postsecondary school.

The Vo-Tech center operates during the morning and afternoon on a split shift system. The students will attend classes one-half day at their respective high schools, then go to the Center the other part of the day.

The completely modern Center covers 80,000 square feet. The building and equipment cost nearly $4 million. The Rankin County Board of Supervisors, the Rankin County and Pearl School districts, the State Division of Vocational-Technical Education and Hinds Junior College District shared the cost.

The Center will also offer evening college classes for which over 150 students have enrolled for the fall semester.

Courses offered at the Rankin Branch are: Intensive Business Training, Industrial Training, Quantity Foods Services, Metal Trades, Diversified Occupations Cooperative, Industrial Electricity and Electronics, Automotive Mechanics, Marketing, Allied Health Cluster, Automotive Body and Frame Repair, Agricultural Diesel Mechanics, Carpentry, Refrigeration and Air Conditioning, Practical Nursing, Human Services Technology and Psychiatric Aide.

The Rankin Vocational-Technical staff are: Jimmy C. Smith, director; Bobbie Jean Thomas, secretary to the director; Gayle F. Katsulis, secretary; Wayne Stonecypher, head counselor; LaPearl Y. Myricks, counselor; Jeff Wade, maintenance supervisor; Eugene Williams and Jerry Spann, custodians.

The instructors are: Garry Kiefer, Ernest McFadden, C. Sue Pitts, Karen Robbins, John Scoggins, Patrick Scott, Phillip Scott, Alice Smith, James Taylor, Elaine Bridges, Carol Callaway, Charles Franklin, Ollie Heidelberg and Joyce Vinson.

Yearbook seeks staff members

The HJC yearbook staff is looking for people who are interested in working on the 1984 Eagle. There are positions open for layouts, copywriters, typists, and photographers. Previous experience on a yearbook staff is not required but it is helpful.

There will be a meeting for those who are interested Thursday, September 15 at 2:30 in the Public Relations office in the Student Union Building.

Please come by if you are interested in working on The Eagle.

New Campus Grill to feature fast food

The student union's "Eagles Nest" is closed temporarily for renovation so that they can provide the campus with a new fast food operation. This will enable students to get a good food selection in an attractive environment with quick service. One of the feature items will be a 4 oz. fresh all beef patty which will be processed through Hinds Junior College Meat Processing Plant.

Mr. Troy Henderson, Director of Physical Plant, stated that the new look will include new seating and flooring similar to the Deli and a newly equipped kitchen, providing students with fast meals or snacks between classes.

During this period of renovation, there have been some Pepsi wagons placed on the campus for cold drinks and snacks. Also, the Deli/Coffee Shop in the cafeteria will be open from 7:00 a.m. - 10:00 a.m. providing a continental breakfast from 7:45 a.m. - 8:30 a.m. They will serve soft drinks, pastries, coffee, orange juice and ice cream.

The main dining room will open at 10:00 a.m. for cash customers and early brunch, which will be helpful in beating the crowd for lunch.

In 2 or 3 weeks the stadium building will be open with a new student lounge with vending machines and will have pool tables.

Mr. Mike Cory, Director of Food Services, said that he hopes to have the new "Eagles Nest" open by October 17.

Parents Day sponsored by Hinds Connection

The annual "Parents Day", sponsored by the Hinds Connection was held on August 28 and several hundred people attended.

Jackie Granberry, Director of Recruitment, welcomed the parents of new students and acquainted them with the campus, calling attention to new programs and services being offered.

Dr. Clyde Muse, President and Dr. Lura Scales, faculty member, gave short presentations to greet parents and welcomed the new students to the campus.

An entertaining skit was performed by the Hinds Connections called "College 'Back When' and Now."

The parents were given a short campus tour ending with a reception and refreshments. Everyone felt that it was very entertaining as well as informative.

PARENTS DAY — Members of the Hinds Connection present a play for the parents of students that attended August 28 in Cain Hall Auditorium.

Beware of Traffic

With the return of the students to the campuses, the traffic on the highways leading to Hinds has reminded us of a letter which has appeared several times in Ann Landers column that Paul "Bear" Bryant read to his students each fall.

Dead At 17

Agony claws my mind, I am a statistic. When I first got here I felt very much alone. I was overwhelmed with grief, and I expected to find sympathy.

I found no sympathy. I saw only thousands of others whose bodies were as badly mangled as mine. I was given a number and placed in a category. The category was called "Traffic Fatalities."

The day I died was an ordinary school day. How I wish I had taken the bus! But I was too cool for the bus. I remember how I wheedled the car out of Mom. "Special favor," I pleaded. "All the kids drive." When the 2:50 bell rang, I threw my books in the locker...free until tomorrow morning! I ran to the parking lot, excited at the thought of driving a car and being my own boss.

It doesn't matter how the accident happened. I was goofing off...going too fast, taking crazy chances. But I was enjoying my freedom and having fun. The last thing I remember was passing an old lady who seemed to be going awfully slow. I heard a crash and felt a terrific jolt. Glass and steel flew everywhere. My whole body seemed to be turning inside out. I heard myself scream.

Suddenly, I awakened. It was very quiet. A police officer was standing over me. I saw a doctor. My body was mangled. I was saturated with blood. Pieces of jagged glass were sticking out all over. Strange that I wouldn't feel anything. Hey, don't pull that sheet over my head. I can't be dead. I'm only 17. I've got a date tonight. I'm supposed to have a wonderful life ahead of me. I haven't lived yet. I can't be dead.

Later I was placed in a drawer. My folks came to identify me. Why did they have to see me like this? Why did I have to look at Mom's eyes when she faced the most terrible ordeal of her life? Dad suddenly looked very old. He told the man in charge, "Yes—he is our son."

The funeral was weird. I saw all my relatives and friends walk toward the casket. They looked at me with the saddest eyes I've ever seen. Some of my buddies were crying. A few of the girls touched my hand and sobbed as they walked by.

Please—somebody—wake me up! Get me out of here. I can't bear to see Mom and Dad in such pain. My grandparents are so weak from grief they can barely walk. My brother and sister are like zombies. They move like robots. In a daze. Everybody. No one can believe this. I can't believe it, either.

Please, don't bury me! I'm not dead! I have a lot of living to do! I want to laugh and run again. I want to sing and dance. Please don't put me in the ground! I promise if you give me just one more chance, God, I'll be the most careful driver in the whole world. All I want is one more chance. Please, God, I'm only 17.

Campus ROTC seeks new recruits for '83

"Be All You Can Be," is the motto of the U.S. Army and also of a certain Hinds Junior College academic department.

The Department of Military Science, that is. Or put more simply, Army ROTC.

"Last year we had approximately 100 Hinds students enrolled in ROTC," said Captain Jim Reese, one of three assistant professors of military science who teach at Hinds. "The strange thing is," he said, "there are still many Hinds students who don't know that ROTC is available at Hinds."

This summer four Hinds students were awarded Army ROTC scholarships. That means that the Army will pay for their tuition, books and school supplies, and also pay them $100 a month while they are enrolled in ROTC, according to Reese.

The captain said that students who enroll in ROTC at Hinds incur no military obligation, unless they are selected for and accept an ROTC scholarship. "We teach the first two years of ROTC at Hinds," he said. "If a student wishes to earn a commission, he/she must complete the remaining two years at a four-year institution."

Students who successfully complete the entire ROTC program are awarded commissions as Army second lieutenants. "Many of our students transfer to the University of Southern Mississippi, Mississippi State and Jackson State University," he said. He added that the ROTC program at Hinds Junior College and Tougaloo College are administered from Jackson State, which is the area's ROTC "host institution."

"We're revamping the ROTC program at Hinds Junior College through the addition of a Leadership Lab for both freshmen and sophomore ROTC cadets," he said. "In this way we will be able to provide more meaningful leadership training and cover some subjects in greater depth. We want our cadets to have the best training they can get."

He said that one Hinds student, Travis Green, completed Airborne School this summer. "We have all kinds of training opportunities," said the captain. "And we feel that the ROTC graduate has a definite advantage over other graduates in the job market and life in general," he said. "We challenge a student to go to his or her limits, and most of our students have found that they can go far beyond what they previously thought were their limits."

One student who feels that ROTC has definitely changed her life is Miss Edna Womack, who was elected "Miss Hinds Junior College ROTC" by her fellow cadets last year.

"It's definitely a challenging program," said the Mendenhall native. "I know that I've definitely gained more self-confidence through my participation in ROTC. The opportunities for personal growth have few parallels. I feel that regardless of what kind of career you may pursue, your ROTC training and experiences will help you

"Presidential Speaking"

We would like to welcome our returning students, entering freshmen, and other first-time students to the 1983 fall semester at the Hinds Junior College District. We trust that you will experience a unique and most pleasant educational experience here at Hinds. We feel that you will find our faculty and staff most deserving of its reputation for being dedicated, efficient, eager to serve, and satisfying to students while providing quality educational experiences to each student.

Last year marked a new beginning for everyone served by Hinds and Utica Junior Colleges. A new unitary district that encompassed Claiborne, Copiah, Hinds, Rankin, and Warren counties brought these two fine educational institutions together. Under the governance of a single Board of Trustees administered by one Chief Executive Officer, we all committed ourselves to a quality educational program dedicated to bring better services to all the people within our district with the assurance that the most economical way would be determined for providing the best education for all students.

Initial construction of the Rankin Branch was completed during the year along with the initial staff and selection of equipment. Master planned over the next decade as a multi-building comprehensive community college campus, this first phase consists of the Pearl-Rankin Vocational-Technical Center which will be operated by the District to serve the secondary vocational needs of Pearl and Rankin County schools. Adult vocational and technical programs will be offered during the evening along with academic transfer courses. Funding for this project was provided by the State Division of Vocational-Technical Education and the taxpayers of Rankin County. Rankin County is projected as a real growth center within our state and the Rankin Branch is expected to parallel this growth in terms of needed educational services.

Renovation of the Hinds County Agricultural High School building began this year. Reroofing, new floor tile, and a fresh coat of paint for the building will allow students in the high school to attend classes in a more attractive setting.

A ground breaking ceremony for dormitories, the first dormitories for Utica, was held May 15. The construction project will include three dormitories which will house a total of 350 students and a cafeteria. Construction costs of the project will be approximately 3.5 million dollars which is being funded by a loan from the U.S. Housing and Urban Development. The loan will be repaid by proceeds from the housing fees of students living in these dormitories. Costs of the furnishings and equipment for the four buildings will be $500,000 which is being provided through District funds. The completion date for the project is fall 1984.

On the Raymond Campus the Agricultural Technology Complex continues to be developed with plans under way to construct an arena and Farm Management Program beginning this fall. Renovation of the Student Union Building Grill includes a new roof for the building and the renovation of the grill section to provide first class facilities for fast food operation.

Two vocational-technical programs on the Raymond Campus have been moved from the stadium building to the vocational building. The stadium building will then be renovated into a student center and present recreation center will be used for increased space for the book store.

Resurfacing of drives and parking areas have been completed at the Jackson Branch.

The Hinds Junior College District's Development Foundation Board of Directors voted to expand the scope of the Foundation to reflect the new unitary district. Additional scholarships, equipment, and loans are being provided this year.

Your student officials have been meeting and planning activities for the opening of this session. I am tremendously impressed by your leader's work and feel they have some exciting plans for students for the coming year. I would challenge each of you students to work with your elected student leaders by becoming involved in the activities.

We certainly hope that you will find the year just as exciting and rewarding as we feel it will be. Your learning resources are here—faculty, staff, facilities and opportunities. They are yours for the asking.

SURPRISE FOR ANGIE — Hinds Hi-Stepper gave a surprise shower for Angie Allen due to a fire destroying her home in Mize, Mississippi. Angie was at Hi-Stepper Camp at the time.

Hi-Steppers surprise Angie with love shower

Anyone who is or has been involved in any of the organizations here at HJC is aware of the closeness that can sometimes develop between the students and the advisors. This can be found true in most cases but one in particular is that of the Hi-Steppers. When misfortune struck one of their members, the others were there to lend a helping hand.

During Hi-Stepper camp in July, Angie Allen received a call from her mother telling that her house in Mize, Mississippi had burned down. The Hi-Steppers decided to give Angie a "love shower". On August 11 during practice the members surprised Angie and brought out gifts for her to replace some of the items she lost in the fire. She received everything from new towels and sheets to new clothes.

Acts such as this are a reminder that even though Hinds is a campus of over 10,000 students, people still care about each other.

It's great to be back! I hope that all of you had a great summer. I also hope that all of you are excited about being back in school. If you're not, don't worry—you will be! I would just like to say "hello" to all of you who are returning to Hinds this year, as well as to all of the Freshmen who are here for the very first time. To the Freshmen, I just want to say that in case you feel as if you've gotten lost somewhere between Registration and the Twilight Zone, let me assure you that you're still just as special as anyone else on campus—and I sincerely hope that you'll make the very best out of your first year at Hinds.

As I'm sure you've noticed, a lot of changes are taking place on campus this year, and things are really beginning to take shape. Student Government is no exception. Already, there are some really fun and exciting events planned JUST FOR YOU, which you'll be hearing more about later on. However, let me say that all of this good stuff won't be so good unless YOU support it—not only by being there, but by talking it up and getting others to come as well! Believe me, nothing is more disappointing than to spend endless hours organizing and preparing an activity for the students, and then for the students not to even care enough to be there.

Remember—we're doing all of this JUST FOR YOU, so I'm sure that you won't let us down!

Soccer season underway

by Steve Champion

Hinds Junior College soccer coach Tom Shepherd is optimistic about his team's chances this season, after a 5-7-1 record last year.

Only seven players returned from last year's squad, but Coach Shepherd says that the overall team talent is "improving over last year at this time."

"We had some close games with Mississippi State and MC last year," says Shepherd, "I think we will be very competitive."

The schedule includes games against each of the three universities, plus other four-year colleges such as Millsaps and Belhaven.

Shepherd also expressed hope of playing games against Southwest, Gulf Coast and Meridian Junior College.

The soccer team also extended a special invitation to all HJC students to attend the home game on Thursday, September 8, against Mississippi College.

The game will be dedicated to Dr. Wall, "For all the help he has given to the soccer team."

Senatobia

Eagles lose season opener 35-14 to Northwest Rangers

The Hinds Junior College Eagles opened the 1983 season falling to the defending state and national champions Northwest Rangers 35-14, September 1 in Senatobia.

The Eagles took the opening kickoff and fumbled on their opening possession giving the Rangers the ball at the Hinds 23 yard line. On third and 15 Northwest's Houston Agnew scored on a 28 yard run and John Armstrong added the extra point giving the Rangers a quick 7-0 lead.

Armstrong later added a 27 yard field goal making the score 10-0 at the end of the first quarter.

On the Eagles next possession they turned the ball over on downs at the Northwest 41. The Rangers then drove to the Hinds 13 yard line where they were stalled and had to settle for a 23 yard field goal by Armstrong making the score 13-0 with eleven minutes left in the half.

The Eagles then took the kickoff and drove from their two yard line to the Rangers 35 where an interception by Northwest's Armstrong killed the drive. The Rangers then drove to the Hinds four yard line and on first and goal Agnew scored his second touchdown and then caught a two point conversion pass from Armstrong giving Northwest a 21-0 lead.

After four plays the Eagles were forced to punt and the Rangers took over at their 31 and quarterback Peter Lane led Northwest to the Hinds nine and on first down completed a touchdown pass to wingback Gunter Brewer. Armstrong added the extra point making the score 28-0 as the half ended.

In the third quarter Northwest gained possession at the Eagle 44 yard line after a Hinds punt. On first down the Rangers Cornelius Byrd broke through for 44 yards and a touchdown. After the extra point by Armstrong Northwest led 35-0 going into the final quarter.

On Hinds' second possession of the quarter, quarterback Milton Taylor led the Eagles from their 25 to the Ranger nine where he fired a touchdown pass to Michael Myers on second down with 11:06 left in the game. Augusta Walker added the extra point making the score 35-7.

Taylor later scrambled 15 yards for a touchdown and Walker tacked on the point after with 8:48 left making the final score 35-14.

The Eagles will host the Southwest Bears in Raymond, September 8, for their first home game. Hinds defeated the Bears 7-0 last year in Summit.

Cheerleaders attend camp at Memphis St.

This summer the Hinds Junior College Football Cheerleaders were awake and practicing in the mornings when most of us were still sound asleep. This dedication paid off while attending a U.C.A. (Universal Cheerleading Association) camp held August 8-12 at Memphis State University.

There they attended a variety of classes where they learned new cheers, chants, dances, partner stunts, pyramids, and a great deal of other odds and ends, which they were evaluated on during the evenings. While there, the squad chalked up one outstanding, two excellent, and two superior ribbons and brought home the spirit stick.

to get the most out of it."

Miss Womack was crowned Miss ROTC at the Annual ROTC Ball and Banquet last spring.

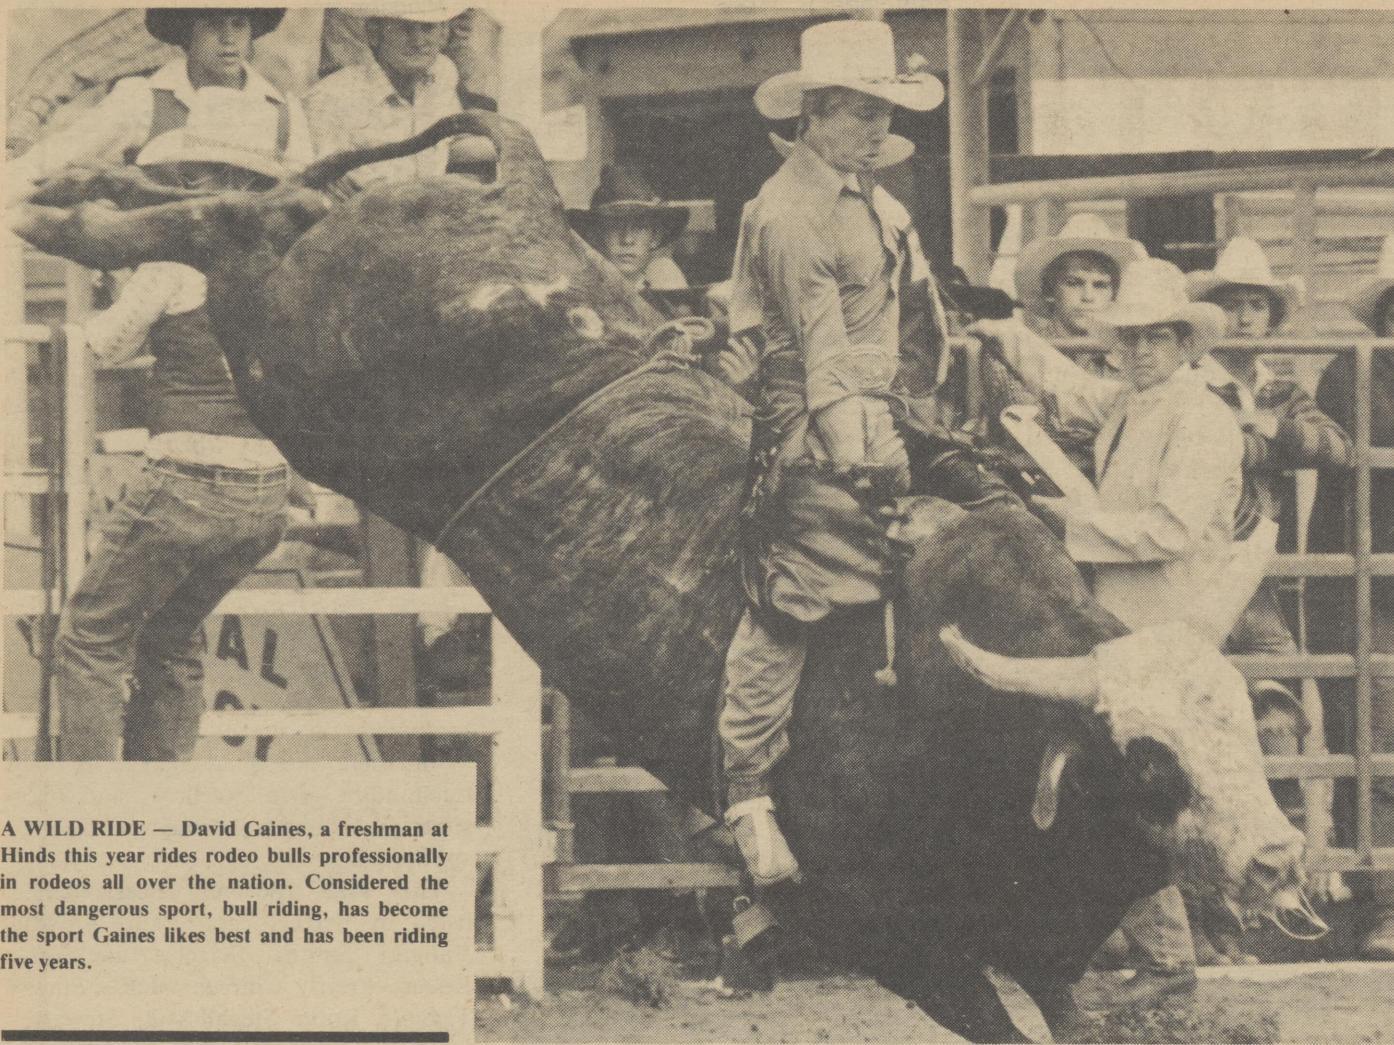

"We've got a really good program and I would encourage all Hinds students to give ROTC a try," said Captain Reese. "Military Science counts as an elective credit. And since there's no obligation to continue or to join the military, you just can't lose."

He added, "I would just encourage all students who are now in school to stay in school. It's just too easy to get sidetracked, or to incur too many financial obligations, once you leave school. All of us in the ROTC department encourage you to stay in school and get your degree, whether or not you take ROTC."

A WILD RIDE — David Gaines, a freshman at Hinds this year rides rodeo bulls professionally in rodeos all over the nation. Considered the most dangerous sport, bull riding, has become the sport Gaines likes best and has been riding five years.

Dora, the dormitory cat will no longer roam the campus

Dora the dorm cat could be seen every morning laundering her calico coat beneath the portico of the dormitory on the Raymond Campus of Hinds Junior College. She was an 'at-home' cat; a cat blessed with the attention of 200 girls and plenty of food.

It wasn't always that way. She remembered the hard times and was the more thankful for this new lease on life. In return, Dora's loyalty was riveted to the large brick building and its inhabitants. No passerby could tempt even a polite or inquisitive glance from her. She was the queen of the sidewalk and the watch-cat of Davis Dorm.

One can only guess how she came to 'belong' at the dormitory. Passing through the campus one dewy early morning, she might have met a compassionate coed returning from the cafeteria. The girl probably carried food with her which she shared with the hungry cat. They became pals and Dora took up residence on her dormitory sidewalk. Soon all the girls were making a fuss over Dora as they passed in and out of the dorm. Maybe she was even smuggled inside on cold or stormy nights.

Anyway, a creamier-whiskered, more calmly glistening cat could hardly have been found except in the very best of homes; and Dora considered that she had the very best of homes. The only one she had ever known. Oh, the winter and spring passed blissfully for Dora the dorm cat.

Then one day it was all over. The girls were gone. Dora was used to watching the empty building for them on short holidays, but this was different. They had vanished. Mystified, she watched daily for their return. They had always come back before. She kept her vigil, pacing up and down the dorm sidewalk. She petitioned passers-by not for food, but for the whereabouts of her girls.

"Where?" loudly she cried again and again.

She grew thinner and more anxious as each day passed. Hope faded. Any food that was offered was devoured absent-mindedly. All her attention was pinned on that empty building.

Several weeks passed. Dora seemed to accept that she must return to her old way of life. The reverberating plea, "Where?" opened doors and hearts to her. The hearts took her in, but the doors would not, could not. Dora accepted all offerings, but her colorful coat grew dull and dusty.

She kept checking the dorm. She visited her food-friends systematically as though being careful not to hit the same door too often and thus wear out her welcome. She always took her dinner "Outside-if-you-please," keeping her loyalties intact for when her girls would return. Surely they would return, and soon.

Several more weeks passed and none of her friends had seen her. People hoped that meant that she had found herself a real home, but when she finally showed up they knew that her foraging and fending from now on would be not only for herself.

People were concerned that she would have her kittens in a culvert; they were afraid a hard rainstorm would come and wash them all away. People were concerned that she would give birth in one of the big dumpsters; they were afraid that the big rumbling truck would blindly gather them up and carry them away. People were concerned that Dora would bring her babes into the world in the bushes beside her beloved dorm; and they were afraid that dogs would find them....

The summer wore on with Dora appearing and disappearing. People were perplexed. Did she really have a home? Should they take her to the Animal Rescue League?

The six kittens were born under the sign of Leo the Lion...under a car during a rainstorm. People guessed that Dora must have carried them one at a time through the tiny vent window in the car where they were found, because before they were born, she was too wide to fit through it. However, when she got them in there, she set up housekeeping beneath the rear seat of this car. It wasn't just any car with an open window. It was a car under repair, and not going anywhere. Also, its owner was one of those who cared for and worried about Dora the most.

Bull riding looks easy, but David Gaines, a freshman at Hinds can tell you it isn't and according to Sports Illustrated, it is one of the most dangerous sports in the world.

David started riding bulls when he joined the High School Rodeo Association. He said "It looked like something I'd like to do." Practicing is a bit difficult to do if you don't own a farm, but David managed to find a ranch where he'd pay five dollars for each practice ride. He rode for a few years and then applied for a permit to ride in professional rodeos.

Once you have your permit, David explained, you need to ride in as many rodeos as you can to earn a total winnings of one thousand dollars which qualifies you for a professional bull riders card. Permit holders are limited to the number of rodeos they can enter and they do ride against professionals.

After ten rodeos, a few injuries and in his travels from Tennessee to Florida, David has won the right to be considered a professional bull rider. He plans to continue riding as often as possible in an attempt to qualify for the circuit finals. He doesn't have any future plans of being the Worlds Champion Bull Rider, but he did say he would not mind owning the bull that throws a champion.

He wanted to continue repairing his car, however, so he fashioned a waterproof box into a cozy nest for the little family and placed it in a quiet and secluded place nearby. Dora accepted the box, but settled down next to it instead of inside it.

Now that the kittens were born and safe for the time being, people became concerned about what would happen to them when they became big enough to explore. Homes just couldn't be found for them. People knew that if they survived kittenhood in the wild, they would run into all the problems that Dora had faced: hunger, cold, cars, dogs...never belonging anywhere, and, in time, they would bring more kittens into the world to multiply their miseries and uncertainties six by six by six...several times a year.

It was time to do something more than worry and conjecture. With love and optimism Dora's best friend went about the heartbreaking business of carrying her and her beautiful family to the Mississippi Animal Rescue League. There Dora can be with her kittens until, hopefully, homes are found for them all.

The friend will never know for sure what their individual fates will be, but he does know what they will not be.

Dora and her pretty babies will never have to beg their way apologetically through life. They will never be drawn into depending on dormitory students who enjoy having a pet at school and then forget about its continuing needs when school is out.

Hey, Fella,
MIDTERMS
Are Next Week!

Arts Feast Week To Begin Monday, Oct. 3

Arts Feast, Hinds' traditional week celebrating Homecoming, will be held the week of October 3-7. Usually culminating in the Homecoming game, this year Arts Feast will be separated from Homecoming, October 22, by the week of mid-term examinations.

However, Homecoming is still close enough to Arts Feast week to serve as an excuse for this giant campus party which treats students, faculty, staff and area residents and visitors to an easygoing week of outdoor and indoor concerts, outdoor meals, art and talent shows.

Scheduled events begin Monday evening with two bands performing in Mayo Field House. Dreamer and Le Roux will be in concert at 8 p.m.

Tuesday morning will feature storyteller Nell Shivers. At 3 p.m. the Music Department will present a program. At 8 p.m. the Jackson Symphony Orchestra will be appearing in Cain Auditorium.

Wednesday at 10 a.m. Storyteller Shivers; 12 noon The Parchman Band will entertain.

Persons who wish to enter the faculty and student talent show on Thursday should see Fred Brooks in the Speech Department, Jerry Agent also in the Speech Department, or Janice Duncan in the Sociology Department. You should contact one of these instructors immediately.

Thursday Mississippi's famed Son Thomas will be on the Mall to enthrall the lunchtime crowd, and again the Music Department will put on a show at 3 p.m. At 4:30 on the Mall a talent show will reveal another side of the Hinds faculty, staff, and students.

Friday, former HJC instructor John Maxwell will provide us with some quietly riotous entertainment with his now-famous one man play, "Oh, Mr. Faulkner, Do You Write?" 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. in Cain Auditorium.

Classes opened in the $4.5 million facility this fall semester. Approximately 230 high school students from the Pearl Public Schools and the Rankin County Public Schools attend vocational classes there during the day.

and approximately 280 students are enrolled in postsecondary classes at the Branch during the evening. The Rankin Branch has a faculty of 17 teachers.

The purpose of the Rankin Branch is to provide the highest possible quality of vocational training opportunities for students in the Pearl and Rankin County schools during the normal school day and to provide postsecondary vocational-technical training for adults of the area during the evening hours.

Homecoming Court

Campus elections slated for Oct. 6 & 7

by Amy Sparks

Homecoming at Hinds will be Saturday, October 22, at 2:00 p.m. and the Student Government is preparing to hold elections for the 1983 Homecoming Court that will be elected by the student body.

There are two ways to be elected into the homecoming court. The first way is to become a nominee of your club organization or your dorm. The second way, if you are not in a club or live in a dorm, is to petition for your votes.

Each student organization and dorm will nominate one freshman female and one sophomore female to represent their respective organization. A nominee may be selected by more than one organization. If you are a commuter and would like to run for election you may have a petition signed by 100 people and become a nominee that way. In the commuter category, the first nine freshmen and nine sophomores from Raymond campus to submit their petition will become nominees. At Jackson branch there will be two freshmen and two sophomore commuter nominees. At the Allied Health Center there will be one freshman and one sophomore commuter nominees. The number of organization and dorm nominees will vary accordingly.

Nominees should submit their application to Raymond Campus-Pam Smith ASB Vice-President, room 207 Student Union Building by 2:00 p.m. by October 4, 1983.

The first primary election will be on October 6 and 7. One half of the candidates receiving the highest votes in each category will qualify for the second primary on October 11 and 12. For example if there are 40 candidates, the 20 who receive the highest number of votes will qualify for a second primary. If the number of candidates is an uneven number, one more than one half would qualify for the second primary, except in the case of a tie vote for one or more of the last positions. If a tie exists for one or more of the last positions, each candidate with the same number of votes would qualify for the second primary. A candidate receiving a simple majority of votes cast in the first primary would be declared winner for that respective category.

Winners in the second primary will be determined by the four sophomores with the highest votes and the three

Our own Nell Shivers will do her storytelling in the Choir Room, and there will be a special performance by the Jackson Symphony Orchestra. One of the most entertaining features of all will be our Faculty/Student Talent Show. Can you imagine your English instructor doing a vaudeville act?

All good things must come to an end and this good week will end in time to brush up for mid-terms and rest up for the Homecoming football game October 22.

Come one, come all... and enjoy these great activities. They're FREE!

Hinds marching band announces new officers

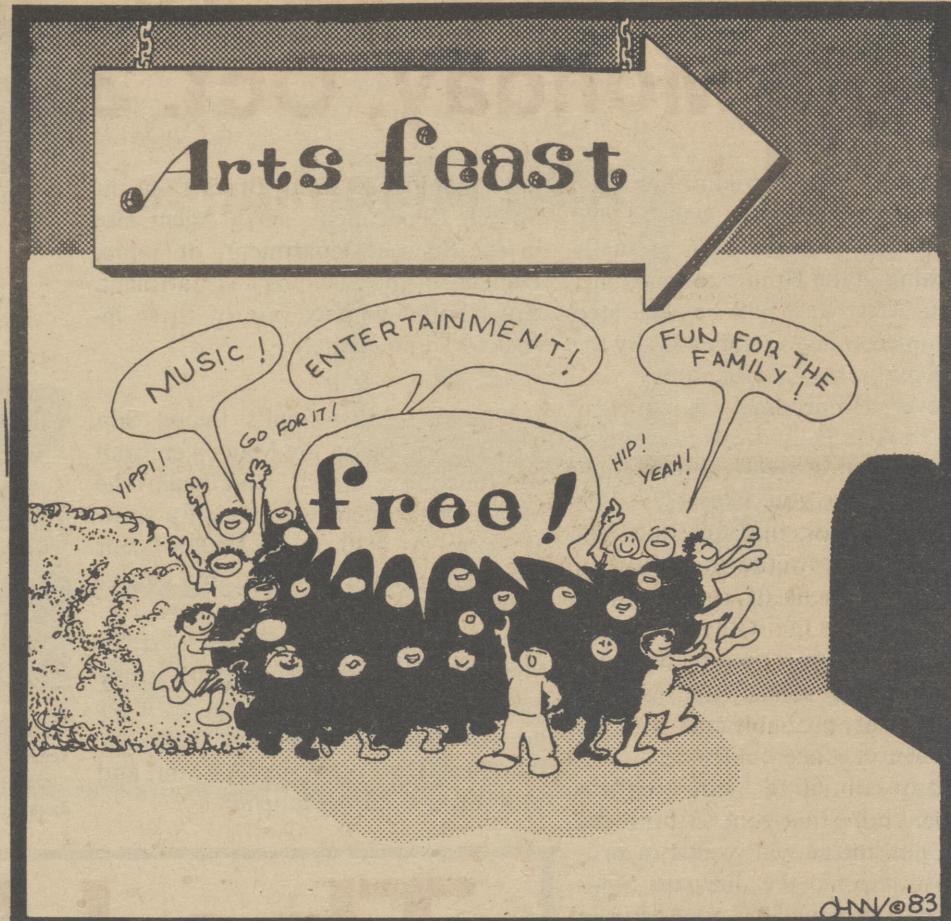

The Hinds Junior College Marching Band began grueling drills in the late hot days of August learning more difficult marching patterns.

"More Freshmen and woodwinds with less brass, will make our band sound less like a drum and bugle corps and more like a traditional band," director John Manchester stated. He also feels that the reverse show pattern he is using will provide for better continuity.

The itinerary of the band has not been completed at the present time, but they do plan to attend some marching band contests.

State Fair to open October 7th

October 7-16 are the dates to remember for the 124th annual Mississippi State Fair.

The official opening of noon on Friday, October 7 will start ten fun filled days of events and free entertainment.

On the mile-long midway you'll see a circus, carnival rides, an Old Fashioned Cane Mill, arts and crafts, even fresh biscuits.

Some of the finest livestock in various breeds will again be at the fair to compete for the premiums and trophies.

Other annual events include the Horse Pull, Stock Dog Trials, Fiddlers and Liars contest plus the Mississippi High School Championship Rodeo, and many other special events.

Bobby Bare, The Florida Boys, Jerry Jeff Walker, Charley McClain, and the Kendalls are some of the top entertainment scheduled for the fair.

There is something for everyone, so don't miss the fair.

ASB Miscellanea

Joe Cooper

So, how do you like it? After a month of school, that question could probably be answered in several different ways. Some of you are having the time of your life. Others of you are wishing that high school hadn't ended with the twelfth grade. And I'm sure a few of you are probably still wondering how you ever made it through that first month of school. Whatever the case may be, I hope that your first month at Hinds has been an enjoyable one.

Let me take this opportunity to introduce to you the 1983-84 ASB President's Cabinet. The members are: Roy Butts—Program Activities Board Director; Chris Nash—Judicial Chairman; Steve Rayburn—Student Services Director; Mark Hales—Intramural Director; Ted Crawford—Resident Hall President; and Glenn Wood—Commuter Chairman. These students join ASB in the work of being student leaders as the school year gets underway.

For those of you who are into good bands, and even for those of you who aren't, get ready! "ELI" will be here at Hinds on Monday, November 1st, at 8 p.m. Tickets will be sold in advance for $3.00 each, and the tickets will be on sale soon. Be sure to buy your tickets ahead of time so you won't miss out. What a way to start off November!

Hope to see you at Arts Feast!

Governor William Winter proclaims Education Week

by Susan Hammond

The week of October 1-8, 1983, has been declared Higher Education Week by Governor William F. Winter.

Higher Education Week is a part of the Mindpower Campaign, and is sponsored by the Council for The Advancement and Support of Education (CASE). Its goal is to promote public understanding and appreciation of higher education's value and the contributions of college educated citizens to American society.

Two Hinds students break video record

by Susan Hammond

Videomania has swept the country and everybody is playing these games including the students at Hinds Junior College. Two students in particular, Billy Brown and Gary Eiler, played Robotron so much and so well that they broke the record!

These two young men, along with Allen Smith, a student at the University of Southern Mississippi, set out to break the old record of 252,114,350 points in one game, on an early afternoon at the Putt Putt Golf Center off of Highway 80.

On Sunday morning, 3:30 a.m., the old record was broken. For four more hours the team worked at raising the score. Finally, after sixty hours of long hard work, they reached a total of 270,253,075 points on the game.

Now, the new record will probably be challenged by many videomaniacs, but until the record is broken, Billy, Gary, and Allen can really be proud of themselves.

National twirlist at Hinds

by Susan Hammond

Hinds Junior College students have a nationally ranked twirlist in their midst. She is Bethany Jenkins, a sophomore from Jackson.

Bethany began taking baton lessons in the second grade when they were offered at her school. "I wanted to take the opportunity," she said.

Since beginning her lessons, Bethany has been the feature twirler for five years in the band at Manhattan Academy, is a present rifler twirler in the band here at Hinds, and has entered several state, regional, and national twirling contests. Bethany has won twenty state titles in twirling and is currently holding nine state titles and three regional titles, including Regional Grand Champ. Bethany has participated in five international competitions, in which twirlers from fifteen countries competed. This last August, nationals were held in Denver, Colorado and Bethany was ranked fifth in rifle, third in flag and twelfth in dance twirl.

It has taken many years of hard practice for Bethany to become as good as she is, and as a result she has received many awards and titles.

Since she began baton lessons, Bethany has wanted to become a twirling teacher, and her goal has been reached for she is now teaching in both Jackson and Vicksburg.

Hinds dominates Southwest 20-7, evens record at 1-1

The Hinds Eagles used three big plays and a very enthusiastic defense to defeat the Southwest Bears 20-7 on September 8 in the Eagles' first home game of the year.

In the first quarter Hinds quarterback Milton Taylor completed a key third down pass to flanker Theo Graham good for 17 yards giving the Eagles a first and goal situation at the Southwest 3. Three plays later running back Roosevelt Knight scored from two yards out giving Hinds an early 7-0 lead after the Keith Ehrhardt extra point. The drive started from the Bears 35 as the result of a short punt.

The Eagles' second touchdown came on a 25 yard scoring strike from quarterback Jon Gipson to Graham with only 6 seconds remaining in the half. The drive started from the Southwest 46 after the Bears were forced to punt from deep in their own territory.

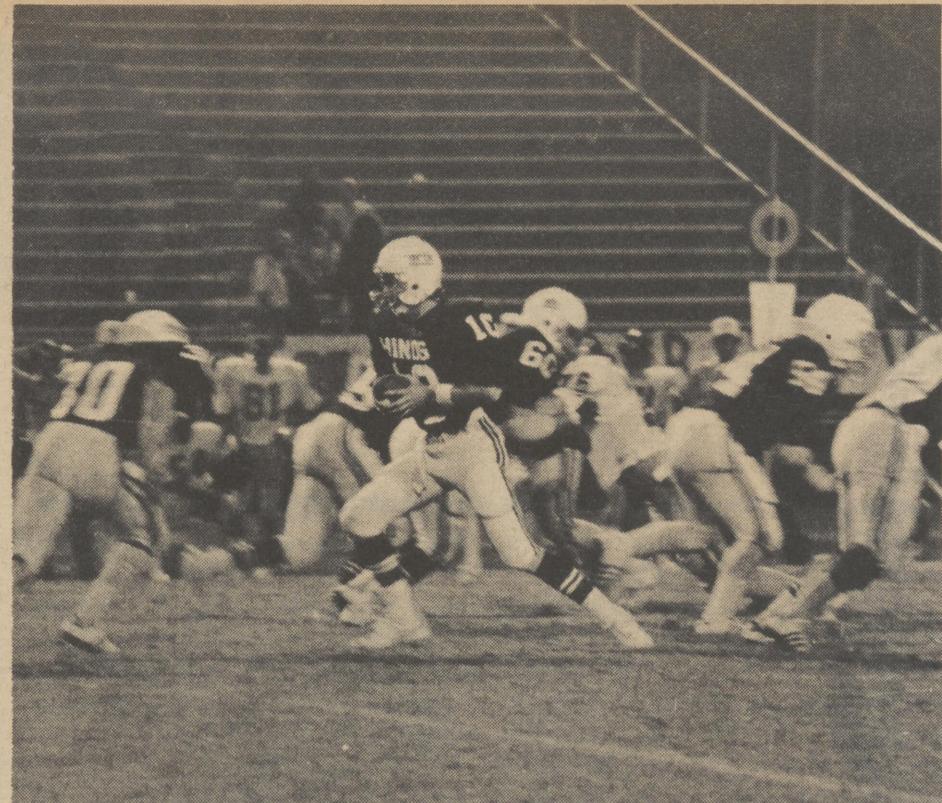

Gipson completed three passes during the drive including a ten yarder to Graham setting up the touchdown pass from the Southwest 25. Ehrhardt tacked on the extra point and Hinds took a 14-0 lead into the locker room at halftime.

In the third quarter neither team seriously threatened to score until the Bears' Mac Barrient completed a 31 yard pass to wide receiver Ken Carter at the Eagle one yard line. Tailback Craig Martin busted through for the score on first down and a Humberto Futch extra point cut the Hinds lead to 14-7 with 1:44 left in the quarter.

Hinds' final score came on a 45 yard touchdown pass from Taylor to tight end Michael Myers with 7:29 remaining in the game to seal the victory for the Eagles.

The Hinds defensive unit collected seven quarterback sacks on the night as they held the Southwest offense in check the entire game. Taylor led the team in rushing with 65 yards on 12 carries as the Eagles collected 223 yards total offense.

Baseball team has fall practice

by Steve Champion

Fall baseball practice is under way at Hinds Junior College. About fifty players are battling for a spot on the final roster, which will consist of twenty to twenty-five members.

First-year coach Rick Clarke is using the fall session to evaluate the talent of each player and to introduce his system to the team.

Clarke, who was assistant to Bill Marchant last year, thinks HJC can have a good team next season and he wants the team to start working hard right away. "It won't be fun and games out there," he promises. "We're trying to stay away from the loose atmosphere that has hurt the team in the past."

Clarke feels his sophomore returnees form the nucleus of a good team and he is also high on the ability of some of his freshman players.

He is always looking for good ballplayers, so, if you missed the original try-out, do not be discouraged. Coach Clarke is still offering try-outs on an individual basis and you can contact him at his office, which is upstairs in Mayo Field House.

Eagles defeat Wildcats 9-6 in close division game

by Robby Edwards

The Hinds Eagles used a very aggressive defense and a first quarter touchdown from Roosevelt Knight to down the Pearl River Wildcats 9-6 in a South Division game at Poplarville September 17.

Hinds took the opening kick and led by quarterback Milton Taylor, began the drive from their 23. Taylor completed a key 38 yard pass to Michael Myers to keep the drive alive and put the Eagles in business at the Wildcat 29. After two plays and a penalty moved the ball back to the 31, Taylor scrambled for 21 yards giving Hinds a first down at the 10. Three plays netted eight yards and on fourth down Knight swept around the right side for the score. Keith Ehrhardt tacked on the extra point for a quick 7-0 Hinds lead.

Neither team could mount an offensive drive until Pearl River struck back with a 40 yard touchdown pass midway through the fourth quarter. The drive started from the Wildcat 48 and took only six plays as quarterback Doug Norris hit L.C. Hopkins for the score to bring Pearl River within one. The Eagle defense then rose to the occasion and stopped the Wildcats as they attempted a two-point conversion to preserve the 7-6 Hinds lead.

After a Eagle punt the Wildcats began another drive but the Hinds defense came through once again as they stopped Pearl River on fourth down to give the Eagles possession at their 47.

The offense was unable to move the ball but Hinds punter Buddy Still booted the ball out of bounds at the Pearl River two with 2:17 left in the game.

Eagle defensive end Joseph Robinson then forced Norris to fumble the ball through the endzone for a safety. Hinds took the kick and ran out the clock for the 9-6 win.

The Eagle defense held the Wildcats to 38 yards on 40 carries which includes a minus 14 yards rushing in the second half. Pearl River, now 1-2, finished with 129 yards total offense while Hinds collected 180 yards on the ground and 43 passing for a 223 total.

In last year's chase for the South Division football championship Gulf Coast won with a 6-0 division record and an overall mark of 10-1-1 which included a 7-7 tie with Northwest in the state title game making the two teams co-champions of the year.

But the team from Perkinston may find it a bit tougher this year as the Jones Bobcats and the MGC Bulldogs were rated dead-even in the pre-season predictions with Pearl River close behind.

Last year Jones finished second with a 4-2 record in the division and 8-3 overall while Pearl River was in a three-way tie for third with a mark of 3-3 and 6-4.

East Central is expected to be much improved and contend for the title. Last year's squad finished 1-5 and 4-6, tied for last with Southwest but with their 13-2 victory over Gulf Coast they should be right in the thick of the fight.

Hinds is picked to finish in fifth after going 3-3 and 4-5-1 last year. The 3-3 division record was good enough for a third place tie with Pearl River and Co-Lin.

Rounding out the division are Co-Lin, picked to finish in sixth after going 3-3 and 6-4 a year ago and Southwest, which is coming off a 1-5 and 2-8 year is expected to finish last.

Along with the North Division championship and the state championship, Northwest also won the National

Hinds soccer team holds 2-2 record

The Hinds soccer team successfully opened its 1983 home season with a victory over Mississippi College September 8. Five different players scored goals as the Eagles romped to a 5 to 2 win.

The Eagles dropped their next contest to USM on Sunday the 18th. The final score was 5 to 0.

The score was only 1 to 0 at halftime but the Eagles, many of whom were playing with a virus, tired in the second half and Southern won in a runaway.

The Eagles split two earlier games, losing to Millsaps and defeating MC, giving them a record of 2 wins and 2 losses.

The next scheduled game is Saturday, September 24 against Ole Miss. It will be at 1:00 on the HJC campus.

Junior College Championship and the Rangers will be the team to beat in the North again this year after finishing 12-0-1 last year.

Northwest is expected to receive a strong challenge from Itawamba which finished second a year ago with records of 4-2 and 6-3-1.

Holmes, 3-3 and 3-7 and Mississippi Delta, 3-3 and 3-7 are picked to again finish in a tie for third followed by East Mississippi, 3-3 and 4-6 in fifth; Northeast, 2-4 and 4-6 in sixth; and Coahoma, 0-6 and 0-10 in last.

Hinds will be playing many of these top rated teams which should provide some exciting games as the teams on this years schedule had a combined 61-42-3 record last year.

Intramural teams open to students

The intramural program at HJC is underway. All students are invited to participate.

This year's program will include flag football, volleyball, and basketball for men and women. If you are interested in starting a team you can pick up an entry form at Denton Gym.

Schedules and other announcements about the intramural program will be posted at Denton Gym, the Student Union Building and the cafeteria.

Right-to-Life co-chairman lectures to HJC students

by Antoinette Roberts

On Thursday, September 8, Dr. Paul Fowler, co-chairman for the Jackson Right-to-Life presented a film entitled "A Matter of Choice."

The film, and subsequent question and answer forum were well attended in Cain Auditorium by both students and faculty.

Dr. Fowler came to the Hinds campus in place of Dr. Mildred Jefferson, M.D., who could not be present for the originally planned lecture, "Abortion and Medical Ethics."

The film, "A Matter of Choice", dealt with abortion from the Right-to-Life standpoint and opinion. This hard-hitting documentary has the ability to make even the most adamant pro-choice advocate cringe just a bit.

Through the documenting and filming of an actual abortion, the audience had nothing left to their collective imagination. The reality depicted in that one scene generated much discomfort throughout the auditorium. At the very least, the message was very thought-provoking.

The film was also very efficient in dealing with the facts concerning abortion:

FACT:

From 1973 to now there have been 15 million abortions performed; one third performed on teenagers and one third on minorities (which comprise only ten to fourteen percent of our population).

FACT:

Complications from abortions performed in unauthorized clinics have risen dramatically since the Supreme Court decision, Roe vs. Wade, 1973.

FACT:

Thirty-five percent of women whose first pregnancies ended in an induced abortion are unable to carry any subsequent babies to full-term.

These are only a few of the facts outlined in this film. There are many more elements to this subject than one article such as this can hope to cover. The immeasurable answers to questions such as "When does life begin?" and "Is abortion murder?" make this topic extremely volatile and, if the Right-to-Life organization can persuade our legislators, political.

According to Dr. Fowler, the beliefs of the Right-to-Life group are simple. They are: All life is precious and abortion is a destructive solution to a personal or social problem.

During the audience participation segment of this presentation, it became clear that there are many people who held differing views on this subject. One thing, however, became clear immediately: On such an emotionally-charged issue, it is becoming harder each day to remain undecided, and this forum no doubt ended with any number of people asking questions and doing a lot of soul-searching.

The battle-lines are being drawn daily and this war will no doubt be fought in our nation's capitol.

Suzanne Ramsey chosen by Norman Luboff Choir

by Becky Stringer

Suzanne Ramsey, former music major at Hinds, will leave her present Raymond Campus position with the Student Affairs Office to become a member of the Norman Luboff Choir.

Luboff Choir.

Suzanne was chosen for the choir after singing for Mr. Luboff at the request of her voice teacher, Mr. Leslie "Poppa" Reeves.

"There was a reception later at Poppa's and Momma's house and Mr. Luboff asked for my address and said that he would let me know if I was accepted by the latter part of June or July," said Suzanne.

On the evening of August 23, Suzanne received a call from Dennis Martin, business manager for Norman Luboff, asking if she would be available to travel with the choir. Her answer of course was "Yes!"

Suzanne's previous choral experience obviously had some bearing on her selection for the Norman Luboff Choir. She attended Clinton High School and participated in four years of choir. By her senior year, Suzanne was a member of the show choir at Clinton, in which she was a soloist.

She received the Music Merit Scholarship to the University of Mississippi. There, Suzanne participated in a singing group called The Connection. Due to ill health, Suzanne had to leave Ole Miss.

In the Spring of 1982, Suzanne enrolled at Hinds in the concert choir and also became a member of the Clefs, a choir singing group.

Suzanne planned to use a Music Merit Scholarship this fall until her plans were altered by her acceptance by the Norman Luboff Choir. Now her plans are to wait and attend Ole Miss in the Spring of 1984.

She will leave September 28 for New York and practice with the choir. The tour will begin October 6 and will end November 22.

1982 Advertising boom shows that $17.1 billion spent by top companies

Reprinted with permission from September 8, 1983, edition of Advertising Age Magazine.

Copyright 1983 Crain Communications, Inc., Chicago, Illinois.

With the world of advertising experiencing an upswing in business today, students might do well to take a closer look at advertising as a possible field of study. In the September 8th issue of Advertising Age, editor Marion L. Elmquist states that total spending by the top national advertisers of 1982 was $17.1 billion, compared with $14.8 billion in 1981, but that sales dropped 0.9 percent to $765.3 billion.

The article further states that Proctor & Gamble raised its spending by a modest 8 percent to $726.1 million in 1982, but at that rate of annual increase, it will take only four years until P & G passes the $1 billion ad spending mark.

Some of the heaviest spending came from the leisure and entertainment area populated by Coca-Cola Co.'s Columbia Pictures, Gulf & Western Industries with its Paramount Pictures, MCA Inc., Mattel Inc., 20th Century Fox Film Corp. and Warner Communications.

Warner Communications, Elmquist notes, moved into the 25th position this year from No. 37 last year. The company raised its ad spending 46 percent to $232.2 million in 1982 from $159 million the previous year. Much of Warner's spending was to support its troubled Atari division. In 1982 Atari spent $74 million in measured advertising media and in the first quarter of 1983 alone, it spent $14.5 million. Warner also puts advertising support behind its movies, television programs, record and music business and cable programming projects.

Gulf & Western had a 30 percent rise in spending, fueled by the biggest advertiser among its units, Paramount Pictures Corp. Another entertainment unit, Simon & Schuster, also added to the total ad budget.

Advertisers in other product categories—food, chemicals and toiletries, for instance—remained fairly even. But one among their members, Campbell Soup Co. emerged as a big spender: The food products company boosted advertising by 71 percent to $121 million from $70.8 million in 1981. That moved it to a rank of 52 from 74 the year before. The spending increase came about as a result of the continued aggressive stance Campbell president R. Gordon McGovern has taken since he took over as president-chief executive officer in 1980. Included in Mr. McGovern's new program are acquisitions, new products and line expansions.

One story that hasn't changed in the leaders compilations is Proctor & Gamble's dominance of the No. 1 ranking, which it has held since 1964. Sears, Roebuck & Co. has continued to narrow the gap between the No. 1 and No. 2 positions and, if Advertising Age included local retail spending in its tabulations, Sears would surely rest the No. 1 spot from P & G.

This information and the following chart from the Advertising Age article will give students some idea of the money floating around in the advertising world. Next time there's a break in your favorite TV program, stick around and watch the ad. Instead of fetching a sandwich you can feed your imagination and maybe turn your career goals toward the advertising field. At least maybe you will have a little more respect for your next bowl of breakfast cereal... and take a closer look at the packaging of your soaps and soups. Somebody planned very carefully and spent big bucks to get your attention for their product, so you can see it is a very creative field and a very lucrative one.

ELLIS NASSOUR

Native author speaks Sept. 29

Ellis Nassour, author of the books Superstar and Patsy Cline: An Intimate Biography, will be speaking at Hinds' Raymond Campus Thursday, September 29 at 10 a.m. in Cain Hall Auditorium.

He is a freelance writer for the New York Daily News, specializing in celebrity profiles and entertainment features. A native of Vicksburg, he makes his home in New York City.

The Hinds Junior College English Department invited Ellis to lecture on entertainment media and show business writing. He will donate a copy of the Superstar and Patsy Cline books to the McLendon Library.

HJC Choir sells "Showcase" to raise tour funds

The Hinds Junior College choir invites you to view their fund raising project "Showcase" which will be on sale Sept. 30 - Oct. 15.

You may call the choir office and a member of the choir will be happy to show you the unique gifts for Christmas.

Mrs. Geneva Reeves, assistant choir director and music instructor stated that, "funds earned will be used for two major projects. The first project is the Lee Mayo music scholarship which is given to a freshman who has completed the first year as a music major to cover the costs for another year."

"The second project is the choir's annual tour. All the choir members' earnings will be put into their accounts for the expenses while on tour. Any expenses not covered from this fund must be paid for by the students."

Last year the choir was unable to take the planned tour because expenses were too high. With the additional earnings from this sale the choir will plan to make the tour this year.

Luboff Choir performs on campus October 25

The Norman Luboff Choir, an internationally acclaimed choral group, will appear in concert on the Raymond campus of the Hinds Junior College District Tuesday, October 25 at 8 p.m. in Cain Auditorium.

Tickets are $5.00 for students, faculty, and staff and $7.50 for the general public. They may be purchased from any member of the Music Department on the Raymond Campus.

Susanne Ramsey of Clinton, a former HJCD Raymond Campus music major, is touring with the Norman Luboff Choir this year. This is the third visit by the choir. They first performed here in 1979 and returned last year when former HJC music instructor, Barney McCann, was a member. McCann is not touring with this year's group.

The Norman Luboff Choir has recorded over 75 LP's and toured the country for concert engagements for almost 20 years. The artistic range of the Choir makes the group unique in choral music today. Works by Bach, Mozart and other great masters are a main part of the program, but music of well-known American and Scandinavian composers is also included. Popular songs and show tunes are also performed by the Choir and folk tunes and gospel songs are music styles Luboff has become famous for.

Endowment Fund

John Bell Williams fund created by foundation

Plans for what could become the largest and most significant undertaking yet for the Hinds Junior College District Development Foundation began late in May when friends and relatives of the late John Bell Williams, HJC alumnus, former Mississippi governor and U.S. Congressman, met on the Raymond Campus of Hinds Junior College District to establish the John Bell Williams Endowment Fund.

Williams attended Hinds in 1935-37 and in 1967 became the first HJC alumnus named Alumnus of the Year by the Hinds Junior College Alumni Association. In 1972 Hinds Junior College established the John Bell Williams Room in the McLendon Library to house his papers and memorabilia from his years in public service. In April the Mississippi Highway Department named Highway 18 between Jackson and Raymond the John Bell Williams Memorial Highway.

The John Bell Williams Endowment Fund will go toward providing financial aid to high school graduates in need of such assistance who enroll in the Hinds Junior College District. The Endowment Fund will go towards scholarships for students who otherwise could not attend classes in the Hinds Junior College District without assistance from the John Bell Williams Endowment Fund. The Endowment Fund will also go to assist these students in payments of fees, books, and other necessary materials.

Students receiving scholarships from the Endowment Fund will be free to choose any academic, technical or vocational field of study.

Business or individual contributors who donate $5000 or more will have the option of adding their names to the scholarship award. A book will also be kept in the John Bell Williams Room of the McLendon Library listing all contributors to the John Bell Williams Endowment Fund.

John Bell Williams served as a U.S. Congressman from the 4th Congressional District from 1946 to 1968. He left the U.S. Congress to run for governor of Mississippi and served in that office from 1968 to 1972.

Among his other accomplishments as governor of Mississippi Williams persuaded the Mississippi Legislature to enact the largest percentage pay increase for Mississippi's public school teachers, state sales and income tax reforms, transportation legislation that included major highway construction and improvements, and legislation that required banks to pay interest on state deposits.

Throughout his life he was one of Hinds' most loyal and ardent supporters and he remained active in the Hinds Junior College Alumni Association and the Hinds Junior College District Development Foundation until his death March 25.

Mid terms tell story

Time has a way of catching up with us. Can you believe that it is mid-term week already? Why I can still remember those long lines at registration feeling that there is a lot of time before mid-term. Life without parents is great and sleeping in felt pretty good, but one day flows into another, a week passes and then each week blends into another and here we are facing mid-term exams.

Now we are going to study into the small hours of the night and hope to pull up our grade average. It probably would have been better if we had taken our studies more seriously. There is no time for crying now, just study, study and more studying.

Of course, there are those students that may come to realize that it may be too late and they may need to consider dropping a class that they are not doing well in. October 24th is the day that these students can drop a class, provided that they can meet the requirements. You may not have missed too many days and have previously discussed dropping the class with the instructor.

If you have taken your studying seriously enough, then you will be one of the students who will not have any mid-term blues.

Halloween, gone forever

Halloween was a great time for children all over. It was a time for inventive costumes, parties and going trick-or-treating around the neighborhood. Treats were candy, apples and even pennies. The candy would last until the holidays if we planned it out right. What ever happened to those days?

Today the children must check out every piece of candy, apple or treat for razor blades, needles, possible poison or anything suspicious. Also the children need chaperones to protect them from kidnapping or harm. Tomorrows children may never go trick or treating because of these fears.

Todays children look forward to an occasional party and a trip to the local spook house.

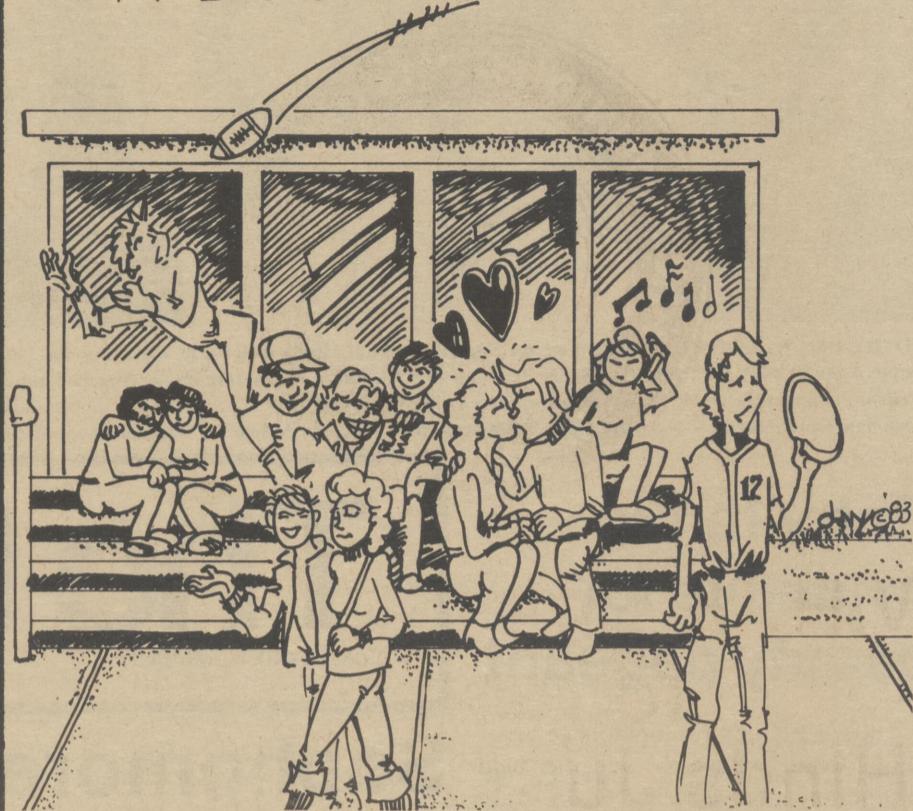

Since we are past the age of going trick or treating, we should be providing a safe and enjoyable day for brothers and sisters or the neighbors children. Lets preserve some of the Halloween treats for them.

Hi-Stepper alumnae perform October 22

by Kathryn Mann and Joy Stewart

The first reunion of the Hinds Hi-Steppers will be held Homecoming weekend, October 21 and 22. Hi-Stepper alumnae from the past thirty years will perform after the Homecoming court has been presented at the Homecoming game.

Anna Bee, Director of the famous Hi-Steppers, states that interest in the event has been overwhelming. Ladies have been driving from all over the state to make weekly practices. Other alumni will be traveling across the states to see the performance. Belinda Adams, alumna of the year 1981, and Jo Schaeffer Holbrook, the president of the Alumnae Association, will also be performing. Holbrook was the 1962 President of the Hi-Steppers and led them in the Miss America Parade in Atlantic City.

Interest does not stop there. WJTV's PM Magazine will have representatives at the game to write a feature on the present and past Hi-Steppers.

Practices for the half-time performance began in July, and have been continuing weekly. "This isn't like any class reunion," says Anna Bee. "These ladies have really worked hard to get into condition. It hasn't been easy for them to kick their legs head-high, but they are doing it."

Friday, October 21, kicks off the Homecoming for the Hi-Steppers with a dinner being served in the cafeteria. Films will be shown, as well as a slide presentation of past events. After supper, there will be a time for fellowship and relaxation and then it's practice in the gym, one last time.

Saturday morning at 9:00 a.m. will be a brunch for the Hi-Steppers arriving to see the show, with lunch for all alumni at 11:30 a.m. Another slide presentation will be shown and then the performers will meet in the gym for portraits.

After the game, there will be an Open House at Dr. Muse's home for former Hi-Steppers and their families with a video of the half-time performance.

While the majority of the performers were Hi-Steppers during the 1960's, there are several from the '50's, '70's and '80's. Many are performing with their mothers, daughters or sisters. This simply adds to Anna Bee's belief that the Hi-Steppers are, and always have been, a very close-knit group.

W.H. & Emma Cochran to receive Hinds Junior College Alumni Association award for 1983

1983 ALUMNI OF THE YEAR
W.H. AND EMMA GRACE COCHRAN

W.H. and Emma Grace Cochran of Bryam will receive the Hinds Junior College Alumni Association's top award for 1983. This is the first time since the Alumni Association began the award in 1967 that a couple has been named "Alumni of the Year."

Mr. and Mrs. Cochran came to Hinds in 1930. Mrs. Cochran was Emma Grace Berry from Utica and majored in mathematics at HJC and W.H. was a star athlete who came to Hinds from Richton High School to play basketball. They met during their freshmen year at Hinds.

Both were outstanding students at HJC. Emma Grace lettered on the Debate Team and represented Hinds in the State Junior College Field Day in the Math Division, winning second place in trigonometry. W.H. played football and lettered in basketball and tennis and was captain of the basketball team his sophomore year. He also represented Hinds in the State Junior College Field Day, winning third place in the Agriculture Division. W.H. was also a member of the Mixed Quartet that won first place in state competition his sophomore year. Both W.H. and Emma Grace served as presidents of the Baptist Student Union.

After graduating from Hinds in 1932 they attended Mississippi College and were married August 2, 1933. After graduating from MC they taught at Montpelier High School in Clay County for two years.

In 1936 W.H. was named principal at Beckham High School in Pontotoc County and Emma Grace taught math there. They were there for two years and moved to Hurricane High School, W.H. received his masters degree from the University of Mississippi in 1946 and Emma Grace received hers from Ole Miss in 1947.

In 1964 a new auditorium was constructed at Byram High School and named the W.H. Cochran Auditorium. Emma Grace was named Star Teacher at Byram High School for 1969, and W.H. was named Star Teacher in 1970.

In 1971 W.H. was named Hinds County Superintendent of Education and Emma Grace became Math Supervisor for the Hinds County Public Schools.

During their careers in education the Cochran served on numerous boards and committees. W.H. was on the board of directors for the Mississippi Education Association from 1949-1955 and the Mississippi Authority for Educational Television serving as chairman of that board from 1970-1972. He was also a member of the Legislative Council for the Mississippi High School Activities Association and the Children's Code Commission for Mississippi.

As Hinds County Superintendent of Education, W.H. also served on the Board of Trustees of Hinds Junior College.

Emma Grace served as chairperson for the Math Section of MEA and co-authored four papers for the State Department of Education on Teaching Modern Math. All through her career as a math teacher she has been an acknowledged authority on teaching techniques for modern math.

Eagles lose to EMJC, defeat Delta 34-14

East Mississippi's Jimmie Gunter returned a punt 63 yards for a touchdown with 7:24 left in the first half to give the Lions a 14-0 lead and they never looked back as the Hinds Eagles were defeated 14-10 in Scooba on September 24.

The loss drops the Eagles to 2-2 overall but they still remain undefeated in the South Division with a 2-0 mark, tied for first place while East Mississippi improves to 2-2.

The Lions scored their first touchdown on quarterback Johnny Burks' 39 yard run around left end with 10:05 remaining in the second quarter. The drive started from the Lion 44 and took only four plays as running back Ken Cooper carried for two yards on first down followed by running back Gary Irby who carried twice for 15 yards setting up Burks' run. Al Wright added the extra point and the Lions led 7-0.

Hinds took the kick and after five plays were forced to punt. Gunter took the kick at his 37 and broke down the left sideline for the score. After the Wright extra point East Mississippi had all the points they would need and led 14-0.

The Eagles had a chance to score before the half ended but quarterback Jon Gipson was stopped at the Lions' 7 as time ran out. Hinds had driven from their 44 to the Lion 3 only to come away with no points and down 14-0 at the break.

Hinds scored on their first possession of the third quarter when Gipson went over from a yard out on second and goal. The drive started from the Hinds 48 and took six plays as running back Roosevelt Knight rushed three times for 29 yards in the drive. Keith Ehrhardt added the extra point to cut the deficit to 14-7 with 9:29 left in the third.

The Eagles later recovered a Burks fumble inside the Lions 10 but were unable to get into the end zone and were forced to settle for a 24 yard Ehrhardt field goal to make the score 14-10 at 1:13 of the third quarter.

Hinds had two more opportunities to score in the fourth quarter; once driving from their 40 to East Mississippi's 21 where the drive was stopped when a 38 yard field goal attempt by Ehrhardt was wide left, and again when the Eagles' Fredell Moore recovered a Lions fumble at the Lion 38. But the offense was unable to move the ball and Hinds was forced to punt.

EMJC took the punt and ran the clock down to 0:02 before Hinds got the ball back and Gipson's desperation pass was incomplete as the game ended.

The Eagle defense held the Lions to 143 yards total offense while Hinds collected 290 led by Knight who had 94 on 25 carries before leaving the game midway through the fourth quarter with cracked ribs.

HINDS VS. MISS. DELTA

The Hinds quarterbacking duo of Jon Gipson and Milton Taylor threw for one touchdown apiece and Taylor rushed for another to lead the Eagles to a 34-14 rout of Mississippi Delta in a non-South Division game at Raymond October 1.

Gipson hooked up with Lee Beard for a 15 yard scoring strike to tie the game after Delta had jumped out to an early 7-0 lead. The Trojans scored when quarterback Patrick Pope swept around the right side from 10 yards out with 4:26 left in the first quarter after driving from their seven to the Hinds 10 in four plays. Jimmy Reames tacked on the point after.

Hinds later tied the game on Gipson's pass after linebacker Stanley

HJC vs. MISS. DELTA...

Turner recovered a Trojan fumble giving the Eagles first down at their 15.

Hinds moved out on top after Clyde Walton recovered another Delta fumble at their 12. Two plays later fullback Gary Gleason burst through the middle for five yards and the touchdown with 8:59 remaining in the first half. Keith Ehrhardt kicked his second extra point and Hinds led 14-7.

As the first half came to a close the Trojans committed another turnover and Hinds' Carnell Key recovered at the Delta 24. Five plays later Don Ragsdale scored on a 5 yard sweep with 0:40 left and the Eagles took a 21-7 lead at the intermission after Ehrhardt's extra point.

The Trojans looked as if they would get back in the game after taking the opening kick in the third quarter and driving 87 yards for a touchdown. The last 15 coming on a pass from Pope to Elbert Jones. The drive took 18 plays and lasted 8:52 as they cut the Eagle lead to 21-14 after the extra point by Reames.

Hinds' next touchdown came with 12:07 left in the game when Taylor scored from three yards out to give the Eagles a little more breathing room at 28-14. The drive started from the Delta 37 after a short punt and took only six plays.

Taylor put the game away for good when he hit Ronald Turner on a 32 yard scoring strike with 4:20 remaining making the final score 34-14.

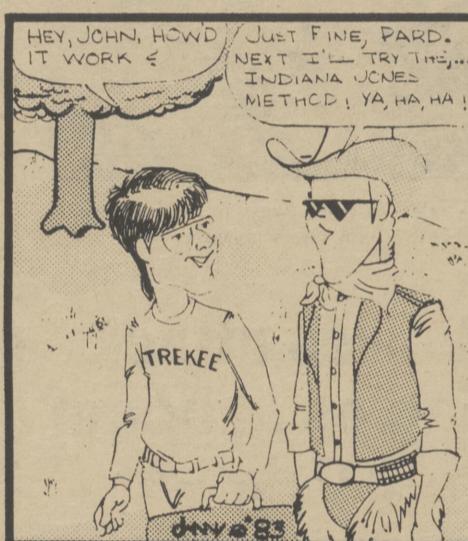

The Hinds defense was again outstanding after overcoming a slow start. The Trojans ran for 89 yards in the first quarter but were held to 48 yards rushing after that. The Eagle defense also collected four quarterback sacks in the contest giving them a total of 18 in their last four games.

Running back Anthony Graham led the Eagle offense with 84 yards on 18 carries as Hinds had 248 yards on the ground and 127 passing for a 375 total while Delta had 271 yards total offense.

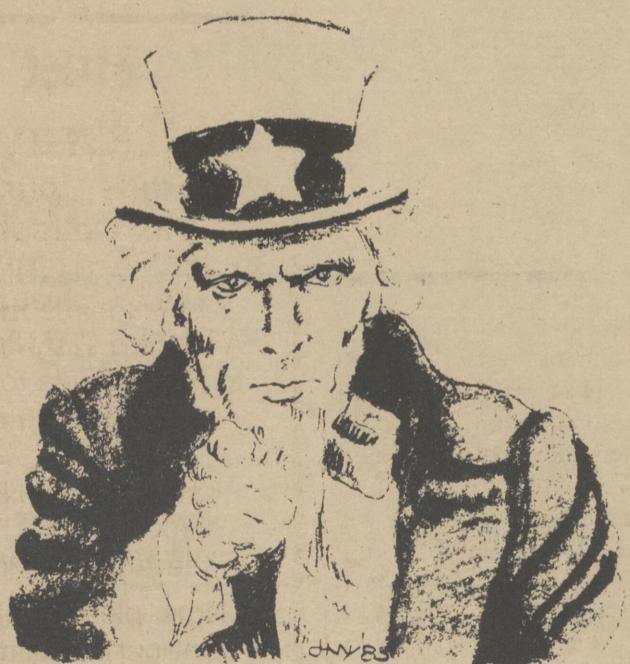

GAINING GROUND—Hinds Junior College's Don Ragsdale gains yardage for the Eagles in the Hinds vs. Mississippi Delta Junior College game Saturday night, October 1. The Eagles defeated the Trojans 34-14 for their third win of the season.

Eagles upset 14th nationally ranked Warriors

The Hinds Eagles spoiled East Central's Homecoming and handed the 14th ranked Warriors their first loss of the year 21-13 in Decatur, October 15. The win gives Hinds a 3-1 mark in the South Division and a 4-3 record overall. East Central falls to 2-1-1 in Division play and 5-1-1 overall.

The Eagles scored first on their opening possession when they drove 73 yards in 14 plays. Quarterback Milton Taylor got the score on a 3 yard and Hinds led 7-0 after Keith Ehrhardt extra point with 7:48 left in the first quarter.

Taylor later scored on a 12 yard run in the second quarter for a 13-0 Eagle lead at the half.

Hinds then scored on their opening possession of the second half when Taylor hooked up with Michael Myers for a 59 yard scoring strike. The extra point was no good and Hinds led 19-0 with 10:59 left in the third.

The Eagles later collected a safety when the Warriors fumbled the ball through the endzone attempting to punt after Hinds had put them in a 4th and 17 position at their seven. This gave Hinds a 21-0 lead going into the final quarter.

East Central then got on the board when Albert Evans scored from six yards on the Warriors first possession of the quarter. David Gallaspay's extra point cut the Hinds lead to 21-7. The drive was set up after a Hinds fumble gave East Central the ball at the Hinds

The Eagles lead slipped to 21-13 when Stacy Powell hit Percy Johnson on a 14 yard scoring toss with 5:43 left to play. The extra point was no good and Hinds recovered an attempted on-sides kick and preceded to run out the clock for the victory.

The victory gives Hinds a good chance to make it to the playoffs depending on how they do against Jones and Gulf Coast.

FOWLER PLANS—Coach Doug Fowler instructs several of the Hinds Eagles on a play during the game against East Central Warriors that brought a 21-13 victory for the Hinds team.

Wolves attack Eagles at home in 13-0 defeat

Co-Lin's Stephen Hobbs returned a punt 91 yards for a touchdown to give the Wolves all the points they would need as they downed Hinds 13-0 in Raymond October 6.

After Hobbs' return Kevin Beazley, the hero in Co-Lins victory over Northwest added the extra point and the Wolves led 7-0 with 12:31 remaining in the first half.

The Wolves added another score on their opening possession of the second half when Jeffery Ham went over from the one after they drove 42 yards in six plays. The drive was set up when Hobbs returned another punt 48 yards from his 16 to the Eagle 42.

This put Co-Lin ahead 13-0 and they weren't threatened until the last five minutes of the game when the Eagles, aided by turnovers, had possession inside the Wolves 45 on three different occasions. Hinds was unable to take advantage of this as the offense could not mount a drive at any point in the game and had to turn the ball over to Co-Lin.

The Eagles were fortunate in some respects as Co-Lin failed to score on numerous opportunities during the game. Beazley missed one extra point and field goals of 41, 42, 32, and 28 yards and two Wolves receivers dropped passes that were sure to go for touchdowns.

The loss was Hinds first in South Division play as they fell to 2-1 and 3-3 overall while Co-Lin improves to 1-2 and 4-2.

The Hinds football team is 3-1 in the South Division at this point in the season and have a good chance to make it to the state playoffs.

To get in the playoffs the Eagles will either have to outright win the South Division or finish in second place which means Hinds will need to win both of the Division games left on the schedule. First Jones, the South Division leader at this point, will travel to Raymond for Hinds' Homecoming October 22, then the Eagles must travel to Gulf Coast to play the defending Division champions the 29th before closing out the regular season at home against Itawamba, November 5.

November 7 the mens and womens basketball teams will open their season in Raymond against Delta with the women's game starting at 6:00 p.m. followed by the men's game at 8:00 p.m. The men's team will be trying to improve on last years 17-7 mark and third place finish in the division while the women's team will be looking to build on last years 6-18 record.

Hinds' Raymond Campus donates 141 pints of blood

"It's like this. If somebody in your family gets hurt and they've got your blood down there, they can get blood if they need it," explained an HJC coed to her friends on the day of the Circle K/Mississippi Blood Services blood drive on the Raymond Campus.

Warren Jackson, director of recruitment for MBS had just finished his friendly, impromptu invitation to a group of between-class students to take advantage of their opportunity to give blood in Room 209 of the Student Union Building.

While Hinds folks were keeping the MBS folks busy in 209, Jackson was walking around campus rallying more donors and encouraging the faint of heart. Between his efforts and those of the Circle K men, the Raymond Campus generated 141 pints of blood on October 5.

"An excellent day," according to Jackson, "the best we've seen here in several years." He said that Hinds even surpassed Ole Miss in the number of pints donated the same day, making up the difference for the ideal total of pints from both institutions.

In encouraging people to donate blood, Mr. Jackson dispelled one fear that may have discouraged those who would otherwise like to donate. He says that 93% of the public is aware of AIDS and 25% of them believe that you can get AIDS by donating blood. "That is not true," he states. "The only risk is in receiving a transfusion and that risk is 25 out of one million transfusions nationwide." He says that in the past when paid-donor blood was used in hospitals for transfusions, the danger of patients receiving impure blood was far greater.

"That is why volunteer-donated blood is so important," he says. When it was found in 1974 that the dangers posed by paid-donor blood was 10 times that of volunteer blood, a federal grant was used to set up the Mississippi Blood Services in 1975. He says that today paid-donor blood is no longer used in Mississippi.

Volunteers are extremely important, he stresses. There are times when the blood supply runs dangerously low and many surgeries are postponed or canceled, he said.

"Only 3 to 5% of the population donates blood each year, but 90% of the population will use blood sometime during their lives."

Workshop set

A Career Exploration Workshop for Adults will be held on the Raymond Campus of the Hinds Junior College District Tuesday and Wednesday October 25-26 from 9 a.m. to noon each day. The workshop is being sponsored by the Raymond Campus Counseling Department and is free.

The workshop will cover such areas as self-exploration, information about specific careers, job prospects in the future and programs offered in the Hinds Junior College District.

More adult learners, or non-traditional students, have begun returning to college. Non-traditional students are defined as students over 24 years old and account for approximately one-third of the college enrollment in the U.S. today. "Many of the non-traditional students are returning to school from jobs in old technology for retraining in new technology," said HJCD Raymond Campus Counselor Mrs. Sharron Leggett. "Some women are enrolling in college courses to change from secretarial jobs to take courses that could lead to jobs in management. The adult learners at Hinds are male and female."

The Career Exploration Workshop for Adults will be in the Reserve Lounge of the Student Union Building on the Raymond Campus.

Persons interested in attending the workshop should call the Hinds Junior College District Raymond Campus Counseling Department at 857-3216.

HJC hair care class features many styles

by Kathryn Johnston

If you need a haircut or a style, the best bargain around is at Hinds Junior College, Raymond campus. A haircut is 50 cents and a shampoo, style and cut for $1.00.

These charges are the cheapest to be found anywhere in the area.

"The school isn't here to make money but to graduate high calibre successful barbers," says instructor Vic Traxler.

Only the costs of the materials used are charged for. The students receive no salaries, but are allowed to accept tips.

The school charges $3 for hair color, frosts, or straighteners and $8 for permanent waves. An appointment is necessary for these but everything else is done on a walk in basis.

Students learn one skill at a time from classroom, films and hands-on practice. They are tested twice a week. Each student provides their own equipment such as shears, curling iron, combs and blow dryers.

According to students Angela Lum and Johnny Scanlon, a good attitude, promptness and a lot of patience are essential to make it through this school.

The students must complete 1500 hours and pass an exam at the State Board of Barber Examiners in Jackson. They usually complete the course in one year.

The barber school is open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday and Wednesday and from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday. Friday it is open 8 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Ceramic class begins Monday October 24th

Basic Techniques of Wheel Throwing with Raku Firings, will be taught on the Raymond Campus of the Hinds Junior College District Monday evenings from 6:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. beginning October 24 and running for six weeks.

LOCAL CLOWN - Bill Flanagan, a Hinds student from Raymond, loves to entertain people and cheer them up with his clown routine. He has attended several camps and taken classes in clowning.

Hiney-Ho clown brings pleasure to other people

by Susan Hammond

There are many people in today's world that bring joy and happiness to other people. Bill Flanagan, a Hinds Junior College student, is one of these people.

Bill has created a clown character named Hiney-Ho. Hiney is still in the process of developing, but he does have his own characteristics. Hiney is a silent, white-faced clown. He is happy, carefree, and entertaining. According to Bill, "He isn't the smartest clown in the world, but he's not the dumbest either." He tries to meet the needs of other people, for example, if someone was feeling low, Hiney would come along and cheer them up.

Bill first became interested in creating a clown in 1981 when his church produced The Clown, in which Bill played the clown. Bill has taken several classes in clowning at some of the camps that he has attended, but since he doesn't plan to go professional with Hiney, he doesn't feel the need to have much training in clowning. Besides, Hiney is going to develop his own character anyway.

Being Hiney enables Bill to be more expressive and relaxed than if he were Bill. He can do things he doesn't normally do, and nobody knows who he is. But when Bill is Hiney, it is as if Bill is not even there, Hiney just takes over and does his own "thing."

Bill plans to use Hiney-Ho in his work with children, and we all know that children relate well with clowns. Those who will meet Hiney will be given the gift of happiness and joy, thanks to Bill.

HJC Ag Club shows display

The Hinds Junior College Agriculture Club had a display at the Mississippi State Fair. It featured the Agriculture Department and job opportunities available in agriculture today.

The club also sponsored two drawings with the winner of the first drawing being, Robby Willis, a former Hinds student, who won a live commercial heifer.

A whole processed is still being offered for the second drawing, of November 21, 1983. The tickets were sold at the fair booth and can also be purchased from the Agriculture Department or any Agriculture Club member. You need not be present to win.

The Mississippi Cattlemen's Association was assisted by the Agriculture Club members explaining different types of cattle and various cuts of meat for the consumers at the State Fair. A hind quarter of beef was given away by the cattlemen.

Nassour feels education decides future success

The editor of this newspaper had the opportunity to meet and interview the author and feature writer, Ellis Nassour. He had some very basic ideas which can be used by our students in whatever field they choose. He is a native of Vicksburg, Mississippi. When he was very young, he had decided that he wanted to be a writer and set some goals.

First, he felt that education was a big factor in his future success and that one instructor in particular would push him beyond his set limits to great work.

Ellis expressed "Anyone can be a writer or anything they want to become but you need to set your goals and keep going, don't let fear stand in your way."

A student's first real opportunity to try out some of their goals is to get involved on campus. This means joining a club or organization which offers you an insight into your field of interest. Some of the best examples are: The Eagle, Hindsonian staff, Lendon Players, or the Association of Legal Students, and many others.

Once you enter the working world, you'll already have gained some experience which will help you to secure a position in your desired field. Of course, you'll have to start at the bottom and work up, but you'll learn even more along the way. If you find yourself being too restricted, do like Ellis did. He worked on his own and submitted his creations to other publishers. He stated that "Even though I went to New York and 'made it big', you don't have to move out of the state to find opportunities, they are everywhere."

In closing his discussion, Ellis wanted to express his concern about the harmful effects of drug and alcohol. Many, many famous people have been destroyed by drug or alcohol addiction, he said.

We all appreciate Ellis coming to Hinds and providing us with an inside view of a professional's life and outlook.

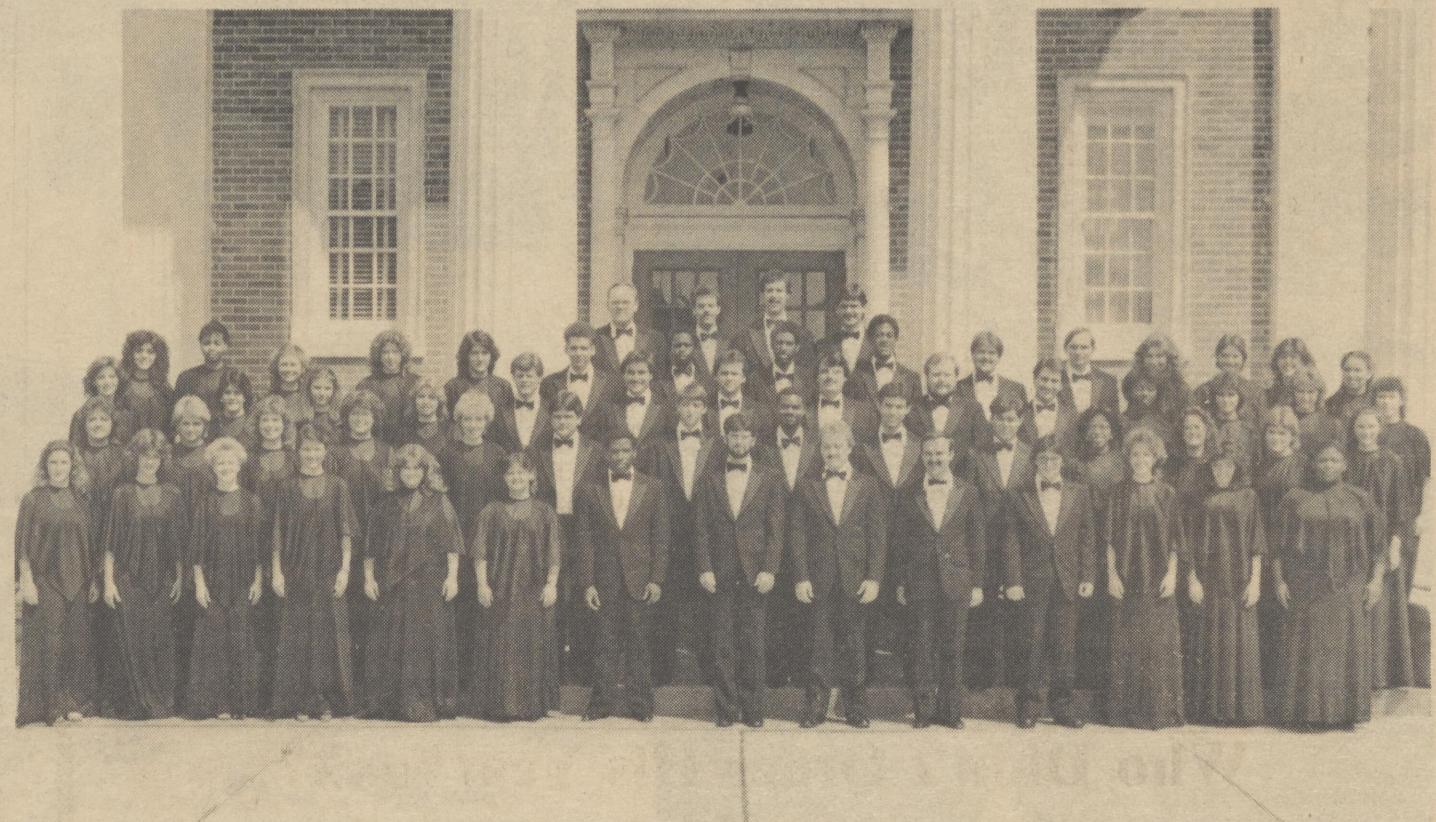

Professional Ag. Development class meeting held at HJC

The Agricultural Professional Development class met at Hinds Junior College and received information on the jobs available in agriculture and forestry with emphasis on good education and proper training.

Dean Lindley, Dean of the College of Agriculture, and Dr. Short, Instructor of Forestry, Mississippi State University, told the students there are good jobs in Agriculture, Pre-Veterinary medicine and Forestry. They also told the students that they would be most happy to work with them in transferring to Mississippi State. They reported that 75% of their students are transfer students from junior colleges.

Graduates of the Veterinary Technician Program; and members of the Agriculture Diesel Mechanics, Meat Merchandising, and Farm Management Advisory committees were also there to answer questions and provide comments about the specialized training a student needs to secure employment.

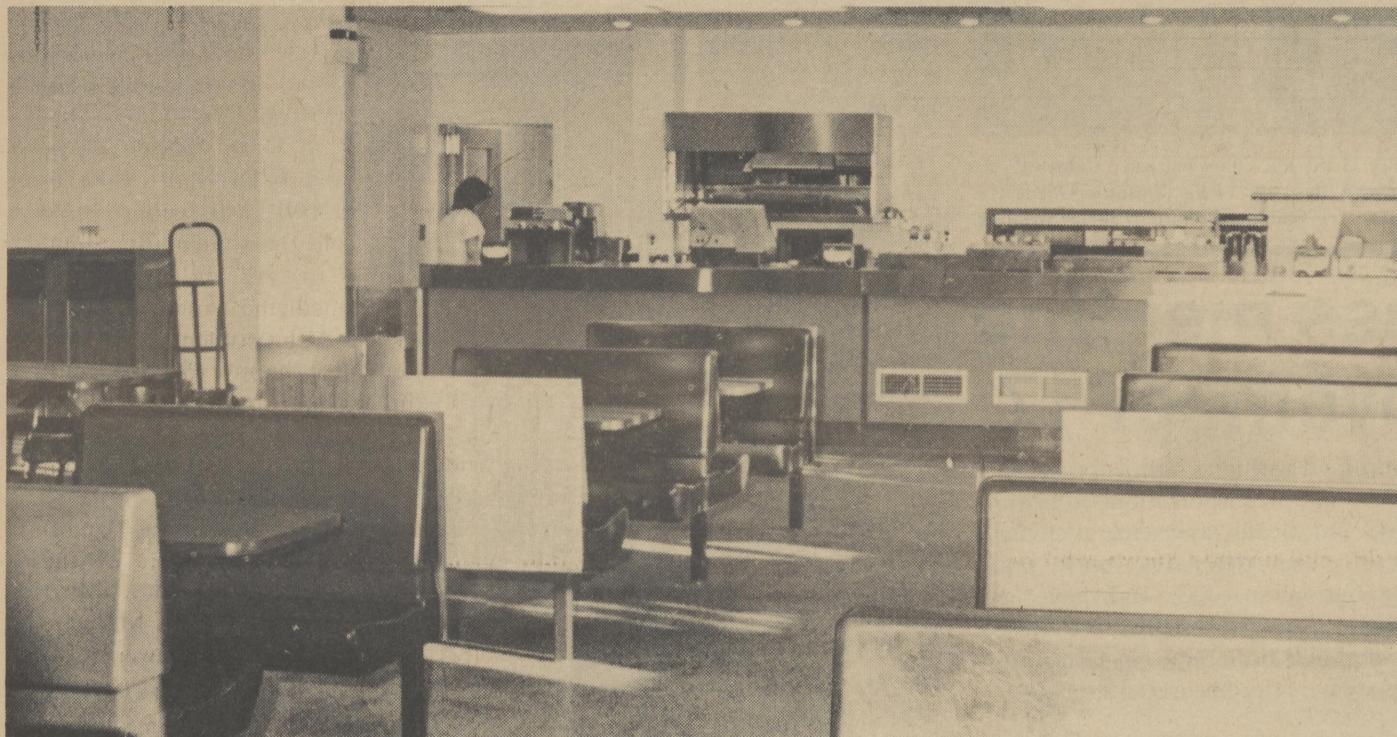

Refreshments were served and the students visited with the guests.

University research

Sen. Cochran pushes research from legislation

Senator Thad Cochran (R-Miss.) says he is sponsoring legislation to boost the basic research capabilities of American colleges and universities.

"Research and development are essential if our nation is to meet the economic and technological challenges of the future, and generate the jobs and productivity to keep our economy strong and progressive," he said here Friday.

Senator Cochran's comment came in an address to the Agri-Business Council of the Jackson Chamber of Commerce.

He said the legislation he and a bipartisan group of Senators is sponsoring would "establish a five-year blueprint and investment in basic research at the nation's colleges and universities."

Funds would be provided for research through six federal agencies that are involved in most of such research. The agencies include the Departments of Agriculture, Defense and Energy, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, the National Science Foundation, and the National Institute of Health.

About $1 billion would be invested in a five-year period for research in agriculture, science and technology, health and other areas at American universities and land grant colleges.

The Senator's address in the Capital City came as he made a series of appearances in the state during the annual Columbus Day recess.

Earlier, he chaired Senate Agriculture and Forestry Committee hearings at Ellisville on the economic potential of the forestry industry.

This weekend, he was scheduled to attend several agriculture college events at Mississippi State University, and festivities at Clarkco State Park near Quitman celebrating the 150th anniversary of Clarke County.

Youth Congress meeting scheduled November 17

Hinds Junior College will participate in the 34th annual Youth Congress to be held in Jackson on November 17, 18 and 19. This will be the 28th year Hinds has participated in the Youth Congress.

The Youth Congress is a mock legislature body consisting of a House of Representatives and a Senate. The House of Representatives consists of high school students. Up to three students, or delegates, with three alternates may attend and each school must submit one bill to the Congress while it is in session.

The Senate is composed of college students. Each college participating may send four delegates with four alternates. The college must submit at least one bill and may submit up to three bills. The bill submitted may be concerned with any political issue such as: welfare, transportation, education, ways and means, and natural environment. The delegates may make nomination speeches and have oral debate over issues that are raised. Several bills brought up in Youth Congress have later become state laws.

The Youth Congress will be held in Jackson at the Old Capitol Building during the day sessions and at the Holiday Inn Downtown during the night sessions.

There are no requirements for students who would like to participate and they may have different majors.

Any students interested in this organization is encouraged to talk with Mr. Fred Brooks in the Speech Department in the Fine Arts Annex Building.

ASB members attend SCAM meeting, Sept. 29

The annual Student Council Association of Mississippi Junior Colleges (SCAM) convention was held September 29-30 in Jackson. Those attending the convention from Raymond campus were Joe Cooper - ASB President, Deborah Crawford - ASB Secretary, Steve Rayburn - Student Services Director, and Mr. Bill Oakes, sponsor.

The theme for this year's convention was "Developing Effective Leaders for the Eighties and Beyond." In relation to this theme, Dr. Clyde Ginn and Dr. Walter Cooper from the University of Southern Mississippi conducted a workshop dealing with various aspects of leadership development.

At the Executive Committee meeting which was held Thursday afternoon, the Student Body Presidents of each junior college discussed various needs which exist on their respective campuses as well as suggestions on how to effectively deal with these needs as they arise.

In summary, the SCAM convention was a great success. The convention taught every member a great deal about the ways in which student government can be made better for the good of the entire student body.

"The Associated Student Body at Hinds is proud to have been a part of the 1983 SCAM convention," stated ASB president Joe Cooper.

"Camelot" cast sets opening date Nov. 2

The majestic tale of the Arthurian legend "Camelot", will be presented by the HJC London Players on November 2-4 and again November 10-12 in the Little Theater of the Fine Arts Building.

"It is a wonderful love story," says Denise Halbach, director of this project. "It's the story of King Arthur who marries Guenevere and sets up the round table and the new order of chivalry and mightful right."

"Lancelot then comes from France to join the round table. He's a very phenomenal knight, but Guenevere instantly hates him because he's so, well, he appears to be so pompous. He talks about how pure he is. The thing is he's really not pompous, he really is that way. He's the world's greatest knight."

"Eventually, however, Guenevere falls in love with him." Halbach describes it as the eternal triangle. Guenevere loves both Lancelot and Arthur, her husband. Arthur's best friend is Lancelot. "It's the love triangle, the eternal triangle. There is no solution to the problem."

The "Camelot" production is an ambitious undertaking for anyone and stretches the talents of all involved, especially those of the wardrobe department. The play calls not only for medieval costuming, but for armor as well. The costuming problems was solved by borrowing wardrobe from the University of Southern Mississippi for a look which should be both realistic and professional.

The cast is headed by Scott Ward as King Arthur, Vicki Denson as Guenevere, and Byron Galloway as Lancelot. Other "Camelot" players include Todd Long, Ty Harwell, Joe Hasson, Jerry Blakeney, Mike McQueen, Bill Flanagan, and chorus members J.T. Tucker, Robert Young, Nancy Wade, Kimberly Coalter, Marty Barksdale, Janice Donald, and Stacey Hinesley.

"It's a majestic story" exclaims director Denise Halbach. "'Camelot' is legend and wonder and mystery and magic."

The Hinds Junior College campus at Raymond has three faculty members hosting foreign exchange students. The faculty members are Retta Porter, English instructor; Tom Shepherd, Economics instructor; and Joe Riggan, Mathematics instructor.

Retta Porter's student comes from Sweden and his name is Magnus Blixt. He is 15 years old and attends Raymond High School. He likes to go fishing and has recently been introduced to the sport of hunting. He plans to be a trainer for the Raymond High School baseball team this spring.

Tom Shepherd also has a student from Sweden and his name is Teddy Lindbom and he is 16 years old. He attends Forest Hill High School and loves our TV programs. In his country there are only two stations and they have restrictions on programs and hours of telecasting. He is playing on a city-wide soccer team and loves to watch football.

Joe Riggan has a young lady from Spain who is 17 years old and her name is Partica Ortiz. She also attends Raymond High School. She plays the piano very well and loves to dance. During the winter months in Spain, she would ski every weekend and this year she said that she would miss it.

Magnus and Teddy find our school system to be very strict compared to theirs, but Partica finds it to be easier.

American foods such as pizza, hamburgers, fried chicken, and chocolate in any form appeals to them.

Generally the students find that prices are much higher for many things such as entertainment, medical care and clothes.

The faculty members have all expressed that they are enjoying the students and learning from them too. Retta Porter said she had learned enough Swedish to write a letter to Magnus' mother. Tom Shepherd said "People feel that you are a kind and special person to be a foreign exchange host, but we get a great deal from it too". Every one of the host parents hope to have the opportunity to host other students in the future and maybe even take a trip to one of these countries some day.

Golden Days of Autumn

When those autumn leaves drift by your window, do you just want to sit there and enjoy watching them pile up, or do you want to get out and run and jump in them?

Now that fall has arrived in all of its splendor, we must remember that these 'golden' days will be short lived. The cerulean blue skies, comfortably cool weather, golden late afternoon shadows... apple cider, the smell of burning leaves, jack-o-lanterns and ghost stories under a full moon... all will be gone too soon. Soon we will be battling bone-chilling winds, digging deep in closets for our heaviest clothing, getting ready for the holidays that will approach before we're ready.

Now is the time for walks in the country. Now is the time to sit quietly on a campus bench and listen to the rustle of the leaves as they resist the soft pressure of the winds that will loose them from their branches. Now is the time to watch the squirrels as they hurry about their business of putting up for the winter, sometimes putting on their aerial acts leaping from branch to branch overhead. Now is the time to gaze skyward and wonder at the destinations of the V-formations of the many birds flying south for the winter...

Autumn is nature's finest hour, a graceful goodbye that heightens our awareness of life and awakens our senses.

You don't have to jump in the leaves to enjoy this time of year. Just get outside as much as you can; ride a bike, take a hike; go fishing; take a horseback ride. Just enjoy!

Most campus thefts due to carelessness

A continuous problem that plagues our campus today is theft. According to Larry Coleman, Director of the Campus Police, most of the theft could be prevented.

As a preventive measure you should always inscribe your Social Security number on valuable items and at least have a record of the serial numbers of these items. Next, you need to keep your dorm room locked when you are not in the room and report any suspicious persons who you may notice.

Larry Coleman stated that another problem is that students are not locking their vehicles and if they see anyone tampering with a vehicle, they should call campus police.

"If you value it, then take care of it", is a good criteria for your books, umbrellas, coats, purses, and any other personal items that you carry with you. Don't leave these items in the cafeteria, library book store or in the classrooms. Don't be careless!

Report anything you feel is suspicious to the campus police or call 857-5410 and one of the officers will come to your assistance. You will need to identify what the problem is and who you are. If possible, it would help if you could stand by for an officer to come to you.

Our campus officers are Larry Coleman, Director of campus police, Jack Hite, J.W. Hoatland, Jimmie Merchant, Willie (Bear) Mounger, and David L. Teece.

Special events scheduled for Education Week, Nov. 13-19

by Mary Ann Sones

American Education Week will be observed during the week of Nov. 13-19 at Hinds Junior College. The special designation of this week is co-sponsored by several national organizations. These include National Education Association, U.S. Dept. of Education, National Congress of Parents Teachers Association, National School Board Association, and the American Legion. The purpose is to build public support for American schools. In keeping with this purpose, this year's theme is "A Strong Nation Need Strong Public Schools."

Various student organizations such as Delta Epsilon Chi, Future Business Leaders of America, and the Associated Student Body will be participating in special activities designed to honor faculty during American Education Week. These activities will take place on all campuses.

During this particular week, faculty and students should evaluate their concept of public education, recognize the need for a strong public school system (both secondary and post-secondary), as well as renew appreciation for our nation and our public schools.

This order approves the action of the Board of Trustees taken on January 6, 1982 which was the first step in the formation of a unified Hinds Junior College District. This plan is designed to remedy the prior de jure segregation at Hinds and Utica Junior Colleges.

Media Center offers variety to faculty, staff and students

by Susan Hammond

Where do you view a tape on psychology, to practice taking dictation, to see television specials, or to use a computer terminal? "The Media Center" of course!

The Media Center is located in the basement of the McLendon Library on the Raymond campus. It houses several facilities open to students.

The learning lab provides films, film strips, slides, video and audio tapes to assist students in learning.

There are four classrooms provided in which teachers take their classes to view films for the class.

There are also four computer terminals provided to those students who are majoring in computer science.

The Media Center has a television studio where some of the teachers make films to show their classes and a media advertising class film commercials in the studio as well. Facilities are also available to film events on other sections of the campus.

Recreation Center finds new residence

by Becky Stringer

The Recreation Center has found a new residence. It was once located in the Student Union Building but since the beginning of this fall semester, it has been relocated in the building next to the Eagle Stadium.

People seem to have adjusted to the change with great ease. One HJC student commented that the pool tables are either always being used or that someone is always waiting to use one of them.

The Recreation Center is equipped with ten pool tables, a foosball table and music that you or someone else must provide. Snack machines are located inside the building and drink machines are outside the front entrance.

Football Update

Hinds Eagles drop 2, hope for 5-5 split season

The Hinds Eagles lost a decisive game Saturday, October 22, when the Jones Bobcats defeated the Eagles 24-13 at the Hinds Homecoming. This loss placed the Eagles in an overall 4-4 standing and were 3-2 in South Division play. Jones moved up to a 6-2 overall and are 4-1 in the South.

The first score of the game came when Hinds quarterback Milton Taylor of Jackson passed 15 yards to Don Ragsdale of Pisgah for the touchdown. Keith Ehrhardt missed the extra point and the Eagles were on the board with a 6-0 lead. Jones soon scored when David Hopper passed 37 yards to Marlon Evans for the touchdown and Todd Mangum made the extra point giving the Bobcats a 7-6 lead.

During the second quarter the Bobcat's Lonnie May ran 14 yards for the touchdown and again Todd Mangum made the extra point giving Jones a 14-6 lead over the Eagles. Hinds quarterback Milton Taylor came back with a score for the Eagles with a 61 yard touchdown run and Keith Ehrhardt made the extra point but still giving Hinds a trailing score of 14-13 at the half.

In the second half the Bobcats came out and quickly took control of the game. David Hopper of the Bobcats threw a lateral pass to Lonnie May and once again Todd Mangum made the extra point giving Jones their last touchdown of the game and a lead over the Eagles 21-13.

During the fourth quarter Todd

Mangum of the Bobcats kicked a 35 yard field goal giving Jones their victory of 24-13 over the Hinds team.

The Eagles of Hinds Junior College suffered their 5th loss of the season in a 35-2 defeat by Mississippi Gulf Coast Junior College at Perkinston last Saturday. The Eagles can now only hope for a split season of 5-5 as they host Itawamba this Saturday at 2:00 P.M. at Raymond.

Neither Gulf Coast or Hinds could produce a touchdown during the first quarter of the game as both teams seemed not to be able to move the ball. Both teams had 3 first downs during the first quarter.

The only touchdown made during the first half came when Gulf Coast's Jeff Loftus passed 25 yards to Gary Taylor for the touchdown and Bobby Murrah made the point after.

Third quarter proved to be the clincher for the Bulldogs as they added 20 points to the board. Touchdowns were made by Allen Williams, Jeff Loftus, and David Graddy with Bobby Murrah adding extra points. Gulf Coast did try a 2 point conversion but failed.

Hinds got 2 points when Charles McGriggs sacked the Bulldog quarterback in the end zone. The Bulldogs added 8 more points during the fourth quarter when Marion Blackston made the touchdown and Anthony Harris ran the ball in 3 yards for the 2 point conversion.

Hinds now has a 4-5 overall record and are 3-3 in South Division play.

Campus energy cost

According to Paul Bourgeois, the Energy Coordinator at Hinds Junior College, the estimated cost for heating the campus during the three worst months of the year is: $26,000 to $27,000 for December, $40,000 for January, and $25,000 for February. The cost seems high, but less gas at a higher price is being used to run the steamboilers that produce the heat used at Hinds.

Some of the problems Bourgeois has to deal with are keeping the steam traps clean and regulating the flow of steam through the radiators. The worst problem is keeping the thermostats set on the specified temperature because people are constantly changing the thermostats. The temperature adopted by Dr. Muse and the Board of Hinds Junior College District is sixty-five degrees.

The heat is cut off in many of the academic buildings at night to conserve energy, but some must be left on to control humidity.

Choir sets theme for Christmas show

by Amy Sparks

As the Christmas season comes upon us, the HJC Choir and Ensembles are preparing for the annual Choir Christmas Program to be presented December 13 and 14 at 8:00 p.m. in the Cain Hall Auditorium.

The theme for this year's program is "It's a Small, Small World". Its purpose is to show that the Christian countries view Christmas with the same idea in mind.

The Choir, Women's Ensemble, and Clefs will be performing carols from Germany, Spain, Mexico, and other foreign countries.

These special groups will be singing their carols in the original language.

The Christmas Program is always a colorful event due to the costumes worn by the members. This year they will dress to resemble dolls from the various countries.

Each student is responsible for making their own costumes and many of the students will be wearing original costumes from the countries they represent.

Some of the more familiar songs that will be sung are: It's a Small, Small World, Silent Night, Such a Small King, Do you Know the New Born Child and many, many more.

Each year this program highlights the Christmas season for our campus and we hope that everyone attends and picks up the joy of the season.

The program director is Leslie Reeves. Assistant directors are Geneva Reeves who directs Women's Ensembles and Bo McNeill who is director of the Clefs.

Admission to the program is free but anyone wishing to make reservations needs to contact the HJC Music Department at 857-3271.

In addition the choir will provide a Christmas tree for Cain Hall which will be decorated with hand made ornaments and baby pictures of the choir members. Leslie Reeves stated that "This is the 27th year for the HJC choir to present the holiday program."

Students urged to see counselors now

Those students planning to attend Hinds next semester need to go by the counseling offices and plan their schedule for the spring semester.

All sophomores are being asked to see a counselor during the month of November and freshmen during December. If you abide by this format it will cause less confusion and less crowding.

Planning your classes now will help you speed through registration and will insure that you get the courses you need.

Thanksgiving for families

Thanksgiving Day was a day for giving thanks for the harvest and other blessings of the year. As we all know it started over two hundred years ago with the pilgrims and has been declared an official holiday.

Today this holiday is one of the last remaining holidays in which commercialism has not been able to truly take hold. We're still sentimental about getting together with our family and friends to enjoy a good meal and conversation. We'll share what we have with others less fortunate and this is good for everyone.

In our modern world, there are still many things happening around us and we are grateful we are not entangled to the point of costing our life or country freedoms.

Most of us have very good health and enjoy life with a home to welcome us after a weary day.

Let us never allow our loving holiday to ever change. There are some traditions in this world which make it great. There is not a county, state or city that can ever forget to take a day of their time to think about the blessings which have seen us through some rough times.

American Broadcasting presents "The Day After"

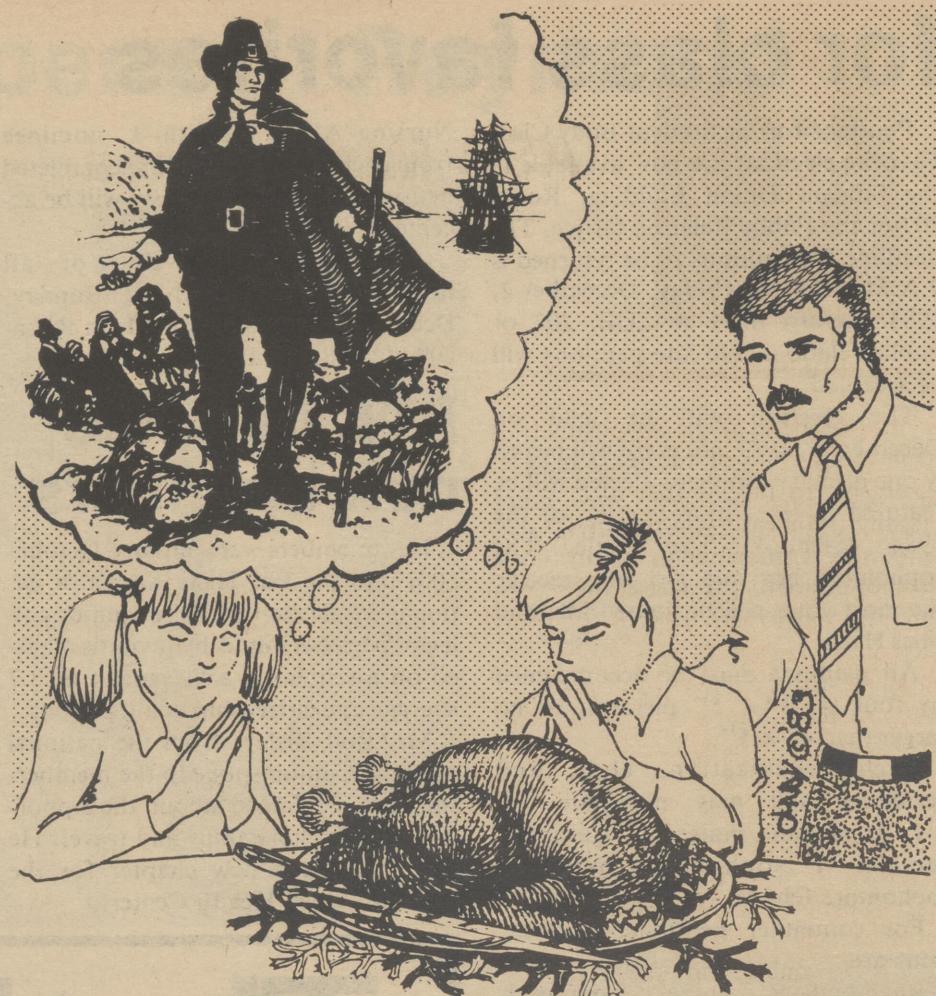

November Sweeps. Television's answer to King of the Hill is now underway with ABC drawing first blood with the edited version of "Stir Crazy." The movie was one-tenth of a point behind "Dallas" as being the top-rated show of the week and knocked out Sunday night's opening segment of NBC's highly publicized "Princess Daisy," a two-part mini-series for NBC.

The sweeps started in the middle of the week while the Nielsen ratings started on Monday. This year's sweeps started with ABC'S first victory with coverage of World Series Week. On November 20, the American Broadcasting Co. will present a made-for-television feature which centers around the effects of a nuclear bomb blast called "The Day After" (it is said that the day after "The Day After" America won't be the same; P.J. Bednarski, Chicago Sun Times).

NBC's new kid on the block, "The A Team" received the network's only hit of the season but unfortunately received a current sixth place position

Carpentry offers learning with project experience

Vocational-Technical Program in Carpentry is a learning experience, then a building shop. The students in this program have to not only build things for a grade, but also take tests, work math problems, and go to class for at least an hour a day, five days a week.

Joe Huffman, instructor of this program and a graduate of Mississippi State University with a degree in Industrial Arts, says, "this program is first a learning experience for students who take this program and it is my job to keep it that way."

Huffman says that it takes students two semesters and a summer school semester to finish this program. During this time they will first learn the safety of the machines a carpenter uses and then learn how to use them. Safety is the first thing the students learn about when they first come to this program. They have tests on this and every thing else they are taught by Mr. Huffman in this program.

The Carpentry department is not a maintenance operation. They do not usually work on personal items. What the students do in class is their school work for a grade. They are graded on the projects they are assigned to do in class, and also tested on each unit they learn.

The students in this program usually become involved in some type of carpentry work. Some go into business for themselves. But most do trim work for a company until they can learn enough to make money doing it themselves.

ASB Miscellanea

Joe Cooper

As President of the Associated Student Body, one of the most difficult problems to face is that of "student apathy". In case you're not familiar with the term, student apathy is the lack of desire on the part of the student body to participate in ASB-sponsored activities. However, the problem of student apathy on this campus has become much more than just a "lack of desire"; it has become a total disregard of all activities that ASB has brought to the student body--a "slap in the face" for those of us who have attempted to make this a great year for the student body and student government as well.

On November 2nd, the President's Cabinet of the Associated Student Body met to discuss and decide on a possible solution to this problem. As a result, we as student leaders have been forced to make a number of serious decisions. First of all, the "Rocky Horror Picture Show" scheduled for December 8th has been cancelled. The turnout at "ELI" gave us more than enough good reasons for that decision. Secondly, the ASB President's Cabinet unanimously approved a recommendation that any future activities sponsored by ASB would be considered only if a petition bearing the names of at least 500 students desiring for the activity to take place is submitted to ASB.

These decisions were made in the hope that students will take the initiative when it comes to future ASB-sponsored events. It must be understood that ASB is only as good as the students make it. Now it's up to you to make it what you want.

What will it be?

Grounds crew keep HJC campus beautiful all year

The primary job of the grounds crew at Hinds is the keeping up of the campus, mowing, landscaping, cleaning up and etc...

According to Glen White, who has been there since Jan. 1973 said, "he gives his workers most of the credit because they do most of the work around campus, and without them the campus wouldn't look as good as it does."

The workers' responsibilities are mowing throughout the year. The way they mow throughout the winter months, which he considered to be Dec., Jan., and Feb., is by over seeding. This keeps the grass green throughout the year. Also, during the winter they clean out the ditch banks and work on the equipment.

During the summer months they usually mow, prune, use weed control, and plant their annual flowers. The annual flowering is done three times a year, winter, spring, and summer. They plant mums, tulips, and pansies. This gives color to the campus during the winter months.

During the entire year they pick up garbage and litter.

Out of all eleven of his workers, one of them works at the airport and at the agriculture complex. The other ten who he works with primarily put in eight hours a day.

Another job they work on everyday is the landscaping, as you may have already seen. They plan on working with the Sheffield-Woolley Hall and Williams Hall by planting new shrubbery and annual beds around them, since these are the newest dorms.

White said, "Dr. Muse is behind them 100 percent and that he wants to do more work with the campus when the money comes available and that they have stayed within the budget for the last four to five years. This has made them able to buy better equipment so they can do a better job."

One of the last things White mentioned was the golf course they mow and over seed every year. White goes out and digs up smaller trees and plants them on the course and uses larger ones around campus. He said he digs up about 90 percent of the trees he plants. This doesn't cost the school anything.

White summed up with the quote, "You can see the fruits of the labor."

GO FOR GOAL — Anita Bond of the Lady Eagles goes for the goal as they defeated Delta Junior College in the opening game of the season. The Lady Eagles had a 79-61 victory.

5-5 Record

Eagles finish season by defeating Indians

Quarterback Milton Taylor threw two touchdown passes and defensive backs Sammie Hall and Johnny Elmore each returned interceptions for scores as the Eagles closed out their season with a 26-7 victory over Itawamba in Raymond, November 5 to finish the year 5-5.

Itawamba won the toss to start the game and on third down Hall intercepted a pass by Indian quarterback Brad Waycaster and returned it 32 yards for the touchdown. Keith Ehrhardt's extra point gave the Eagles a quick 7-0 lead.

They increased the lead to 13-0 when Taylor threw his first scoring toss, a 14 yarder to Brad Lewis. The drive began from the Indians 32 after Roy Williams recovered an Itawamba fumble and took only four plays.

The Indians cut the lead to 13-7 on their first possession of the second half when Thomas Tucker went over from a yard out with 7:19 left in the third quarter. The drive started from their 32 with the key play being a 45 yard pass from Waycaster to Lamar Aldridge.

But the Eagles came right back on their next possession when Taylor hit Michael Myers from 31 yards out to push the lead up to 19-7 with 4:52 to play in the third quarter. They began the drive from there and took only five plays as Shaun Pinkston carried the ball four times for 35 yards during the drive.

Hinds then put the game away when Elmore intercepted a Waycaster pass and returned it 53 yards for the touchdown. Ehrhardt added the point after to make the final 26-7.

Eagles, Lady Eagles win season opener

Head Coach Bob Garrison, beginning his 13th year will lead his men's basketball team into action this year in hopes of bettering last year's playoff team. The 1982-83 Eagles were 17-7 and participated in the state and regional playoffs.

With the loss of high scorers Mark Coleman (16.5 ppg) and Lonnie Nash (14.6 ppg), some people may have doubts. But the Eagles have four players returning who can lead the club, they are Riley Ellis (11.3 ppg), Victor Owens (5.0 ppg), Jeff Kelly (4.9 ppg), and Carl Douglas.

Garrison also has a group of nine first-year players who will help the team, they are Alvin Morris, Bert Wilkerson, Al Ray Lewis, Lawson Veal, Robert Perry, Robert Bendolph, Robert Crain, Cedric Williams, and Steve Peacock.

The Eagles could be well on their way to the regionals again this year as they won their opening game of the year, a 90-68 decision over Miss. Delta in Raymond November 7. Ellis led Hinds in scoring with 19 points as the Eagles blew open a close game in the second half after leading 44-43 at the intermission. Other players leading the Eagles to victory were Bendolph with 17, Morris with 16, and Veal with 11. Owens chipped in 8, followed by Peacock with 6, Wilkerson-5, Lewis-4, and Perry-4. For Delta Kirk Price had 14 and Kendall Bryant 12 to lead the Trojans.

The Eagles then traveled to Moorhead and destroyed the Trojans 80-42, completing a two game sweep of the series.

Hinds was in control all the way and they led 42-19 at the intermission. As Robert Bendolph led the team in scoring with 22 points. Other players in double figures were Riley Ellis with 14, Victor Owens with 10 and Lawson Veal with 10. Al Ray Lewis chipped in 8, Bert Wilkerson 6, Alvin Morris 4, Steve Peacock 4, and Robert Perry added 2 to round out the scoring for the 2-0 Eagles.

The Eagles were victorious again last Monday night as they defeated the Holmes Junior College Bulldogs 51-39. The Eagles now have three straight wins for the season.

In Monday's game scorers were: Victor Owens, 6; Bert Wilkerson, 4; Alvin Morris, 4; Al Ray Lewis 13; Robert Bendolph 10; Lawson Veal 12; and Robert Perry, 2.

LADY EAGLES PLAN FOR NOVEMBER 29

The Lady Eagle basketball team had their problems last year, finishing 6-17, but Head Coach Terri Baker in her second year has four players back from last year's squad to lead the team through the 1983-84 campaign. The sophomores are Jackie Williams (12.2 ppg), Liz Vanerson (7.8 ppg), Becky Rose (3.8 ppg), and Aletha Ratliff (1.9 ppg).

Baker has recruited nine freshmen who are expected to contribute during the year. The first year players are Carla Fields, Anita Bond, Shirley Perkins, Jennifer Smith, Pauline Rule, Tamara Haggard, Tracey Parker, Gail Lobue, and Terri Burkett.

They were well on their way to improving last year's mark as Baker's squad defeated Miss. Delta 79-61 in their opening game of the season in Raymond November 7.

Williams led the Lady Eagles with 22 points as they dominated the game from the outset, taking a 41-25 halftime lead. Other players leading the team were Parker with 16, and Rose with 11 while Vanerson and Haggard each added 8, followed by Perkins and Bond with 5, Lobue-2, and Rule-2. Pamela Crockett led the Lady Trojan's with 29.

The Lady Eagles then dropped a 78-76 heartbreaker to the Lady Trojans in overtime. At Moorhead, Hinds led 29-27 at the half before Delta rallied to tie the game at 72-72 at the end of regulation.

Jackie Williams led the 1-1 Lady Eagles with 21 points followed by Tracey Parker with 20, Tamara Haggard 12, and Becky Rose 11. Other players scoring were Anita Bond, Liz Vanerson, and Gail Lobue all with 4 points.

The Lady Eagles lost their game with the Lady Bulldogs in a 84-72 defeat to give them their second loss of the year. Scorers for the game were: Gail Lobue, 12; Tamra Haggard 6; Anita Bond, 18; Jackie Williams 15; Liz Vanerson 7; Tracey Parker, 6; and Becky Rose, 8.

The next home game for both teams will be November 29 when Hinds will host Clarke College.

"So close yet so far" may be using an old cliche but it perfectly describes the Eagles quest for a spot in the state playoffs this year.

To qualify for past season play Hinds needed to win the South Division outright or finish in second place. The Eagles were in good position to do either after their 21-13 victory over East Central which gave Hinds a 3-1 division mark at the time and set up a showdown with Jones the following week. The Bobcats were 4-0 in division play coming into the game and they left 5-0 after a 24-13 victory.

In that game the Eagles had a number of critical penalties and turnovers which ended several what looked to be scoring drives that cost them dearly.

But Hinds wasn't out yet, a victory in their last division game at Gulf Coast would give the Eagles a 4-2 mark and the second place finish they needed. It just wasn't to be, the Bulldogs dominated the game from the outset and cruised to a 35-2 victory ending the Eagles chances.

Jones won the South with a 6-0 record while Gulf Coast finished second at 5-1. East Central finished third with a mark of 3-2-1 followed by Hinds and Co-Lin at 3-3.

In all fairness, the Eagles are a better team than their record indicates but they just weren't able to play with the consistency needed to win like they should.

Hinds closed out their season with a 25-7 win over Itawamba, who saw their playoff hopes disappear with a 50-16 loss at Northwest, to finish 5-5. Last year the Indians prevented the Eagles from finishing 5-5 by forging a 9-9 tie giving Hinds a 4-5-1 record and improving their record to 6-3-1. The Eagles gained some measure of revenge with the win by forcing Itawamba to also finish the year 5-5.

The Eagle Basketball team is off to a 3-0 start with freshman Robert Bendolph leading the team in scoring with a 16.1 average. Riley Ellis and Lawson Veal are next (11 ppg) followed by Alvin Morris and Victor Owens with (8 ppg).

The Lady Eagles are 1-2 at this point with Jackie Williams leading the team with a 19.1 average followed by Tracey Parker (14 ppg.), Becky Rose (10 ppg) and Tamara Haggard (8.2 ppg.).

Meat Merchandising recognized for sausage

by William A. Hester

While Hinds Junior College is known for the Hinds Hi-Steppers, it is beginning to be known for its sausage. Produced by the Meat Merchandising department of Hinds Junior College, the sausage is made from a recipe developed during the past two years and is sold at or a little above cost. Delicious and of high quality with high protein content and little fat, it is a great way to help start a day. This is one of the many services that the meat merchandising course has to offer the student and the public of Hinds and the surrounding counties.

The Meat Merchandising Course consists of slaughtering and butchering to the last details of meat cutting and retail sales. From the farm to the kitchen table is another way of expressing it. The slaughtering of an animal, be it beef, pork, lamb or venison consist of killing, cleaning, and the breaking down the carcass into primal cuts for the meat department of the college.

The meat department then cuts the meat into its well known steaks, roasts, chops, bacon, and ham. From there, packaging and pricing the meat and selling it to the public. The service is available to the public to use for private stock at a reasonable fee.

The course consist of five-eight semester blocks and a student must complete forty semester hours to finish the course. The department heads of the course then assist the students to find jobs at local stores or meat packing plants such as: A&P, McCarty-Holman, Winn-Dixie, Kroger and Sunflower.

The Agriculture Program of Hinds Junior College, which this is a part of, started approximately thirty years ago as a government storage for vegetables.

The course offers classroom instructions with hands on experience. While stressing safety, the student learns the business procedures of meat merchandising. He also learns how to judge the animals for future reference.

The course is open to all persons interested and serves a public need for the farmers and the community in which it is located.

The department is also responsible for the beef products that are served in the cafeteria at this time and is assured of high quality by daily inspections by a Federal Meat Inspector.

VICA chapter creates goals

VICA puts you on the right foot. VICA stands for THE VOCATIONAL INDUSTRIAL CLUBS OF AMERICA. This club was started on the Hinds Jr. College campus by Mike Hataway eight years ago. Many students join this club for professional growth and competition.

The four most important purposes of this organization are: To assist students in establishing realistic vocational goals, to help students attain a purposeful life, to create enthusiasm for learning, and to assist students in their growth and development. VICA is a national organization with local chapters. The Hinds Jr. College chapter participate in all local competitions.

Every year during the Christmas holidays the VICA club at Hinds Jr. College adopts a family. In the next two to three weeks the VICA club at Hinds will be offering CPR classes to all students.

If you want to prepare yourself for the future and all it has to offer, join your local VICA today and begin with success.

ASB tries to provide entertainment

by Sheri Byrd

The Programming Board here at Hinds Junior College has been hard at work fulfilling their purpose, which is to provide entertainment and activities for the students. According to Director of the Programming Board, Roy Butts, the board is allowed by the school a given amount of money yearly to use towards activities such as dances and concerts. The board is not interested in making money, simply breaking even and, above all, entertaining the students.

The board recently brought the rock band "Eli" to campus. The band played excellently but the crowd turnout was very disappointing to the board members.

The board is able to bring such groups as this by contacting booking agencies who in return send catalogues of various bands to pick from. The board, which is limited to twenty student members, meets and decides on the band they want. When the decision is reached, a contract is then drawn up and entertainment is brought to the HJC campus.

The Programming Board exists simply to meet the entertainment wants and needs of the students. In order to be successful and continue bringing variety to our campus, the board must have full participation and support from all the students of Hinds Junior College.

Reading dept. offers variety of instruction

The Hinds Junior College reading department has a very good program. The program was set up after World War II under the leadership of Dr. Aubrey Lucas, now president of USM.

It is now under the direction of Hilda McRaney, who has been working in the reading department since 1969. There are four full-time teachers and four part-time teachers in the department.

To enroll in a reading course, students have to take a placement test for reading. The placement test determines on what level the student will be reading. During the fall semester of '83 there are over 500 students enrolled in the reading program. There are five different types of reading courses and they are as follows: (1) Prescriptive reading which is designed for the students who desire assistance in a specific but limited area of weakness. (2) Developmental Reading (3) Reading Improvement (4) Speed Reading and (5) Improvement of Study.

Mullins creates interest with stained glass

A visit to the Vocational/Technical Center on the Raymond campus could very well bring a taste of the middle ages to some and a very interesting art form to the masses.

Bob Mullins, owner of Custom Stained Glass in Raymond on the square instructs students in the almost lost art of glass staining.

While the term glass staining implies that the artist is coloring the glass, that really is not the case, according to Mullins. "The glass comes from the manufacturer already stained the desired color. The artist begins with what really looks like a jigsaw puzzle and it's up to the student to make a completed picture," he said.

According to legend, the art originated on a tiny island off the coast of France. During the middle ages, the skilled craftsmen and artisans who expressed their talents through this medium jealously guarded the secret of their art. The secrets of stained glass were so well kept during these years that any craftsman leaving the island for an extended period of time could well expect to be escorted back by a group that could be defined by today's standards as a posse.

Failure to return to the island could well result in death.

The popularity of the beautiful windows probably needs no explanation. Stained glass has such a calming effect on people that the widespread use of it in churches and public buildings from the middle ages to present day speaks well of man and his continuing quest for beauty.

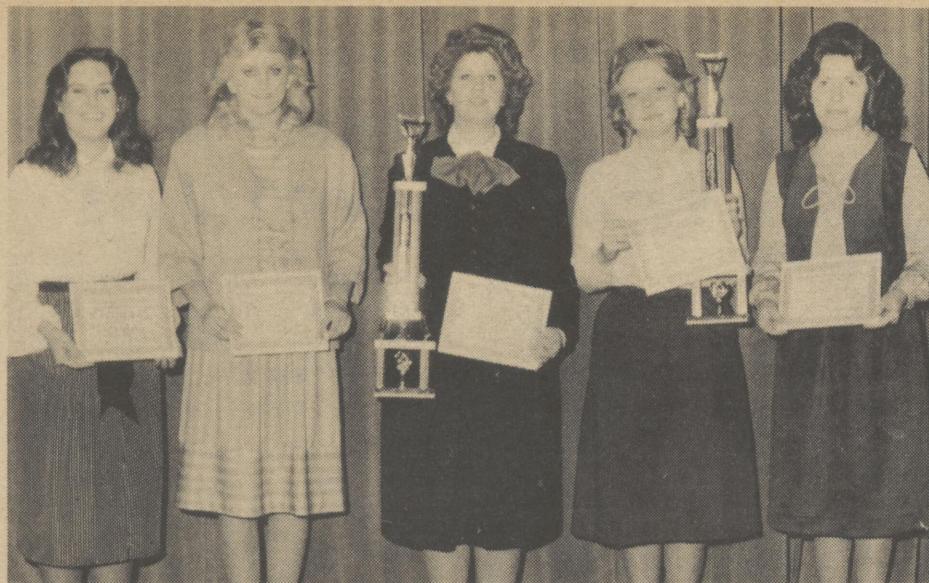

Today stained glass is finding its way into everyday life as architects and designers are incorporating it more and more into residential homes and office buildings.

The well-guarded secret of stained glass has obviously survived its jealous originators. The techniques have been refined and improved through the centuries.

The older method in use until around the turn of the century, called the Tiffany method, called for large pieces of lead between the glass made hanging lamps heavy enough to be dangerous.

Thanks to new ideas and technology the copper-foil method which is now popular gives the individual artist more versatility. Lighter panes and a less choppy effect help give more realism to the finished product so many of us think of as stained glass.

So if some good old fashioned beauty is what you seek, then Bob Mullins is the man to help you. With what in the beginning resembles a jigsaw puzzle, some good basic design and Mullins' guidance, you could very well end up with a work of art for your home. What could be nicer than sharing your morning sunbeams with a slice of history?

PTK initiates members

by Becky Stringer

On October 20, the Hinds Campus chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, Gamma Lambda, initiated 29 people. Guest speaker, Rod Risley, from the National PTK office in Canton talked about the advantages of joining Phi Theta Kappa. The installation of the new PTK Chapter, Alpha Iota Kappa located at the Nursing/Allied Health Center, also took place. This was the first outside installation of a new PTK chapter on the Hinds Campus. A reception for the members was held afterwards in the Marie Hull Gallery.

Phi Theta Kappa, a national scholastic society for junior colleges, consists of those students with grades in the upper 10 percent of the college enrollment. The grade average for acceptance is 3.7, and membership is through invitation only. Membership for PTK is based on citizenship qualification as well as scholastic achievement. The local chapters take part in the regional and state activities, and each year a group of PTK students attend the national convention.

Gamma Lambda was established in 1937, and it is the oldest Phi Theta Kappa chapter in the state. The Raymond Campus chapter is now under the sponsorship of Sandra Boyd and has been for the past five years.

Jerry Walden works featured in Gallery

The Marie Hull Art Gallery on the Raymond campus of Hinds Junior College District is one of the better small galleries in the state of Mississippi. It is the best in a state junior college.

All exhibits shown are selected by an art committee who view slide presentations submitted by the regional and local artists who wish to show their works here.

No certain style or medium is chosen and no particular tastes are catered to.

The works are chosen which best represent contemporary trends in the field of art. Each exhibit is selected in order to expose the greatest number of people to the widest variety of good art.

The Primary function of the gallery is an educational tool for the students of Hinds Junior College District.

Secondarily, it is a community attraction for a wide variety of people statewide.

Mrs. Gayle McCarty, gallery coordinator, has had this position for two years. She is married to Mike McCarty. They are both artists and instructors in the Hinds Junior College District.

Gayle works primarily in three dimensional media. Pottery, sculpture, and water colors.

Currently showing at the gallery are the works of Jerry Walden. He is professor of Art at the University of Mississippi. His paintings are very large abstracts done in acrylics impregnated with metal plate. He uses bold colors and they are highly textured. They are very expressive of the artist's ideas.

Jackson Branch

New high-tech programs

During its regular meeting on November 3, 1983, the Mississippi Junior College Commission approved the offering of four (4) new "high-tech" programs by the Jackson Branch of the Hinds Junior College District beginning with the fall semester of 1984. The newly approved programs are: Computer Aided Design Technology; Computer Aided Manufacturing Technology; Machine Tool Processes Option; Electronic Service Technology; Video Communications and Entertainment Option; and Microcomputer Information Processing Technology. The associate in applied science degree will be awarded to the graduates of these new two-year technical programs.

The successful completion of one of these programs can lead to a career in a wide range of positions related to the particular technical specialty. As technicians, para-professional specialists and mid-management personnel, graduates of these programs will work in direct support of professionals in the various fields.

These programs were developed based upon the current and projected need for technicians in these areas as identified by a survey of new and expanding businesses and industries within the state. The study, entitled "High Technology: Issues and Implications for Industrial Training in Mississippi", was conducted by the Research and Curriculum Unit on Vocational-Technical Education located at Mississippi State University in Starkville.

To make room for the new programs, existing vocational programs in Industrial Drafting, Machine Shop and Radio-TV Service will be deleted from the offerings at the Jackson Branch. Plans are to cross-train and upgrade the current faculty in these deleted programs in order for them to help teach in the new programs.

"When these offerings are added to the existing programs in Microcomputer Service Technology and Office Microcomputer Specialist, the Jackson Branch should be at the "cutting edge" in helping to address the high technology education needs of our state," said Dr. Clyde Muse, HJCD President. "In addition to the obvious advantages of its central location within the city of Jackson, the Jackson Branch was chosen as the site for these programs because of the state-of-the-art equipment which already exists there, coupled with the interest of the local faculty and administration in moving into these new areas," he said.

Al Moore, Jackson Branch Director, indicated that "each program would be open to both full-time and part-time students beginning in the fall of 1984." Current high school seniors and others interested in one of these programs may call or visit the Jackson Branch, which is located at 3925 Sunset Drive (one mile south of the I-220/US 49N interchange), Jackson, MS 39211. The telephone number is 366-1405. Counselors are available from 8:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m., Monday through Thursday and from 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Fridays. For more information of the new programs, call Al Moore or Larry Godfrey at the Jackson Branch.

Christmas season brings personal joy and warmth

It's time to deck the halls with boughs of holly, trim the trees with colorful lights and ornaments and join in the carolling.

CHRISTMAS TIME is the birth of Christ, the joy of giving and of course Santa Claus.

What a wonderful time to get together with our family and friends and share the joy and warmth of our homes.

There is a special feeling that we get as the season enters our life filling us with happiness and a light hearted elation.

As Christmas day approaches, our little ones grow restless with anticipation for the arrival of Santa Claus and his eight reindeer. They know that in Santa's bag of toys, he will have that special requested toy of a doll, boat or train. At five in the morning when we're sleeping so well, screams of excitement come from the direction of the livingroom as the children discover their toys and Mom, with Dad close at her side, grabs the camera and hurries to capture the joy of that special moment.

After the gifts are opened, Mom has already been fixing breakfast and the family sits down to discuss the morning's event. The family hurries off to get dressed and go to church, for the true meaning of Christmas is the birth of Christ.

At church, the joy and warmth is felt by everyone and the service is an enjoyable time for the parishioners.

Stay alert — Drive safely

As the holiday season approaches Hinds students should give extra attention to their driving as well as the other fellow's. We all know that the leading cause of death of young Americans between the ages of 16 and 24 is alcohol related traffic accidents.

We should all be aware of the danger of accidents since the highways will be busier at this time of the year. New laws have helped to decrease the number of traffic deaths by four per cent thus far.

By November 30 of 1982, 356 Mississippian's were killed on our highways and to this date in 1983 there have been 319. BEWARE of the highway this holiday season.

Local DJ is HJC student

by Susan Hammond

Terry Barber, a student at Hinds Junior College, has been a radio disc jockey for four and a half years.

He first began working as a DJ at WMYO AM/FM radio in his hometown of Newton. It just started as a part time job to earn money, but Terry soon learned that there wasn't much money in radio but he liked what he was doing and stayed with it. About a year and a half ago, Terry was offered a part time job at WJDX/WMSI in Jackson. He was put on the "swing Shift" which is working regular weekends and being on call during the week.

Terry likes working in radio, the variety of work and the many people that he meets. Sometimes on those late night shifts, he gets some pretty weird calls and he also talks to his phone buddies, who he knows only over the phone.

To be a good DJ, one must be able to run the board (the controls), interpret the news as it comes off the wire, handle any emergency situation, and relate well to people over the phone.

Terry plans to continue his career in radio management and one day in ownership.

Of course, radio like any other job has its hits and flops, but according to Terry, "the good days out number the bad".

The Christmas season brings an end to your first semester of the 1983-84 school year at Hinds. For some, it's a second Christmas season here; for others, it's the first at Hinds.

This time of year also brings a reckoning of what you have learned during the semester. Semester exams are not impossible if one has prepared for them. By that, we mean daily preparation and study. If you have not paced yourself in this way, try it next semester. Hopefully you will arrange for a brief respite and some leisure time. We'll be interested in your achievements during this exam week and hope for the best for each of you.

The upcoming vacation between semesters is especially exciting because of Christmas. Most of you have made plans for the vacation; many work, some travel, and a few simply spend the time at home with families. Whatever your plans, have a safe and happy holiday. Bring back an enthusiasm to begin anew during the second semester. If your plans don't include returning to Hinds, we hope the very best for you in your chosen endeavors.

Vashti and I look forward to the Christmas season. This gives us an opportunity to visit with family and friends. We hope to see you at the Open House in the President's Home on December 19 from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m.

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

Auditions set for Dec. 13

A play with a slice of Raymond's past, "Growing Pains", concerns the townfolk of Raymond over a ten year span from 1855 to 1865.

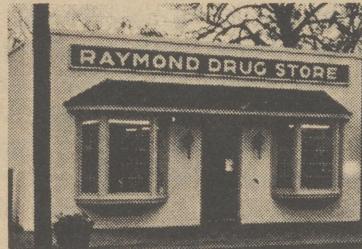

Authentic happenings with the siege of Vicksburg is the backdrop for this historically researched production.

If you think history happens only in other places think again. The battle of Raymond raged within walking distance of Hinds Junior College.

Auditions are open to all HJC students and the town of Raymond. On December 13, at 7:00 p.m. in room 105, Cain Hall there will be auditions for the men and boys.

Middle East dance class

by Susan Hammond

Have you ever considered taking a Middle Eastern dance class? Now is your chance because there is a class offered here at Hinds. It is taught by Joann Robinson, who also teaches data processing courses here.

Ms. Robinson first began dancing in 1974 when she wanted to lose weight the fun way. After a while, her friends encouraged her to teach them at home. She was then offered the chance to teach the dance class here.

Teaching Middle Eastern dance involves understanding basic Middle Eastern rhythms, properly choreographing the routines for a number of people, lots of self discipline, and attending several out-of-state seminars each year.

Ms. Robinson also performs "belly grams", which are surprise greetings (dances) for someone's birthday or anniversary. She also has performed at private parties, the Hotel/Motel Keepers Association, The Mental Health Association, the Methodist Rehabilitation Center, the VA Hospital, and several nursing homes.

Ms. Robinson believes that Middle Eastern Dance gives people a chance to be creative, self confident, is a fun way to exercise, and great entertainment for everyone.

What a nice feeling it is to know that Christmas is almost here--time away from school, time spent with family and friends. It's a time of caring, sharing, and loving one another. That's what Christmas seems to be all about. But if you were to really think about it, Christmas could be summed up in two very simple ways--as an "End" and as a "Beginning".

Christmas is an "End" in that with the celebrating of Christmas comes the end of another year. For some, it has been a year of happiness and dreams fulfilled. For others, it has been a year of hardship and struggle. Whatever the case, all of us will eventually find ourselves reflecting upon the events that have shaped our lives in the year past, and Christmas serves as a way of making it all worthwhile.

Christmas is a "Beginning" simply by the reason for which we celebrate it--the birth of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. It is also an opportunity for each of us to experience a "new" beginning, a chance to start anew, the power to make right the things that are wrong in our lives as the new year approaches.

As President of the Associated Student Body, my hope and prayer is that each of you will experience the joy of Christmas to its fullest, but that you will never forget that special night so long ago in which a child was born, a child that would forever change the lives of all who put their faith in Him, so that "they might have life, and have it more abundantly."

Eagles have streak, Lady Eagles now 4-5

by Robby Edwards

The men's basketball team continued its winning ways November 17 by holding on for a hard fought 52-51 victory over Holmes in Goodman.

The Eagles managed to pull out in front by seven at the half, 25-18, but had to survive a Bulldog rally late in the game to raise their record to 4-0.

Victor Owens led the team with 17 points followed by Lawson Veal with 11. Other players scoring were Bert Wilkerson with 9, Alvin Morris 7, Al Ray Lewis 6, and Jeff Kelly with 2.

DELTA TOURNAMENT

The eagles then traveled to Moorhead on November 21 to participate in a tournament with Holmes, Pearl River, and Miss. Delta. Hinds faced Delta in the first round and defeated the Trojans 66-52 to advance to the championship game against Holmes beat Pearl River 83-64 in the other first round game.

Leading the 5-0 Eagles were Lawson Veal and Al Ray Lewis with 22 and 14 points respectively followed by Bert Wilkerson with 8, Robert Bendolph and Victor Owens with 6, Jeff Kelly 5, Riley Ellis 3, and Alvin Morris 2.

In the title game the following night, Ellis, Kelly and Bendolph scored 18, 14, and 11 points respectively to lead Hinds to a 65-58 victory over the Bulldogs giving the Eagles the championship.

Hinds dominated the first half and led 39-23 at the intermission then just coasted in for the win in the second half.

Also scoring were Owens with 9, Morris 7, Veal 4, and Lewis 2. The Eagles now stand 6-0 with three of the victories coming against Holmes.

In the consolation game Delta beat Pearl River 74-66 to claim third place.

Hinds returned home and hosted Clarke and came away with an easy 102-59 victory. The Eagles had no problem as they jumped out to a 51-28 lead at the half. All 11 players scored for Hinds led by Bendolph with 18, Morris 16, and Ellis 15. Wilkerson and Kelly contributed 9 followed by Owens with 8, Veal with 7, Lewis and Steve Peacock 6, and Robert Perry 4 to account for all of Hinds' points and raise their record to 7-0.

The Eagle Basketball team returned to South Division play December 2 and responded with a not-as-close-as-it-sounds 91-83 victory over Jones in Raymond.

All 11 players again scored for Hinds as they held a commanding 48-22 halftime lead. Bendolph led the team with 20 points followed by Kelly with 15 and Owens, 12; next was Morris with 9, Ellis, 8, Lewis and Wilkerson, 6, Peacock, 5, and Douglas and Perry with 2 each to round out the scoring for the 8-0 Eagles.

The Eagle Basketball team suffered their first loss of the year, dropping a 10 point decision to Co-Lin 71-61 in Wesson, December 5.

The Wolves led 36-29 at the half and the Eagles just couldn't pull it off.

Bendolph led the 8-1 Eagles with 15 points followed by Veal with 12, and Kelly 11. Lewis was next with 9 followed by Owens with 6, Ellis 4, Wilkerson and Morris 2.

Nine games into the season the Hinds offense has been averaging 73.1 points per game while the defense has been even more impressive, holding their opponents to 58.1 points per game.

Leading the Eagles balanced scoring attack is Robert Bendolph with 14.8 points a game and Lawson Veal with 11.0 points per game, Bendolph and Veal are the only players averaging in double figures but they get plenty of support from Jeff Kelly (9.3 ppg), Victor Owens (9.1 ppg), Riley Ellis (9.0 ppg) Al Ray Lewis (8.4 ppg) and Alvin Morris (7.4 ppg).

LADY EAGLES

The Lady Eagles dropped their third consecutive game of the year November 17, falling 74-45 to Holmes, after winning their opening game of the season.

The Lady Bulldogs took control of the game early and cruised to a 41-20 halftime lead and were never threatened in the second half.

Leading Hinds in scoring were Tracey Parker and Tamara Haggard with 16 and 10 points respectively. Other players scoring were Gail LoBue with 8, Jackie Williams 6, Anita Bond and Shirley Perkins with 2, and Terri Burkett 1.

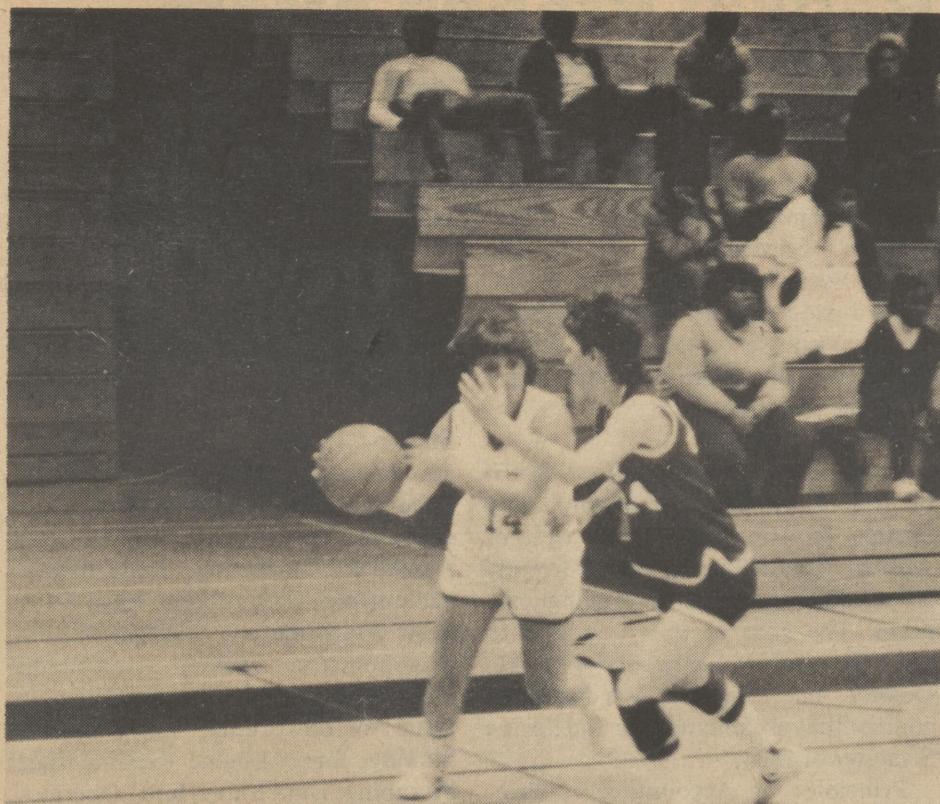

Hinds then bounced back to defeat Delta 65-62 at Delta November 21. Leading the 2-3 Lady Eagles was Williams with 20 points, followed by Haggard and Bond with 12 each. Also scoring were LoBue with 9, Liz Vanerson 6, Parker 4, and Becky Rose 2.

Hinds then lost a tough one point decision to Meridian, 82-81 at Delta. The Lady Eagles fought back from a 39-32 halftime deficit but their rally fell just short. Williams led the team with 27 points followed by Parker with 20, Bond 15, Haggard 13, LoBue 4, and Vanerson 2.

The Lady Eagles won their second game in a row in Raymond December 2, 84-80 over Jones.

Hinds led 42-31 at the half and placed four players to double figures as they raised their record to 4-4.

Parker led the team with 24 points, followed by Bond and Williams with 15 each and Haggard with 14. Other scoring came from Vanerson with 9, Continued on Page 5

In the State Junior College playoffs the Jones Bobcats came out on top after defeating division rival Gulf Coast 17-12 in the championship game November 19.

The victory gave the Bobcats the state championship for the third time in the past six years. Jones won back-to-back titles in 1978 and 1979.

In the first round of the playoffs Jones faced Northwest, the North Division titlist and defeated the defen-

Minisoccer underway during winter months

Hinds closed out its soccer season November 12 with a win over Mississippi College 3 to 2. The game was played under the lights at M.C. and about 75 Hinds supporters turned out to see the Eagles play. The win brought the season record to 5 wins 6 losses and 2 ties. Not too bad for a team that fielded 7 of 11 freshmen on the starting lineup, had only 6 sophomores on the team and played all its games against four-year colleges.

The team now turns to indoor soccer with a new twist — "Minisoccer" — Minisoccer is played in a gym with a small low-bounce ball. It is a new soccer form that is growing rapidly in the U.S. and the rest of the world.

Hinds will field at least 2 minisoccer teams - One Freshman team led by Phil Whitehead, Mike Brewer, Jimmy Bellinger and Carlos Lee; and one Sophomore team consisting of outdoor starters Louis Tren, Roger Corkrill, Eddie Stephens and Alton Lum.

As for next year the team will return 9 players who will be aided by a number of quality soccer stars from Jackson, Brandon, Clinton and Vicksburg high schools who have indicated that they wish to play for Hinds in 1984.

HJC Baseball team prepares for spring

by Steve Champion

A winning attitude and a tradition of success is what new baseball coach, Rick Clarke, is bringing to Hinds.

Clarke comes to HJC with some impressive credentials. In six years (1977 to 1982) at Magnolia Academy he compiled a record of 167-34. His teams won 5 South Central AA championships, 3 South AA championships, and 3 State AA championships.

Also his 1981 team set a state record public or private school for most wins in a single season, while posting a 40-5 mark.

Coach Clarke believes that hard work makes good things happen. Already he has his team preparing for the coming season.

The players have already gone through fall practice and are now running and lifting weights. This is being done now, so that the players can step right in and start practice when they return from the Christmas break.

Students interested in the baseball program should contact Coach Clarke immediately.

ALL-STAR PLAYER — Michael Myers of Brandon receives a plaque from Hinds Junior College Eagle Football Head Coach Bill Buckner which names Myers to the NJCAA Region 23 All-Star Team Monday, November 21. Myers, 6 ft. 2 in., 195 lbs., played tight end for the Eagles and is a graduate of Brandon High School.

SCUBA DIVER — John Loboda of Vicksburg, a Hinds Co-op student working at Waterways Experiment Station, had to learn to scuba dive for his recent assignment in Florida. Next semester Loboda will attend Mississippi State.

Loboda learns unusual skill for co-op training

by Marsha Wells

John Loboda is a Hinds student who has taken advantage of the Cooperative Education Program in mechanical engineering. He is involved with the plan where he works one semester and attends school the next.

The Vicksburg Waterways Experimental Station hired Loboda and his first assignment was to Ponce de Leon, Florida. He worked the Coastal Engineering Research Center (CERC). They have taught him how to scuba dive for instrumentation placement and retrieval. These instruments help to provide important data pertaining to the tide and currents along the shore line. "With this information," John said "The CERC can build a model shore line and subject the model to the same simulated currents and tides, which will help in preventing the shores from washing away." Knowing how to dive was not a requirement in securing the job, but Loboda liked the idea and with the training he does get better pay.

Loboda will soon be traveling to Norfolk, Virginia for a couple of weeks on another diving assignment and will be learning to use a new type of diving suit. The new suit is a dry suit, which uses air in the maintaining body temperature instead of water like the wet suits.

Next semester Loboda will transfer to Mississippi State and attend classes full time. He will stay in the Co-op Program and alternate semesters between work and school. "This is a good program and I like the idea of getting a chance to experience this field and get paid for it as well, and this money helps me to pay for my education."

Future training for Loboda will encompass learning how to operate and be licensed for a 26 foot boat in ocean currents, and more training in scuba diving to depths of 100 to 130 feet. He is also involved in designing a special tripod which will be used for mounting gauges on the ocean floor.

Clark Henderson, Director of Cooperative Education and Placement stated, "It took nearly three years and a lot of patience on John's part, but it was worth the wait. We are very pleased that John is benefiting from this hands-on experience in his field of study." There are many jobs available and they don't require as much waiting and they are there for the right student who wishes to apply and can qualify. Part-time and summer jobs along with full time jobs for graduating sophomores are part of the program also. A graduate who may not be going on to another school may fill out a personal data form and resume and have it on file for future openings. Henderson commented, "More students should take advantage of the job placement co-op programs because they are made available for all of the Hinds Junior College District students."

While Loboda was a full time student at Hinds he was very active in campus activities. He had the lead in a campus play, was a member of Hinds Connection, President of Circle K, a member of the college choir, and a cheerleader. He also maintained a 4.0 grade point average.

He was selected as the "Outstanding Circle K Club President" of the Louisiana-Mississippi-West Tennessee District in 1982 and led his club to win 11 top awards out of a possible 14.

SCAMP scholarship given to Ted Collins

Edward N. (Ted) Collins, 18, of Jackson, Mississippi, has won a prestigious scholarship from SCAMP (Scholarships for Children of American Military Personnel).

Collins accepted his first-year, $3000 scholarship from singer John Denver at the Twelfth Annual Air Force Ball, held November 18 at the Century Plaza Hotel in Los Angeles. The Ball, one of Los Angeles' major charitable events, benefits SCAMP and the Aerospace Education Foundation, and has raised more than $1 million for the two organizations since its inception. Collins was one of four award winners chosen to attend the Ball and receive the awards in person.

SCAMP awards go to children of persons who served in the Armed Forces of the United States in the Southeast Asian conflict and who were killed in action, prisoners of war, or missing in action. Collins' father, Capt. Thomas E. Collins, III, USAF, was a prisoner of war from 1965 until 1973.

Collins is a graduate of McCluer Academy, Jackson, Mississippi, and is currently attending Hinds Junior College in Raymond, Mississippi.

Annual evaluation made by students

In order to improve the instructional process at Hinds Junior College, the instructional administration annually have the students evaluate their teachers.

For the past 13 years the Raymond Campus has been using the objective questionnaire containing 13 questions and a subjective form containing three statements. The students are requested to fill out the forms anonymously and rate the faculty and then the department chairpersons review the results of the evaluation with their faculty. The faculty will be notified of the tabulation and response at the end of the semester, December 22, according to Dr. David Durham, Academic Dean.

The questionnaire is built around Dressel's functions of instruction:

Motivation of students.

Guiding students toward new knowledge behavior and capabilities.

Provision of meaningful materials and experiences.

Feedback on progress.

Organizing learning experiences in a sequence.

Maintaining standards of performance.

The main objective of the evaluation is to improve the instructional process and to improve the teaching of the course. Student satisfaction with faculty instruction is evidenced by the average faculty rating of 4.4 on a 5-point scale. Faculty, whose student evaluation ratings were consistently in the lowest quartile, after consultation and an individualized plan for improved instruction, have made significant improvement, as stated by Dr. Michael Rabalais, Vice President of the Raymond Campus in his article "Excellence is Based on Eight Components," published in the November 1983 issue of the Community and Junior College Journal.

Hinds students attend meeting

Three students from the Raymond Campus participated in the three-day State Youth Congress that was held in the New Capitol in Jackson.

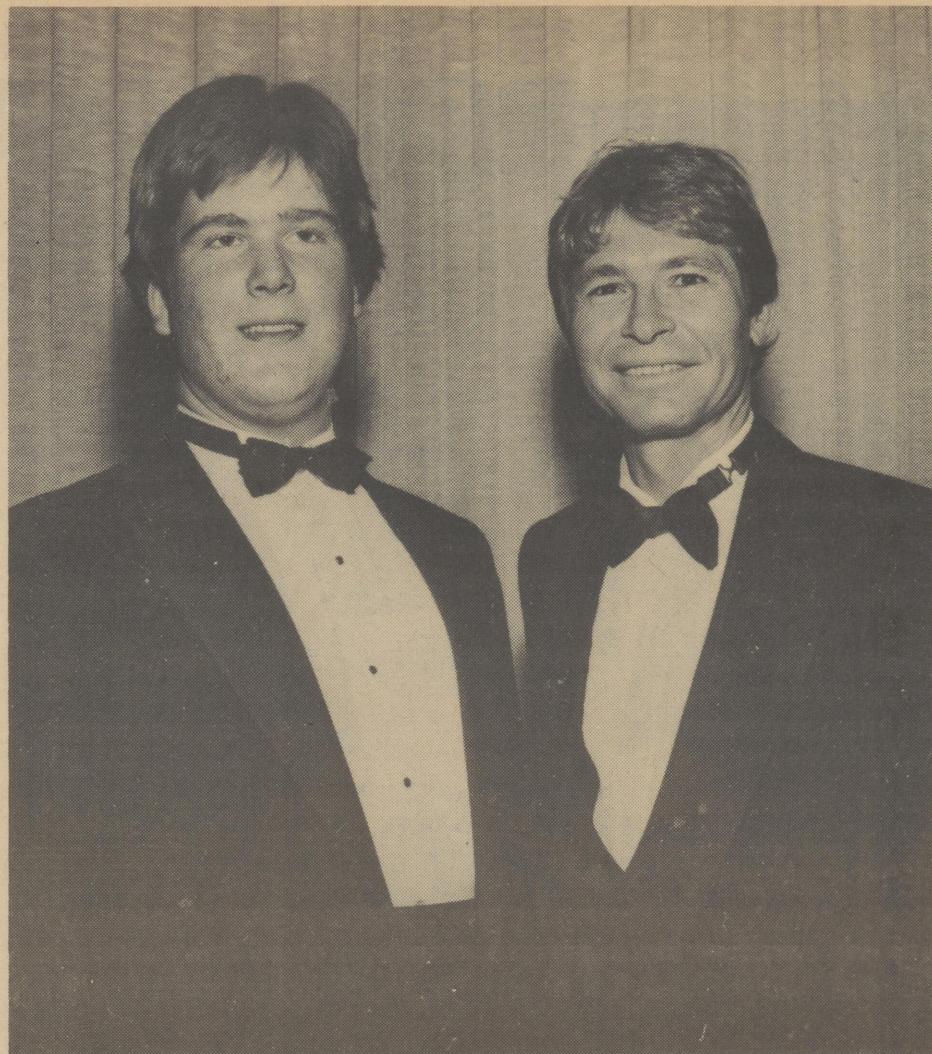

Joe Cooper presented a bill to the congress which suggested that the governor of Mississippi should succeed himself. He won a certificate for being the Chairman of the Democratic party.

Patricia White and Richie Biddle also participated as delegate representatives.

Fifty-three house bills have been submitted along with 17 senate bills.

At the end of the session, a judging committee presented merit awards to delegates submitting the best bills.

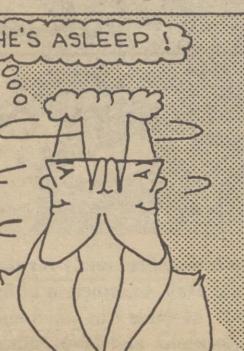

Former participants of Youth Congress were Charles Pickering, the late Lt. Governor Charles Sullivan; State Treasurer Bill Cole; state Rep. John Corlew and Justice Lenore Prather, Mississippi's first female member of the Mississippi Supreme Court.

COLLINS RECEIVES — Ted Collins, a Hinds student, received the SCAMP scholarship for $3000 from singer John Denver at ceremonies at the Century Plaza Hotel in Los Angeles.

MR. AND MISS HJC — Selected as Mr. and Miss Hinds Junior College in recent campus elections were Bruce Ballard of Raymond and Kathryn Mann of Clinton. Twenty six other favorites were elected as Class Favorites and will be featured in the yearbook.

HJC Choir Christmas program opens Tuesday, December 13th

As the Christmas season comes upon us, the HJC Choir and Ensembles are preparing for the annual Choir Christmas Program to be presented December 13 and 14 at 8:00 p.m. in the Cain Hall Auditorium.

The theme for this year's program is "It's a Small, Small World". Its purpose is to show that the Christian countries view Christmas with same idea in mind.

The Choir, Women's Ensemble, and Clefs will be performing carols from Germany, Spain, Mexico, and other foreign countries.

These special groups will be singing their carols in the original language.

The Christmas Program is always a colorful event due to the costumes worn by the members. This year they will dress to resemble dolls from the various countries.

Each student is responsible for making their own costumes and many of the students will be wearing original costumes from the countries they represent.

Some of the more familiar songs that will be sung are: It's a Small, Small World, Silent Night, Such a Small King, Do You Know the New Born Child and many, many more.

Each year this program highlights the Christmas season for our campus and we hope that everyone attends and picks up the joy of the season.

The program director is Leslie Reeves. Assistant directors are Geneva Reeves who directs Women's Ensembles and Bo McNeill who is director of the Clefs.

Admission to the program is free but anyone wishing to make reservations needs to contact the HJC Music Department at 857-3271.

In addition the choir will provide a Christmas tree for Cain Hall which will be decorated with made ornaments and baby pictures of the choir members. Leslie Reeves stated that "This is the 27th year for the HJC choir to present the holiday program."

American Vocational Assoc. selects HJC instructor as best

Michael Hataway, Commercial Design and Advertising instructor on the Raymond Campus of the Hinds Junior College District, was named 1983 National Teacher of the Year for the American Vocational Association at the AVA national convention in Anaheim, California, Friday, December 2.

Hataway first won State Trade and Industrial Teacher of the Year for 1982 competing against 1500 fellow vocational educators. He then won the District IV Trade and Industrial Teacher of the Year Award and then was named Trade and Industrial Teacher of the year for Region IV for 1983 to qualify for the national competition.

"This is a well-deserved award for an excellent teacher and a tremendous honor for the College," said Dr. Clyde Muse, HJCD president. "Mr. Hataway has been an exemplary teacher showing strong classroom technique, a willingness to give his students extra time, interest in College-related activities outside of his teaching duties, and concern for his community through participation in various organizations.

Says Hataway, "Being named National Teacher of the Year by AVA is the most humbling experience of my life. I am proud to represent my state, my school, and mainly the many fantastic students I've had over the past 15 years."

Hataway began teaching at Hinds in 1971 and is the only Commercial

Design and Advertising instructor at the College. He taught in the Jackson Public School system for three years before that.

He is a graduate of Provine High School in Jackson, Hinds Junior College and Mississippi College. In 1975 he received his Masters' of Education Degree from Mississippi College. He also received a Certificate of Completion from the Vocational Offset Printing Program at Hinds Junior College in 1981.

Hataway was named the Distinguished Faculty Member of the Year by the Hinds Junior College Alumni Association in 1980 and was named Outstanding Vocational-Technical Instructor of the Year for 1982 by the HJC chapter of the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America. In 1979 he was nominated for Outstanding Vocational Educator of the Year for Mississippi. His Commercial Design and Advertising program at Hinds was named the Post-Secondary Program of the Year by MAVE in 1982.

He is a member of the Mississippi Association of Vocational Educators, Mississippi Association of Art Educators, Mississippi Printers Association, The Greater Jackson Ad Club, the Mississippi Law Enforcement Association, and the Mississippi and Tennessee Sheriffs and Peace Officers Association.

He is also a member of the Jackson Police Reserve Force and a member and deacon of the Doctrinal Bible Church in Jackson. He also serves as a judge for the Scholastic Art Awards for the Mississippi Museum of Art in the Photography Division.

He is married to the former Susan Tabb of Jackson and has a son, Rob, age 7.

Walt Disney

Representative visits HJC campus March 1

A representative of WALT DISNEY WORLD COLLEGE PROGRAM is coming to Hinds Junior College, on March 1, 1984, and will meet 9:00 a.m. in Cain Hall Auditorium.

This is the first time for Hinds to host a Walt Disney representative, according to Clark Henderson, director of Cooperative Education and Placement. Henderson has been requesting a visit for sometime and he feels that we have a large number of academic and technical students who might be interested in the program. The program gives students an opportunity to work for and learn from some of the finest professionals in the world with an insight into the lecture industry.

With a one time, one semester learning experience, a student attends weekly seminars in academic theory and practical reality and also earns 3 hours credit in cooperative education.

After putting in your 30 hours of work and education, the rest of the time is yours to enjoy with an array of recreational activities: golf, swimming, tennis, water-skiing, archery, jogging, sailing, and much more.

The College Relations Representative, Lorraine P. Smith will be on hand, March 1, to answer questions concerning the program. You will be informed about many things, such as housing, transportation and "The Disney Look." a neat and natural look of the number one vacation destination in the world.

Students who are interested may go by the Cooperative Education Office in the Administration Building, room 201 for an application.

Miss Hinds Pageant scheduled for March 28

The 1984 Miss Hinds Junior College Pageant has been scheduled for Wednesday March 28 at 7:30 p.m. in the Cain Auditorium.

Pageant entry forms may be obtained from Hi-Stepper Director Anna Bee in the Women's Gym or from the Public Relations office. The winner of this pageant represents the college in the "Miss Mississippi Pageant" in Vicksburg during the summer.

Coeds entering this pageant must have a 3 minute talent act, compete in evening gown and swimsuit competition and be interviewed by the judges.

Persons interested should contact Mrs. Bee concerning talent numbers for the pageant. Staging and production of the pageant will be done by Circle K.

Hinds and MP&L to offer Nuclear Power technology

A new program in Nuclear Power Technology will be offered in the Hinds Junior College District beginning Fall Semester 1984. The program will be offered in cooperation with Mississippi Power and Light Company and its parent company, Middle South Utilities, Inc.

Nuclear Power Technology, which includes both one-year and two-year training components, will prepare persons for a wide range of employment opportunities as operators and technicians in the field of nuclear power generation.

In May of this year, the Mississippi Junior College Commission gave approval to the College District to award the Associate in Applied Science Degree to graduates of the two-year program. The State Division of Vocational-Technical Education has likewise indicated their support for the new program.

In announcing the program, both education and industry officials pointed to the high level of cooperation which had brought about this education-industry partnership between Hinds and MP&L. "The College will offer the general education and related sciences courses at its campuses and branches throughout the District, while the technical specialty courses in nuclear power will be offered at MP&L's Grand Gulf Nuclear Power Station," said Dr. Clyde Muse, Hinds Junior College District President. "The actual hands-on experiences our students will gain under the joint supervision of our instructors and their operating personnel should make for an ideal learning situation," he said.

Donald Lutken, MP&L President, also indicated his pleasure with the new venture. "As we begin full operation of the Grand Gulf facility, the need for well qualified operators and technicians will intensify. We believe this joint training effort is the best way to achieve these needs," he said.

The program is designed to follow the accrediting standards of the Institute for Nuclear Power Operations (INPO) and the requirements of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission. In addition to a general education and related science component that includes courses in technical writing, mathematics, physics, chemistry and sociology; technical specialty courses

Hinds choir tours New York

The Hinds Junior College Choir will be leaving on their bus tour to New York City on March 9 with their planned return on March 18.

Forty-five members of the choir, including four faculty members and five alumni, will be taking the trip.

The choir's first performance will be at Budd Terrace Retirement Home in Atlanta, Georgia, on March 9. The next stop will be in Jamestown, Virginia on the 10th, for sightseeing, then it's on to Washington, D.C. and a performance in one of the area churches. They will perform music from their sacred concert repertoire.

Leslie Reeves, choir director, said he hoped to confirm a performance for the choir on the 12th at a professional building in Washington and they will also go sightseeing that afternoon.

The 13th will find the choir in New York City at the Milford Plaza Hotel with some time for sightseeing and an opportunity to view the Broadway musical "Cats". At the present time there are no scheduled performances in New York but that could change, according to the director, Leslie Reeves.

On the return trip, the choir plans to stop over at Winston Salem, North Carolina and sightsee. Then it's on to Chattanooga, Tennessee for a performance before returning home.

Lovers day approaches

Saint Valentine's Day, February 14, is nearly upon us again and there is an interesting history behind lovers tradition of exchanging affection.

There actually was a man or possibly two men with the same name of Valentine. One of these men was supposed to be from Rome and the other from Terni. They were both religious men being a priest or bishop and they were martyred (beheaded), by order of Clandius the Goth, in the year of 269 during the religious persecutions. There is reason to believe that there was really only one man and that he was taken to another city for execution causing the belief of two men.

Actually, the day of "Valentine" came about accidentally. By some theories it is believed to have arose in the late middle ages in European cities. Birds were beginning to choose their mates in mid February, therefore love notes were sent back and forth on that date. With the notion of lovers exchanging messages, the custom was established and came to apply to both the persons and tokens of affections.

With the creation of the postal system, it became easier to send Valentines and love greetings which became very common.

In the United States today, it has become a profitable business of creating greeting cards with verses tender in nature and sometimes comic. Every young lover expects their special love to send them a card of affectionate verses and or a large heart shaped box of candy. School children exchange cute cards with comic characters and even parties are planned.

HAPPY VALENTINES DAY TO ALL!

Dr. Conrad Welker, Hinds' Vice President for Instructional Services, will head a college-industry task force charged with implementing the new program. "We are aware of the high level of competence required of personnel in the nuclear industry," he said. "Therefore, it is our intention to bring the very best capabilities of both the college and the nuclear power industry together in addressing this training need. We have already begun offering selected courses in the program for the benefit of current employees at Grand Gulf who need upgrading," he said. "In fact, the updating of some existing personnel, particularly in mathematics and the sciences, is also a high priority expressed by the company."

Joe Cooper

Welcome back! I certainly hope that 1983 was a great year for each of you. I also hope that last semester was an enjoyable experience. As for the Spring of '84, this semester should prove to be very exciting, with Spring Formal just around the corner and the Associated Student Body Election later in the semester, both of which you will be hearing more about very soon.

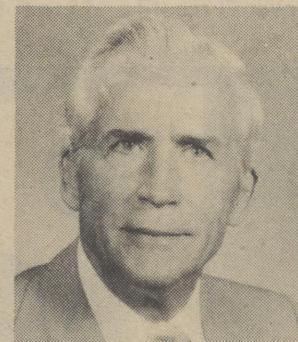

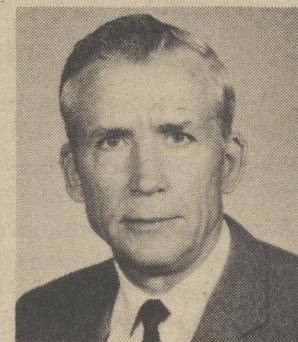

At this time, I would like to take the opportunity to recognize a very special and important group of students who have been instrumental in the ongoing success of ASB--the Judicial Appeals Board. For those of you who are unfamiliar with it, the Judicial Appeals Board is responsible for hearing traffic appeals which are made by students on the Raymond Campus, as well as interpreting the policies set forth in the Student Handbook. A special word of appreciation to Chris Nash, Judicial Chairman and Board members Sharon Frazier, Janet Upchurch, Tim Gilchrist, and Mark Huff for a job well-done, as well as a word of encouragement to them as they continue to carry out their duties this semester.

Of course, not all has been said until another very special group of people has been recognized. The Campus Police have been an important part of, not only the Judicial Appeals Board, but the welfare of every student on this campus as well. Many times we fail to realize just how important these men really are, yet not a single one of us could honestly say that we could do without them. So, to Chief Larry Coleman, and Officers, J.W. Hoatland, Willie Mounger, Jack Hite, Jim Merchant, and David Treen, a very special "Thank You!"

T.T. Beemon concludes 37 years of teaching at Hinds

Beemon retires after 37 years

As of midnight, December 31, 1983, T.T. Beemon officially retired from Hinds Junior College. He has been an outstanding Biology instructor for 37 years.

At the present, Mr. Beemon has not made any definite plans for his retirement. He thought he would like to travel this summer and work in his garden. Deafness has plagued him lately and he is getting accustomed to assistance from a hearing aid. He does feel that he is at a perfect age, "Old enough to know and young enough to go." Since his wife is also an instructor at Hinds, he feels sure that any traveling will be done during summer break.

When Beemon was young he thought about becoming a doctor. But now, he is glad he didn't because he said, "people come to you when they are ill and generally feeling bad. But, as a teacher, you confront with young and intelligent students with bright futures." He also felt that these handsome men on campus helped him to maintain his schoolboy figure. Over the last 30 years of walking to and from school, he has only put on 5 pounds.

Ray Marshall, chosen Secretary of State, during Carter's administration was one of his former students. There are also many more familiar names who were his students such as: Dr. Joe Boyd, Dr. Bill Boteler, Dr. Lamar Knight, Dr. Ted Blanton, and many others. Over half of the practicing veterinarians in the Jackson area are former students along with Irl Dean Rhodes, Mark Chaney and Bill McKinley, all circuit court clerks of the surrounding counties.

With some extra time on his hands, Beemon thought he might get more involved with some of his hobbies like photography.

"The teaching profession has treated me well, and now I look forward to another part of my life with time to indulge in some hobbies and travel," says Beemon.

BSA seeks new members

by Eric Jones, BSA reporter

A student who is not part of a civic or service organization may find that campus life is just attending classes and being assigned homework.

If a student becomes part of the Black Student Association, he or she will find a variety of things to do. The fall of 1983 was an excellent semester for BSA at Hinds with accomplishments such as a fashion show that featured many campus students as models, and a can collection to raise funds for the less fortunate.

There are many other good things to say about BSA. One of their upcoming events will be a program honoring Black History Week. More information will be given at a later date.

The organization is open now for ideas, membership and support. Make an 'Excellent Decision' in the spring of 1984 to join the BSA. For more information, please contact Tim Gilchrist, BSA president.

Lady Eagles 11-10

HJC Eagles have impressive 17-3 record

The Hinds men's basketball team currently stands 17-3 overall and are now 7-3 in the South Division of the JUCO League. The Eagles had seven straight wins since the Christmas break until they met Utica last Saturday night with a loss.

The high point of the season came for the Eagles this season when they were ranked as 8th in the National Junior College Top Twenty Poll after getting off to a quick 8-0 start of the season.

Co-Lin handed the Eagles their first loss 71-61 of the season and dropped the Hinds team to number 14 in the poll. The Eagles won their next two games, but then dropped a tough 75-71 contest to South Division rival Gulf Coast, which pushed Hinds out of the national rankings and lowered their record to 10-2 overall and 4-2 in the division.

In their first meeting with the Utica team at Raymond the Eagles won a close game 88-87. The Eagles last week won a 69-66 over Jones, another South Division rival.

The key for the Eagles this season has been getting consistent play from the entire team in almost every game. Eight of the Eagle players this season are freshman and the team hopes to play consistently as they head down the home stretch in hopes of a divisional championship and gear up for the South Division Tournament February 20-22 at Utica.

Leading the Eagles in scoring is Robert Bendolph with 300 points an avg. of 15.7; Riley Ellis with 265 points, an avg. of 13.9; and Jeff Kelly with 186 points an avg. of 10.9.

In rebounds leading is Riley Ellis with 178, an avg. of 9.4; Robert Bendolph with 138, an avg. of 7.2; and Lawson Veal with 101, an avg. of 5.1.

Leading with steals is Lawson Veal with 27, Robert Bendolph with 22, and Alvin Morris with 21.

Leading with assists is Alvin Morris with 118, an avg. of 5.9; and Victor Owens with 111, an avg. of 5.5.

Lady Eagles

Leading scorers for the Lady Eagles are Jackie Williams with 380 points, an avg. of 18.0; Tracey Parker with 261 points, an avg. of 12.4; and Anita Bond with 236 points, an avg. of 11.2.

Leading in rebounds are the same three players. Williams with 242, an avg. of 11.5; Parker with 96, an avg. 4.5; and Bond with 91, an avg. of 4.3.

The Lady Eagles now have a 11-10 overall record and are 6-4 in the South Division after their victory over Utica 76-72 last Saturday.

Lady Eagles coach Terri Baker commented, "Our biggest problem this year has been our height and that is something you can't do anything about, but we feel we can play woman to woman with any of the teams." Jackie Williams is still the leading scorer for the Lady Eagles and in the last few games she has been getting 24 to 28 points. Baker also feels that she is getting good all around play from all the team.

The Eagles and Lady Eagles have three more games left in the season.

They will travel to Southwest Junior College on Thursday, February 9. On Monday, February 13, they will host Copiah Lincoln Junior College in the Mayo Field House. On Thursday, February 16, the teams will travel to Decatur to play East Central Junior College.

The Lady Eagles will play at 6:00 p.m. and the Eagles at 8:00 p.m.

Both teams are preparing for the South Division Tournaments with the men's being February 20-22 at Utica Junior College and the women's being February 23-25 at Jones Junior College.

Hinds soccer team can't miss winning

The Mississippi Junior College Soccer Association has bestowed several major honors on the Hinds Soccer team and its coach. Since its inception four years ago, the Hinds Soccer team has been the junior college champs each year and has accumulated 10 victories and 3 ties against four-year colleges in the state.

At the annual meeting held January 28 in Jackson the Soccer Association voted six Hinds players 1st team junior college honors. Sophomore players are: Greg McDonald, Vicksburg; Eddie Stephens, Chicago; Roger Cockril, Clinton; Louis Tran, Jackson; and Alton Jackson. In addition to his selection on the 1st team, Roger Cockril was named Best Junior College Sophomore. Rusty Fuller of Vicksburg was the only Hinds freshman to make the 1st team and was also honored as the Freshman Player of the Year.

Hinds Junior College head soccer coach, Tom Shepherd, was honored by being named "Mississippi Junior College Coach of the Year." Coach Shepherd when asked about the honor stated "I am pleased and surprised at the honor, but the real credit should go to the team." Further commenting Shepherd said, "Any coach can be good when he has the caliber of young men that we had on this team and not only did we have outstanding sophomore leaders but some excellent freshmen who are certain to make Hinds a contender for many junior college soccer honors again next year."

The Hinds soccer team is beginning the mini-soccer season January 31 and will be playing each Tuesday night at 6:30 in Denton Gym. All students are invited to come out and support the team and admission is free.

Played at Hinds

Former HJC coach a Super Bowl winner

A former Hinds Junior College football player and coach of the Eagles is now a two time winner of the Super Bowl. Earl Leggett, defensive line coach for the Los Angeles Raiders, was coach of the Eagles in 1970 after playing with the New Orleans Saints.

Leggett is a big 6 foot 4, 275 pounds man who is a tough, demanding individual. One former Hinds player recalls Leggett, "We practiced 20 times my first five days there. I thought the guy was nuts."

Leggett came to Hinds from Florida by Coach Joe Renfroe in 1951. He was then an 11th grader and played four at Hinds. Two of his years he was at the old Hinds High School and then two as a junior college player. He was also a member of the famous 1954 Hinds team that won the Junior Rose Bowl in El Camino, California.

Remembering Earl Leggett Coach Renfroe remarked, "Earl was a guy who spit in your face and made you like it." He has also been boosted as being the best athlete that ever went through Hinds by former president Dr. Robert Mayo.

Leggett played both tackle on both offense and defense for Renfroe and after leaving Hinds he starred two seasons at LSU. He was a first round draft choice of the Chicago Bears in 1957. After eight seasons with the Bears, he was traded to the Los Angeles Rams in 1966. He ended his playing career with the New Orleans Saints in 1967.

All during his playing career he would come back to Hinds in the off-season and assist Renfroe in spring training which led to his hiring as head coach in 1970.

He's spent one season at Nicholls State as an assistant coach, two at Texan Christian as an assistant coach, and two seasons with the Southern California Sun of the World Football League.

His National Football League coaching career began with the Seattle Seahawks in 1976 and after two seasons there he coached one season with the San Francisco 49ers. He spent 1979 out of football but joined the Raiders in 1980.

VANERSON SHOOTS - Lady Eagles' Liz Vanerson goes for the goal in the game against Pearl River. The Lady Eagles came out ahead with a 23 point lead to win 81-58.

Scott Ward in "Camelot"

Scott Ward seeks role in summer stock theatre

by Susan Hammond

Scott Ward, is a sophomore theatre major at Hinds Junior College. He attended the Mississippi Theatre Association Conference in Gulfport, where he was selected to go to the Southeastern Theatre Conference auditions (for summer stock theatre) in Arlington, Virginia.

The competition will be tough, and each performer will be given a ninety second timing to state his name and/or perform a brief monologue from any work. The Audience will be producers for summer stock companies. They will post a list of performers that they are interested in interviewing.

During the summers of 1981-82, Scott participated in "Youtheatre" at Northeast Louisiana University, where he first became interested in theatre. Since his attendance at Hinds, he has participated in many productions in the Little Theatre. Some of them were: "You Can't Take It With You", "The Runner Stumbles," and "Camelot." You'll soon get to see him again in the newest play soon to be presented "God's Favorite", February 7-11.

Scott plans to attend Florida State University because they have an excellent drama department. But in order to be accepted into the theatre department, he'll be auditioning with a two - two minute monologue. He hopefully plans to launch his career after his graduation from Florida State.

There are a great many aspiring young actors today, and it is hard for one to get that "lucky break" and make it big, but Scott says, "I feel my chances are good," and I'm sure he is right.

J.C. Commission approves a comprehensive campus

The Mississippi Junior College Commission, during its regular meeting on February 2, approved plans for the development of a comprehensive community college campus within the City of Jackson to be operated by the Hinds Junior College District. The new multi-center HJCD Jackson Campus will be comprised of a planned expansion of existing programs and/or facilities at the following locations:

HJCD Jackson Branch, HJCD Nursing/Allied Health Center, and HJCD Universities Center.

The Commission's action followed the earlier action of the HJCD Board of Trustees in January.

"The new 'comprehensive campus' designation will enable the College to expand its current offerings at these locations to better meet the needs of full-time academic transfer and high technology students as well as those majoring in traditional technical and vocational areas," said Dr. Clyde Muse, HJCD president. "By using existing resources within the City of Jackson as the nucleus of expanded campus concept, we feel that the opportunity for a quality, low cost two-year college education, which can be obtained close to home, will soon become a reality for many Jackson citizens," he said.

Of the more than 10,700 students now being served by the Hinds District, approximately 2700 students are currently enrolled at these three existing city locations. Under the campus concept, this figure is projected to more than double to 6000 students by the year 1990. Implementation of expanded course offerings, particularly in academic transfer and support areas, will begin this fall with the hiring of additional academic instructors and counselors, said college officials.

The approval by the Junior College Commission follows closely the recommendations of the Facilities Master Plan for the Hinds Junior College District as prepared in 1982 by Myrick, Newman, Dahlberg & Partners, Inc. The plan indicates that although considerable growth can be realized with the space currently available, particularly at the Universities Center, new facilities are projected for 1985 at the Jackson Campus location on Sunset Drive and for 1987 at the Jackson Campus - Universities Center on Eastover Drive.

Particular areas of emphasis defined for the three locations were described as follows in the report to the Commission:

Jackson Branch - Existing vocational, technical, academic, and adult programs would be strengthened by the phasing in of additional technical and academic course offerings both day and evening.

Nursing and Allied Health Center - Existing vocational, technical, academic and adult programs would continue with additional academic offerings primarily during the evening hours.

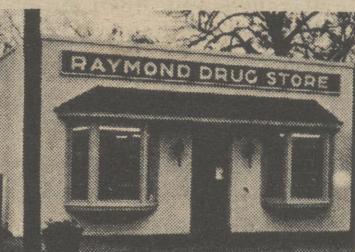

Universities Center - Existing part-time evening academic offerings would be expanded to include full-time lower division transfer programs during the day along with the addition of selected technical programs.

Persons interested in making application for enrollment at the Jackson Campus may do so by contacting the Counseling Office at either of the three locations or the District Office of Admissions and Records in Raymond.

Cooper sets ASB elections

Associated Student Body President Joe Cooper has announced that petitions are now available for those who wish to run for the office of President, Vice-President, or Secretary on the Raymond Campus.

The petition deadline has been set for 9:00 a.m. on March 30th and the date of the election has been scheduled for Wednesday, April 14th.

Cooper says that a meeting of all prospective candidates will be held on March 20th at 4:00 p.m. in Room 209 of the Student Union Building. The purpose of the meeting will be to orientate candidates on the various aspects of the ASB election and the responsibilities of the officers.

Circle K schedules blood drive March 7

Circle K will sponsor a blood drive on campus Wednesday, March 7th, from 8:30 a.m. until 3:00 p.m. in Room 209 of the Student Union Building.

Circle K is working with United Blood Service this semester for the drive. United Blood Service is a community blood center open 24 hours a day, seven days a week and provides and delivers blood products, including platelets to satisfy local hospital needs.

United supplies blood products to 75 hospitals in Mississippi among them are Mississippi Baptist Medical Center in the Jackson area.

It takes about 35 minutes to give and it is best that you have eaten a meal before giving. If a person has given recently they should not give again for at least 8 weeks.

David Lewis, project chairman, stated, "We had a great turn-out during the first semester and we hope that we have a large number of students to give this semester."

Circle K is challenging all other campus organizations to see which group can donate the most blood for the drive.

Ken Anderson, Circle K President, says that Hinds students donated 141 pints of blood during the drive that was held first semester.

Circle K plans to sign up students ahead of time in the dormitories, cafeteria, and other campus locations and assign them a time that they may come by and give. However, any students or faculty may come by at whatever time is convenient.

The winners of the contest are considered the best in the state of Mississippi.

At the meeting at Mississippi State the Hinds judging team was the highest scoring team in sheep judging. Tonya

Smith of that team was highest individual scorer and she was also the highest individual scorer on oral reasons.

The members of that team were Jeff Singletary, Chris Ross, Jeff White, Stan Pace, Tonya Smith, and Clarence Pierce.

Dr. Roger Jones, director of Meat Merchandising, stated that the group will also go to Houston, Texas to participate in the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo on March 2. This particular trip will enable the students to view many additional types of cattle and Dr. Jones considers Houston as a national type of contest covering one half of the Western United States in contestants.

The students who will attend are: Tonya Smith, Clarence Pierce, Jeff White, Jeff Singletary, Chris Ross, Tom Healey and Stan Pace.

Spring fever hits

Oh what beautiful weather we are having!

Could this be spring? Why I recall the weatherman saying that we were to have six more weeks of winter! Could he have predicted wrong?

Personally, I am glad that his prediction is wrong and so I'm sure is everyone else.

The campus lawn is a beautiful green and the birds are singing their songs, (or is that the HJC Choir?) and many of the students are sitting outside enjoying the warm sunshine.

Lets open our doors and windows and enjoy the mild days of spring which carry a whole new sense of life to all of us.

The beautiful weather brings to mind a poem by Philip G. Hamerton.

What delights us in the spring is more a sensation than an appearance, more a hope than any visible reality. There is something in the softness of the air, in the lengthening of the days, in the very sounds and odors of the sweet time, that caresses us and consoles us after the rigorous weeks of winter.

All too soon the hot weather will be upon us and again we will hibernate in air conditioning and forget the beautiful out of doors.

ASB Miscellanea

by
Joe Cooper

Here are a few tentative plans for upcoming events being sponsored by the Associated Student Body:

The 1984 Spring Formal is scheduled for Thursday, April 12th at Brookwood Country Club from 8-12 P.M. Admission will be $5 per person and $8 per couple. A photographer will also be on hand to take pictures. The Spring Formal is one of the main events being planned by ASB for students this semester and it's going to be a GREAT one, so make plans now to attend.

The ASB Election has been scheduled for Wednesday, April 4th. Official petitions for prospective candidates are now available in the ASB Office, Room 207 of the Student Union Building. The ASB officers to be elected are (1) ASB President; (2) ASB Vice-President; and (3) ASB Secretary. Students should be reminded that certain qualifications and requirements must be met before he or she can be eligible to run for an ASB office. These qualifications and requirements are listed on the official ASB petition. Remember, the deadline for turning in petitions is 9:00 A.M. on Friday, March 30, and no late petitions will be accepted. In addition, a meeting of all prospective candidates will be held on March 20 at 4:00 P.M. in Room 209 of the Student Union Building. The purpose of this meeting will be to orientate candidates on the various aspects of the ASB election, as well as the responsibilities of ASB officers. A question-and-answer period will follow.

I would like to take a moment to share with each of you a serious problem that has suddenly confronted us here at Hinds. The incidence of "food-fights" has become almost commonplace, and it may seem as if little has been done to deal with the situation. However, I can assure everyone that steps have been and are being taken to alleviate this problem. The simple truth of the matter is that "food-fights" are unnecessary--and there are no excuses for causing or taking part in one. Not only do "food-fights" cause tremendous problems for cafeteria workers and the Campus Police, but there is also the inevitable possibility of someone being seriously injured in one of these needless escapades, such has already happened in one instance.

Now don't get me wrong--I enjoy having fun just as much as the next person. But anyone who considers a "food-fight" as "having fun" is sadly mistaken. Believe me, I wouldn't have used this much space talking about it if I didn't sincerely believe what I've said.

Thanks for understanding.

Science

Observatory inoperable

Back when our nation's attention was first riveted on serious space exploration, Hinds Junior College president George McLendon decided that Hinds students should have the opportunity to explore the heavens through a telescope. McLendon, a progressive man, saw Hinds Junior College as a seat of learning and didn't want the College to be left behind in what was then termed 'the race for space'.

Under his leadership, a then-sophisticated telescope was purchased and installed in the Science Building. It was an impressive instrument, occupying its own special tower room with a sliding rotunda that would open while the motor at the base of the telescope rotated it giving the viewer access to the heavens in any direction.

It was a wonderful instrument and was used for several years but then it fell into disuse for various reasons. The addition of campus buildings and the proliferation of outdoor lighting certainly were factors. It is impossible to view the night sky with the glow of ground light all around. As the effectiveness waned, interest ceased and the magnificent instrument collected dust for many years.

Then about six years ago interest was renewed in the telescope and it was reconditioned and reworked. However the expense of reworking the drive motor that rotated the telescope was prohibitive. No rotation, no point to the telescope, and that's the way it stands today.

It is generally agreed that it would be a good thing indeed to have the telescope operable once more. It is also generally agreed that the only way for the Hinds Junior College District to have a useful telescope is to either install a new, more up-to-date model on school property well away from the lights or to completely overhaul the one we own and move it to a better site.

There has been some interest expressed in the telescope, but there are currently no funds available. It appears that funds will not be available in the foreseeable future since the telescope is not a priority.

1976 Photographer

Former Yearbook editor trains Columbia astronauts

by Marsha Wells

One of our own former Hinds Junior College students, Don Warren who is director of Cinematography at the Jackson Planetarium, is directly involved with NASA for the documentary movie camera which accompanied the American Space Shuttle Flight recently.

Don Warren was born and raised in Jackson and chose Hinds to complete his core requirements towards a degree in Photo Journalism. He recalled many fond memories of being co-editor of the yearbook and photographer for the Hindsonian in 1976, but especially belonging to the Circle K Club. He remembers that his co-editor, Marty Sparks and he used to play pranks on Bob Hodges, Publications Advisor. Then there was the award for the 11th year for the Circle K Club scrapbook. "Bob was always a big help to us and we all enjoyed working together," said Don.

Don went on to USM and graduated in 1978, and eventually came to Jackson Planetarium and discovered that they were involved in the area of filming that he was interested in, cinematography.

"In 1981 the planetarium made the decision to film the launch of the Columbia and it was shown by popular request. As the interest grew in the space flights, the director called Washington to request the opportunity of filming a space flight." "It had not been done before and we weren't sure how it would be accomplished, but NASA was very helpful and the engineers felt that it is one of the most exciting projects that they have worked on in 20 years," stated Don.

Don first flew to Florida for the recent launching of the space shuttle and then he flew to Houston to monitor the flight and help make a decision of the filming. He originally trained the astronauts on using the camera. Many times such things as lighting and areas to photograph needed prompt decisions and when you consider that the shuttle is flying at four miles per second or 17500 miles per hour, filming can be difficult. The film does show the action of the shuttle and the motion

At NASA, Don was able to be considered one of the few to be behind the scenes and actually in the control center where all the life support systems are monitored and even if a light is turned on in the shuttle it is documented.

Don flew back to Florida for the landing of the shuttle and then after the film was retrieved, he had delivered the film to Hollywood, California laboratory for developing. "The film is priceless and therefore I hand carried it to be sure it didn't get lost," stated Don. Then he flew back to Jackson with it.

Don is looking forward to two more flights, one of which will be filming the repair of a faulty capsule in orbit. The film is the "Real Star Wars" according to Don and you just can't even visualize how great it is until you see it this fall at the planetarium.

FBLA hosted by Jackson branch

The Jackson Campus hosted the annual Future Business Leaders of America Central District Leadership Conference February 10. Al Moore, Director, welcomed the 378 participants who represented 65 high schools throughout the district. Charles Potter, III, Central District Vice-President, presided over the General Assembly. Lisa Fowlkes, State FBLA President; and Stacy Thomas, State Parliamentarian, addressed the group.

Coordinators of the conference were Dell Broadway and Inda Milner, Phi Beta Lambda advisors. Faculty, administrators, and staff members (including several from other HJCD locations) were joined by State Department of Education representatives, craft committee members, and area business people in testing and judging of the events.

Workshop set for interpreters

An interpreter training workshop is planned for March 5, at the Jackson Campus. The conference is meant to familiarize interpreters and persons interested in the role of the interpreter, signs pertinent in the field of education and assessing the level of a client (how to determine which sign system you need to use.)

Participants need not be fluent signers, but deaf people and hearing signers are encouraged to attend. There will be a $5.00 fee charged that is paid at the time of registration and it will cover the cost of a snack supper.

Choir leaves for New York City

The Hinds Choir will leave for New York City Friday morning on a ten day tour of several cities. Forty-five members including four faculty and five alumni members departed Raymond with their first stop being in Atlanta for a performance at a retirement home.

Contestants prepare for Miss HJC title

The 1984 Miss Hinds Junior College Pageant has been scheduled for Wednesday, March 28 at 7:30 p.m. in the Cain Auditorium.

Pageant entry forms may be obtained from Hi-Stepper Director Anna Bee in the Women's Gym or from the Public Relations Office. The winner of this pageant represents the college in the "Miss Mississippi Pageant" in Vicksburg during the summer.

Coeds entering this pageant must have a 3 minute talent act, compete in evening gown, swimsuit competition, and be interviewed by the judges.

Melvin Evans and Von Rester will provide entertainment at the pageant with Alon Bee Jr. as the Master of Ceremonies. Admission will be $2.00 for everyone.

Persons interested should contact Mrs. Bee concerning talent numbers for the pageant. Staging and production of the pageant will be done by Circle K and the rehearsals are under the direction of Judy Henderson Bufkin, who was a finalist in the Miss Delta State Pageant.

The Choir will be presenting several performances during the trip. They will be sightseeing in Jamestown, Virginia and Washington D.C. on their way to New York. The group will arrive in New York City on the 13th and will stay at the Milford Plaza Hotel near the theatre district.

On the way back to Raymond they will have stopovers in Winston Salem, North Carolina and in Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Hinds saves $99,038 conserving energy

In February 1978, Hinds Junior College consumed 767,844 kilowatt hours (KWH) of electricity. In February 1983 the Hinds Junior College District used 740,124 KWH of electricity.

The electricity bill for February 1978 came to $23,913. The bill for the electricity consumed during February 1983 was $31,664. Less electricity was used, but the College District still paid a higher bill.

Anyone who watches the evening news and keeps up with the Mississippi Public Service Commission knows that energy costs have been rising and will continue to rise, so it is no wonder that energy management has become an important factor in the budget-planning process.

When HJCD Energy Coordinator Paul Bourgeois points out that $99,038 less was paid out by the District during the last six months for electricity and gas than during the same six-month period a year ago, we can begin to understand the significance of energy management.

"The faculty and staff have played a major role in our energy conservation measures throughout the District," said Bourgeois. "I want to thank them and the members of the Energy Conservation Committees at all of the District locations for their input and support."

The very month Bourgeois began working at the HJCD the District consumed more energy than it ever had before: 1,147,608 KWH of electricity were used during August 1982. (August is the peak month for electricity usage at HJCD). Bourgeois began a step-by-step program to reduce energy consumption that month.

First each building in the District was "de-lamped". Light fixtures that were not necessary were removed or no bulbs were put in them. Secondly, buildings were completely shut down on weekends. Then timers were placed on all air conditioning and heating units so they would shut off at night.

"With these energy-saving steps in place KWH-wise and money-wise we are running below the 1982 level," said Bourgeois. "And that includes two dormitories on line that were not completed in 1982. These steps were taken on the Raymond Campus and the Utica Campus.

Bourgeois said the Nursing/Allied Health Center and the Rankin Branch are very energy-efficient buildings with energy-saving features built into them.

Privilege to vote should be an honor

On March 1st, The Hindsonian ran a Straw Poll, which reflected the choice of the students at Hinds for the Democratic Presidential nomination. But we feel that we did not get a true picture of your opinion. Or did we?

There seemed to be a great deal of apathy towards voting by a vast majority of the students. True, this isn't the real thing, but we thought that students would like a chance to share their opinion.

We set up two voting locations for the students: the Campus Grill, and the Cafeteria. Only 12 votes were cast at the Grill and they were difficult to get. The student who handled it said, "Students would just pass by or flatly refuse to vote." In the Cafeteria, we used vocal requests to obtain some votes." We would call to friends and ask their participation, then we got desperate, and stood outside the door and gave out ballots. This did increase voting, but still many students just pitched the ballots into corners or garbage cans and went on their way. They wouldn't take two seconds to cast their vote.

Many interesting remarks were made, such as: "Vote for Who?" or "I don't vote for anything accept my dinner."

Folks, these are tomorrow's voters! It is no wonder people of questionable integrity are elected or bad bills are passed. No one really cares, they only talk a lot about how terrible things are, but don't utilize their right to vote. Let's get with it! Today a Straw Poll, tomorrow the election for the President of the United States.

The Straw Poll winner was Jesse Jackson with 30% of the vote; Walter Mondale, 17%; Undecided 15%; and Ronald Reagan 15% as a write in. We had a total of 306 voters and 7 other write in ballots.

Raymond campus cafeteria criticized by some students

The cafeteria was established many years ago to provide students who are utilizing campus housing with nourishing meals. It is also a means of providing meals at a much lower cost than a student could purchase anywhere else. On page 30 of the '83-'84 Student Handbook, under housing, section B, you will read that all residents are required to purchase a five day or seven day meal ticket for as long as they reside in a residence hall. This is to assure parents of students and the student themselves that they are receiving some type of meal while they are here.

There are times during the operation of such services when questions arise because of problems dealing with the product offered or factors associated with it. At the present time, several students are working up a petition against the food and lack of services in the cafeteria. Gerald Peoples said, "The Cafeteria is dirty. Even if I am the first one there at noon, "it is this way." He especially cited the overflowing garbage containers and food imbedded on the containers." Another student said, "There are no forks or any type of silverware a majority of the time." Deborah Crawford stated, "It is great on Thursday Night." A few specific complaints are that the cafeteria opens late, closes early, and that the weekends are the pits, featuring leftovers."

Debbie Hopper, manager of the cafeteria stated that she felt quality food products are served and that she hasn't received any specific complaints about the food. She also stated that there is a Food Committee who does represent the students and that it has had little following by the students. She feels that there should be more student involvement and she welcomes any specific complaints so that she can deal with them.

Most of the food that is used is frozen or canned with the exception of fresh vegetables for salads, fresh fruit, and meats. All cakes are baked fresh in the kitchen and meat products are made from choice meat and not ready made. Hopper plans the meals with the other managers and it is widely known that all foods are lightly seasoned because of the need to meet everyone's diet tastes. Salt and pepper are available so you can season your food to taste. She did admit to using leftovers and the basis for this is that there is a big difference in the number of students who eat from day to day or meal to meal. They try to add flavors and rework the leftovers.

Hopper feels that she is running a quality-oriented food service and that if anyone has a complaint they should meet with the Food Committee every other Monday at 2:00 P.M.

Eagle baseball team now has 6-0 record

Hinds baseball this season is off to a good start as Coach Rick Clarke and his Eagle team now have a 6-0 record with double header wins over Itawamba, Meridian, and Clarke College.

In their first game with Itawamba the team won the game 2-0 with Kevin Stone pitching a one hit shut out which was a no hitter until two outs in the 7th. Jamie Johnson knocked in both runs for the Eagles.

The second game of the series was a 19-3 win by the Eagles. Coach Clarke remarked, "We got some clutch hits and had a three run triple by Kevin Williams and Jamie Johnson got a grand slam home run." Further commenting Clarke said, "We made a few hits go a long way and their pitching wasn't as good in the second, as well as we were really hitting good." The Eagles used three pitchers during the second game but Kyle Manton was credited with the win and Jamie Johnson was credited with six runs for the day.

In the Meridian game Hinds won the first game 7-5 with two hits each by Guy Smith, Kevin Williams, and Allen Whitfield. Later the Eagles got a triple and homerun by Jamie Johnson.

As the second game with Meridian progressed the Eagles were behind 6-2 in the 6th inning and then they exploded with four runs in the 7th and Allen Whitfield's sacrifice tied the game at 6. Coach Clarke said, "Then Art Hankins singled and we sacrificed him to second and then advanced him to third and went on with Richard Posey's sacrifice fly.

In their first game with Clarke College the Eagles won 4-2. Randall Johnson pitched a three hitter for his first win while Kevin Williams had three hits, a double and a homerun. Guy Crawford had a solo homerun the 5th inning.

The Eagle squad seemed to rally in the second game as they beat Clarke 21-5. The Eagles had 14 hits led by Russell Carruth with 2 hits and 5 RBI's. Kevin Williams, Tony Triplett, and Randall Johnston added 2 hits apiece. Art Hankins was the winning pitcher.

Lady Eagles defeat EMJC

In the Region 23 women's basketball tournament at Mississippi College the Hinds Lady Eagles defeated East Mississippi 72-71.

Williams scored 31 points in the game including 14 of 20 field goals. Williams took a baseball type pass from teammate Becky Rose off an in-bounds play before hitting her dramatic basket.

With 4 seconds to go, East Mississippi took a 71-70 lead. Hinds called a timeout and set up the game-winning play.

Tracey Parker scored 19 points for Hinds which was ranked 6th. Other scores in the game were Gail Lobue 4, Tamra Haggard 8, Anita Bond 4, Liz Vanerson 4, and Becky Rose 2.

BLOOD DRIVE — Circle K sponsored a blood drive on the Raymond Campus last Wednesday in cooperation with United Blood Services of Jackson.

An energy management system was installed at the Vicksburg/Warren County Branch. Bo Bryant, the maintenance supervisor for the Vicksburg/Warren County Branch, along with some student workers and janitorial workers installed the system.

The Jackson Branch is maintaining an energy consumption level that is under the level used during the last two years. The same system that was installed at the Vicksburg/Warren County Branch is being installed at the Jackson branch by Floyd Pearson, maintenance supervisor for the Jackson Branch.

The Raymond Campus will have a Texas Control AMF energy management system installed soon. The computer controlled system will be on the line by the end of March.

The company that manufactures the system guarantees an annual savings of $85,000 on energy usage. Twenty-two buildings on the Raymond Campus will be on this system.

The system will enable the buildings to be programmed individually to hold them at certain temperatures, to start their units at different times as needed, and to turn the motors off in their units periodically. The system will also reduce the peak load required for the entire campus each month. (The monthly electricity bill Hinds pays is based on the peak load required to run the campus during any 15-minute period during that month.) The system has many other energy-saving features also.

Federal grants to incorporate energy-saving measures throughout the District have played an important part in funding these projects. The Vicksburg/Warren County Branch, the Jackson Branch and Cold Storage plant energy management systems were provided by a federal grant totalling $56,000 and they are expected to bring a savings of 25 percent or more when they are completed.

A $39,000 light grant will allow the Raymond Campus to change all the incandescent fixtures to fluorescent fixtures. Bourgeois said that can bring an annual savings of $8-$10 per fixture.

A technical analysis grant allowed an energy evaluation of the Utica Campus to be done.

Board of Trustees name six buildings

The names of six buildings in the Hinds Junior College District were approved during the February meeting of the HJCD Board of Trustees.

A special Committee appointed from the Board of Trustees met January 30 to consider the names submitted to President Clyde Muse's office by February 18. Trustees serving on the committee included: Sharp Banks, chairman, A.A. Alexander and Dale Sullivan.

Nomination forms were distributed among HJCD faculty and staff, the Board of Trustees, the officers in the Alumni Associations and the Development Foundation Board of Directors to allow input into the naming of these buildings.

The Board of Trustees for the Hinds Junior College District approved the following names:

The Meat Merchandising Building will be named in honor of Ethen Porter. Porter served as a member of the Board of Trustees of the Hinds Junior College District from 1964 to 1982 representing Claiborne County. He consistently supported efforts to improve the agriculture curriculum and facilities. Porter is presently one of the leading cattle farmers in the state of Mississippi and lives in the Pattison community of Claiborne County. He also is currently serving and has previously served, in leadership roles in agriculture organizations throughout the South.

The Science Building will be named in honor of Mr. T.T. Beemon. Mr. Beemon served as an instructor of biology and for many years as chairman of the Biology Department on the Raymond Campus. He retired in December of 1983 after 37 years of service to the Hinds Junior College District.

The cafeteria on the Utica Campus is to be named in honor of Lovest McGriggs and Carrie Williams. McGriggs, who was an employee of Utica Junior College for 16 years, served as a bus coordinator until his retirement. Mrs. Williams served for more than 20 years as a grill and cafeteria supervisor.

The women's dormitory on the Utica Campus will be named in memory of Mrs. Maggie Dunson who taught English at the college for 11 years.

The combination men's and women's dormitory will be named in memory of Mrs. Eula Newton, who was postmistress for 25 years; and in honor of Mr. Vertis Walker, a retired public school teacher and respected community member.

The men's dormitory will be named in memory of Rev. B.E. Lewis, a former teacher, minister and community leader. Rev. Lewis taught in the public schools in Warren County, Oakley Training School and Vicksburg Baptist Academy. He also taught at Utica Institute which later became Utica Junior College. Recently the Development Foundation set up a full tuition scholarship available to full-time academic, technical, or vocational students at the Utica Campus in honor of Rev. Lewis who died December 30, 1983.

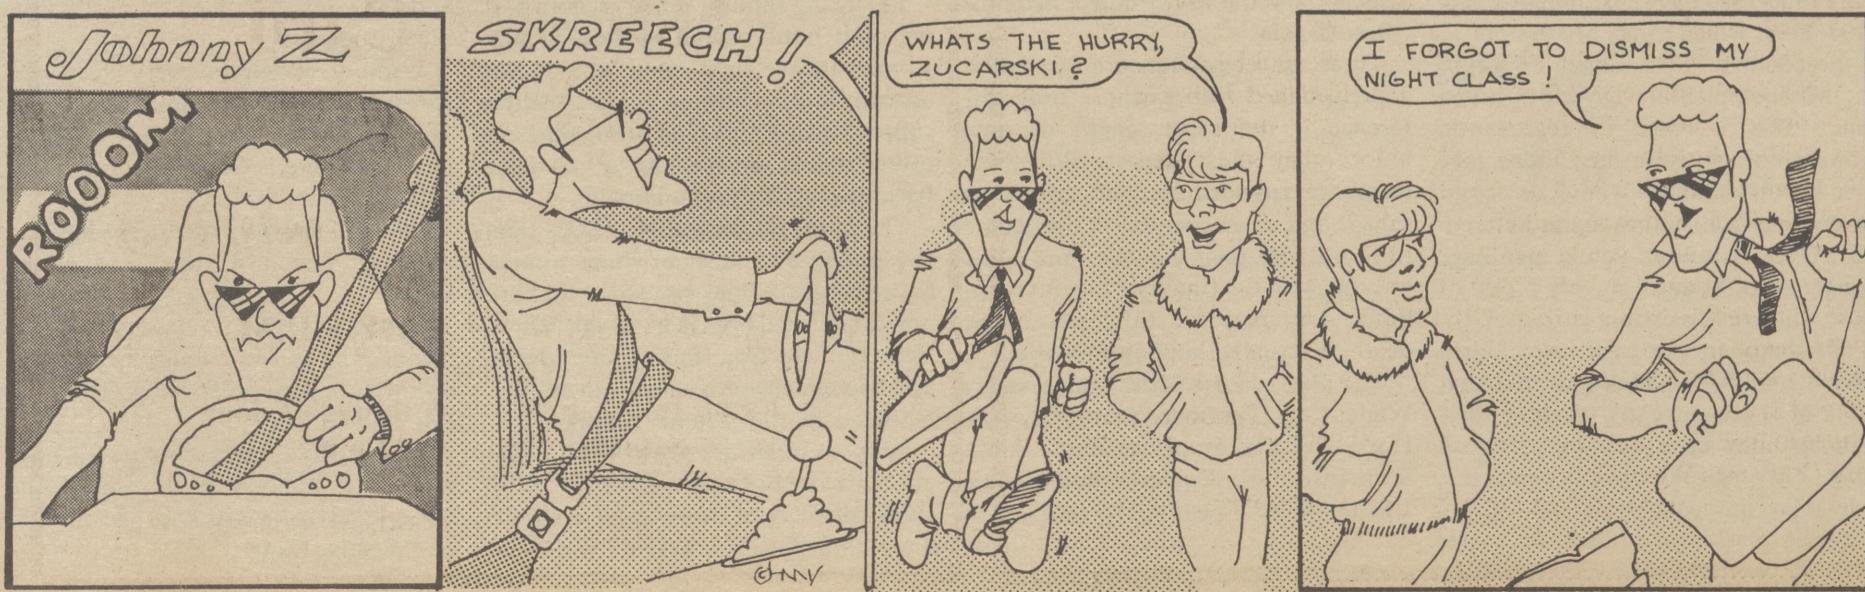

RA applicants deadline set for March 23rd

Rick Hartfield, Director of Student Housing on the Raymond Campus, has announced that persons interested in applying for a Resident Assistant position for the Fall 1984 Semester should pick up an application packet in the Housing Office.

Qualifications for the positions are: the applicant must be a full time student (12 hours), have a 2.25 accumulative G.P.A., have lived in the residence hall for one semester prior to applying.

The Resident Assistant position provides full room and board for those who are selected to work in the different dormitories.

The deadline for applying is March 23, 1984.

Selective service system has 11.3 million registered

During the last 4 months of 1983, 18-year-old men headed to the post office in greater numbers to register with Selective Service. Three major world events - the downing of the Korean jetliner, the bombing of the Marine headquarters in Beirut, and the invasion of Grenada - can partially explain the increase in registrations.

To date 11.3 million men have registered with Selective Service. Approximately 98.6% of the draft eligibles (men born in 1960-1964) have registered.

Alaska, Wyoming, Nevada, and Florida are the highest ranking states in the country with compliance rates at 100%. Ohio and Washington are at the median level with compliance rates of 99% each. California is the lowest ranking state with a rate of 89%. Other examples are Montana 98%, Alabama 98%, and Vermont 98%.

Mississippi's young men born in the years 1960-1964 have a compliance rate of 97.75%, which ranks Mississippi 37 in the country. COL Edgar F. Rapp, Jr., Mississippi State Director, stated that, "this increase in registration shows me that young men today love their country and are willing to accept the responsibilities that living here entails. Over 11 million young men have registered so far and I'm very proud of those who are Mississippi citizens."

The compliance rate for year of birth 1965 is only 87% which indicates that many of those currently reaching their 18th birthday have not registered on time. They should comply with this federal law immediately.

Young men born in 1960 and later years must register within 30 days of their 18th birthday. At this time a man must register with Selective Service to receive federal student aid and job training benefits.

Registration. It's quick. It's easy. And it's the law.

Lendon players plan production

The Shadow Box, by Michael Cristofer will be the next play presented by the Lendon Players and the Department of Speech and Theatre. The production will run from April 24 - 28 in the Little Theatre, at 8:00 P.M.

This particular play has won awards for the "Best Play of the 1976-1977 Season" and the 1977 Pulitzer prize for "Best Drama".

Three cancer patients are faced with a preordained future whose only difference is the exact length of time before they must depart. But these three are attended for and visited by family and close friends, as they come to terms with their anxieties and come to grips with the finality of their conditions. The play is really not about death, it actually thunders with life.

The play cast is: Todd Long, Nancy Wade, Carl Crowther, Scott Ward, Ty Harwell, Stacey Hinesley, Sonia Seamans, J.T. Tucker, and Dennis Chapman, with Denise Halbach as the director.

Age differences

Hinds programs of study offer courses to all ages

The average age of any given college student body is on the rise and Hinds Junior College is no exception. A short walk through the parking lot supports the fact that your mom, her friends and what some call the Geritol set have all discovered college life.

Right there, next to the Mustangs, Cougars and Formula 442s sit the Volvos, Lincolns, and Vista Cruisers with bumper stickers that proclaim the age and attitudes of their owners. "Foxy Grandma", "Ask me about my grandchild" and "Have you kissed your grandchild today" are all alive and well and parked on the commuter parking lot every day of the week.

These are the students the administration refers to as non-traditional. Their individual motivations for returning to academia are as varied as the students themselves, but the basic reason for their enrolling is very simple: to get a college education.

Some are returning to campus after a brief absence and some are coming here for the first time after many years in the school of hard knocks.

The barriers and obstacles these students face vary immensely from person to person but for nearly every adult over the age of twenty-one entering college for the first time, the feeling of culture shock is inevitable.

"Hinds is so different from what I expected," says Craig McReynolds. "These kids are more serious than we were at that age. I guess it's the economy...they know they have to get that degree if they want to make it in this old world." McReynolds, an Army Veteran, says that if he had it to do over again he would have attended college first and then considered the military. "My career options would have been wider and I would probably have realized my talents and interests sooner," he said.

Women are also returning to college campuses in larger numbers than ever before. The obstacles these women must overcome and the problems faced during their college days can at times seem overwhelming.

Balancing family, career, school and personal needs is not something any woman in her right mind would ever attempt to do. Without a good healthy support system this kind of juggling act often results in feelings of anxiety, frustration and disappointment.

The hours are long, the courses time consuming and most of these women have responsibilities elsewhere that are not diminished by their school work. Yet with help from family and friends and enough encouragement, these late-bloomers hit the ground running.

"My children are grown-why I just put my baby in college. All these years I've taken care of everyone else, thinking....someday, someday....Well, today is someday. It's my turn." says Geraldine Overstreet.

Overstreet, forty and first-time college student is the non-traditional personified. Balancing an armload of books and holding a sewing bag, she goes about the business of attaining a college education with a determination that is awe inspiring.

While she does not have the responsibility of young or school-age children to contend with, Overstreet admires her fellow non-traditionals who do. "I honestly don't know how some of these women do it", she says.

"It" is going to school with small children in the family. Good reliable child care is the biggest problem facing mothers in school and in the job force today.

Spreading yourself thin is the price many women pay for a higher education.

"My biggest fear was that my brain had gone to sleep," says Gea Graves. Graves maintains that the college experience cannot be fully appreciated without some degree of maturity. "I don't think I would have appreciated college if I had entered fresh out of high school. This is such an opportunity whose importance is overlooked if you're too immature to realize what you're doing", she says. She's glad she waited.

The impact these students have in the classroom is undeniable. Their very presence is felt in different ways campus-wide.

"The economy, the empty-nest, the women's movement and the post WW II baby boom certainly have all played a part in encouraging adults to return to college", says Dr. Sandra Vance, Professor of History here at Hinds. "Most assuredly in the classes I teach the older students bring a slice of 'real life' back to school that the younger students can translate into a learning experience. When I see the older ones coming in at the beginning of the term, my eyes light up and I can feel assured of a balanced class... balanced in the sense that these students have something to offer the younger ones; and the younger students motivate the older students."

Without exception every instructor consulted was of the opinion that the end result of the age-blending being experienced here is beneficial to all concerned.

Like all changes, whether sudden or gradual, there are drawbacks on all sides.

Certainly sitting in class next to someone who is old enough to be your mother can have interesting effects on some students.

With a little understanding on both sides and some mutual respect, the non-traditional experience can indeed be a positive thing.

"Where's-the-beef" lady creates new fad

A new fad has hit America and it has become as common as hot dogs and apple pie. It is a saying that is being used in a television commercial for Wendy's and that is "where's-the-beef."

People are taking off on this ad and putting in their own word to replace the beef. College campuses seem to be using this famous quote for almost anything that seems appropriate.

Everyone seems to have a favorite aunt and now that seems to be "Aunt Clara" or Clara Peller who is the "where's-the-beef" lady. She has proven to be as feisty and outspoken in real life as in her television commercial for Wendy's.

Peller and her elderly cohorts in the $11 million ad campaign, Elizabeth Shaw and Mildred Lane, have skyrocketed to commercial stardom and will soon be featured in a new Wendy's ad. In a recent press conference Josef Sedelmaier, who makes commercials, shot a portion of the new ad for the benefit of reporters who gathered to meet the stars.

Sedelmaier told Peller to look really disgusted. She complied, scrunching up her wrinkled face, shaking her head and rolling her eyes as the media roared. Because of Peller having trouble hearing, a crew member crouched behind the set and tugged at her dress when it was time for her lines. Peller says that before doing the commercial she didn't even know what they were and now she thinks they are delicious.

When asked her age by reporters she replied "Sixty-Four" but Sedelmaier told reporters that her age is a secret but he believes her age to be in the 80s. She was also asked if she had acquired any new boyfriends since the commercial has been aired and she responded with "There was this man in Mexico but I didn't want him. He looked like Johnny Carson."

Peller was discovered by Josef Sedelmaier eight years ago when he needed a manicurist to serve as an extra in one of his commercials. An employee ran to a nearby beauty shop and found Peller for the off-camera role.

Sedelmaier says Peller's success was unprecedented among his commercial stars. There are Clara Peller fan clubs, look-alike and sound-alike contest, and Clara Peller T-shirts.

However, it seems not everyone knows her since during a recent visit to Mexico she was returning to the United States when she was detained at the border by immigration officials because of a minor paperwork snafu.

"Just because I didn't fill out some card, they wouldn't let me back in," she said. "So I said, 'You don't know who you're holding. You're holding a star'!"

Circle K mascot creature of travel

BY SAM JONES

AUTHOR'S NOTE: This rare interview with Thibeaux, the crusty but popular crawfish mascot of the HJC Circle K Club, took place as he was scurrying across the Raymond Campus on one of his also rare goodwill tours. His bright red attire was a big attention getter, and as we sped along, he was constantly waving to folks along the way. For those of you who may have seen him about his business on Campus and wondered who he was, we hope this interview will help you get to know him so the next time you see him you will wave and say "Hi", not point and stare, or scream, or fall down laughing. Thibeaux is very sensitive and very serious about his work, as you will see.

what I mean. The Big Apple, or Beantown, or...

Reporter: Beantown? Isn't that seafood country?

Mr. T: Uh, yeah. Scratch Beantown. But you get my drift, right?

Reporter: You like to travel.

Mr. T: Yeah, in the good old days, I'd go to all the big Circle K conventions... places like Kansas City, Chicago...

Reporter: Why not any more?

Mr. T: Well... Time was when we mascots would be nabbed and held hostage until our clubs would find us and buy us back. The proceeds went to charity. It was good for charity, but better for us... a good feeling, you know? A sense of purpose. But it got so that mascots like us were so attractive, the kidnappers wouldn't sell us back. So when my Hindsoes got me back the last time, they swore they'd never take a chance like that again. So (sigh) I'm stuck in "Dodge City".

Reporter: I guess that's pretty rough.

Mr. T: Yeah. Don't get me wrong now. There's nothing wrong with beautiful downtown "Burbank", you know? It's just that I love the bigtime. Bigtime cities, with their big-time restaurants and their big-time foods...

Reporter: Just what are some of your favorite foods?

Mr. T: Oh, Steak Diane, Apple Brown Betty, Potatoes Francine. Stuff like that.

Reporter: As long as we're on the subject of food, I'm dying to ask. How do you feel about okra?

Mr. T: Get lost.

AUTHOR'S NOTE: With that, Thibeaux scuttled back into the subterranean netherworld of the public relations office where they say he has gone into seclusion in the news morgue cupboard. They have sent out to Memphis for Steak Diane, Apple Brown Betty and Potatoes Francine in an effort to entice him out of his deep funk. (Thibeaux, if you are reading this, please accept our apology for our astonishing lack of sensitivity. This campus needs your wisdom, humanity and humor in these troubled times. We promise never to use that word again.)

Circle K starts project

The Hinds Circle K club is now working on their single service project for this year. The project is at the Clinton Christian Community Center.

The center is a Clinton based social service agency designed to coordinate efforts of concerned local citizens as they seek to enhance the quality of life for elderly and disadvantaged neighbors.

"The center is in need of some repair work to the outside and inside area as well," said Circle K President Ken Anderson. "Our club is going to build some steps on the outside of the building that will enable people to reach a parking lot much easier," stated Anderson. Other work that Circle K will be doing at the center will include painting the outside of the building and doing some needed electrical work on the inside of the building.

Circle K began work on the center this week and hopes to have the project completed in time to enter it in competition at their district convention in Baton Rouge in April.

Anderson stated, "The center provides us with the opportunity to work with both elderly persons and young people who the center serves."

Yearbook completed distribution scheduled

The Hinds yearbook, The Eagle, has been completed and sent to the publisher, Taylor Publishing Company, in Dallas, Texas and should be back for distribution near the end of April.

The 320 page yearbook which features 30 pages of color has eight main division sections this year. These include Personalities, Sports View, Campus Vogue, Campuses-Branes & Centers, Reflections, Amusements, Entertainment and the Directory.

The last shipment was sent to the publishing company February 19 and this included 97 pages. Ken Anderson and Amy Sparks served as co-editors of the 1984 Eagle. Anderson remarked, "We believe that we have put together a good book that students will enjoy and which will help to remember their days at Hinds."

Amy Sparks commented, "The biggest problem is trying to keep a staff together to work on such a large publication and with Hinds having seven campuses, branches, and centers this sometimes presents problems in coordinating photographers to cover all these areas.

Lendon Players present Tony Award production

by Stacey Hinesley

The Lendon Players will present a Tony Award and Pulitzer Prize winning play April 25-28 in the Little Theater on the Raymond Campus under the direction of Miss Denise Halbach.

"The Shadow Box", written by Michael Cristofer, is the most difficult play ever attempted at Hinds Junior College. Miss Halbach, who has been a speech teacher and Theater director at Hinds for the past three years, said most junior colleges won't touch the play. It is one of the best written and most advanced plays to perform. To obtain the emotional reality needed, both the actors and the director must move to greater depths of character than ever before.

"The Shadow Box" portrays the relationship between three separate groups of people, one of which in each group is dying of cancer. The characters use defense mechanisms to protect themselves against facing the impending death. Two characters accept it in different ways. One makes a joke of it and the other quietly accepts the fact. One character fights against it, while another laughs it off. The three characters who are dying accept their deaths, but their loved ones have problems accepting it.

When asked if the audience would enjoy a play about death, Miss Halbach replied, "that's what's so surprising about it. It's not about death but about life."

Miss Halbach said people go to sad movies, yet they are afraid to go to sad plays because emotions appear more real on stage. She said people should come to enjoy the play as an emotional release and to experience it. "Theater allows people to feel."

The play will make people uncomfortable, but will show them how to deal with what everyone will eventually have to deal with. According to Miss Halbach, the play, "adds hope to life."

In her book, On Death and Dying Elizabeth Kubler-Ross, M.D. says, "There are five different stages a person will go through when he faces the fact of his own death: denial, anger, bargaining, depression, and acceptance. These stages will last for different periods of time, they will replace

Students honored

Congratulations to the students who were awarded for superior achievement at Hinds Junior College.

Many students are not aware of this award which is a recognition of the superior achievement of the students in their particular fields of endeavor. Intelligence is our country's best hope to deal with the future and we realize that there are many students on our campuses who are also high achievers and we will be watching these students for future success.

Not all of us can be outstanding achievers, but even our average students must be commended, because it takes a lot of work to maintain your grades, and if you feel that you could do better, by all means have at it.

Now for the students who haven't taken college seriously, well, don't you think it is about time? Many of you will find out that college is not for you at this time and then one day you will be back with us and maybe even be one of our success stories. It takes self discipline, the setting of a goal and the determination to meet the challenge.

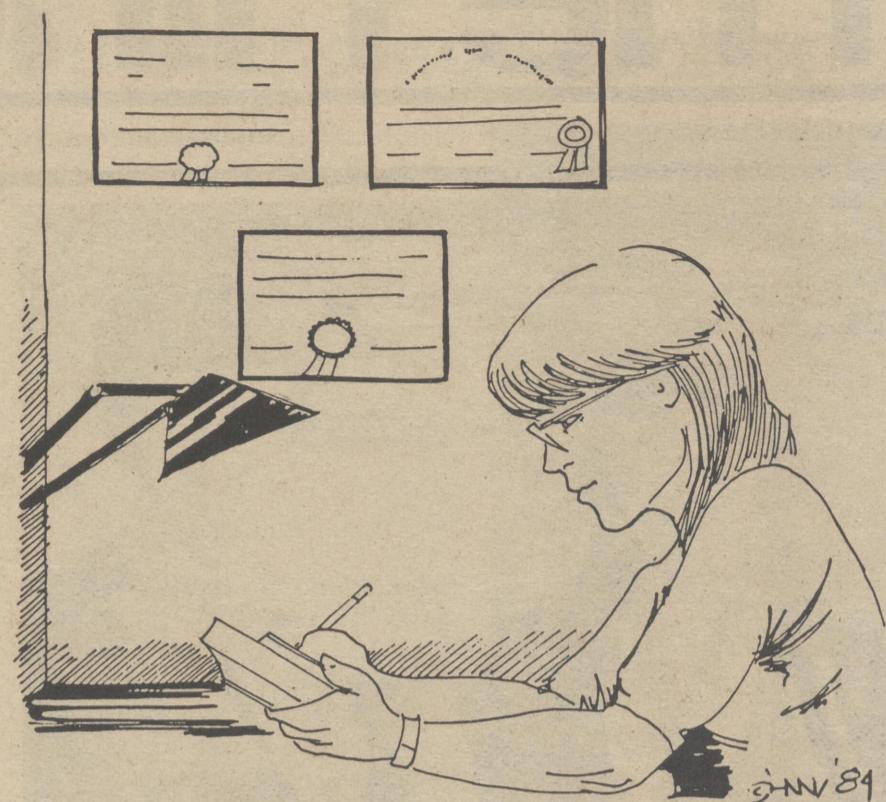

Since this is now the second half of this semester, let's get to work and see if we all can improve. Good luck!

World's Fair announces summer jobs available

The Cooperative Education and Job Placement Office is now accepting applications for jobs that are being offered at the World's Fair during the summer months. Clark Henderson, Director of Cooperative Education and Job Placement Services, stated: "If anyone is interested, they should apply as soon as possible, because the competition will be very tough. Interviews will be arranged through the Louisiana Job Services and could lead to full time employment with a company."

Starting pay is $4.00 per hour, and it will be the responsibility of the students to arrange for their own housing, although efforts are being made to help co-ordinate the efforts with employers, so that students need to stipulate this on their application.

All applicants should state their background experience stressing their best abilities. Apply early because there is no guarantee in securing these jobs.

DORM MOTHERS - Reba Higdon, left, and Ima Jean Bardin have both been dorm mothers at Hinds for a number of years. Higdon has been at Hinds 14 years while Bardin has been here 11 years.

HJC Dorm mothers become mothers away from home

Dorm mothers or Resident Managers as they are known today, are very special women. They have the insight, being mothers and having raised their own children, to help students with their problems and be willing and patient listeners. Raba Higdon, dorm mother of Allen-Whittaker states, "The dorm mother is familiar with many problems and must be prepared to meet situations of which no two are the same."

Raba has been a dorm mother for 14 years. She loves the job and she can recall when dorms were closed early. The girls were not allowed out after curfew unless they had permission slips and every night there was a room check. If a girl was found missing, she would be given a reasonable amount of time and then her parents were called. Today these rules do not exist and the girls express concern about it. They feel that something could happen to them and no one would know.

One of the common problems Higdon deals with on a regular basis is the girls sowing their wild oats. Since most of the girls come from homes of working parents, they don't get homesick and they are in some ways better prepared to face the world of dorm life, but Higdon believes that you can recognize the girls that do have closer ties with their homes and churches because they are usually no problem.

Ima Jean Bardin, has been a dorm mother for 11 years and she is now at Hardy-Puryear. She has found that being a dorm mother for a large dorm is more informal and you usually don't see all the girls. She recalled a funny incident: "Right after the dorm first opened with an open-house, two girls came up to me and requested my help. They said that their door could not be opened and that two others were locked in the room. We went up to the room and worked for quite awhile and finally we were able to open the door and to my surprise let her mother and grandmother out."

Bardin finds that a number of girls are not the best of housekeepers and it is up to resident assistants to check on the rooms twice a week and request the girls to clean up.

Each dorm mother has her own apartment on the premises in order to be or assistance if she is needed.

So many incidents have happened to these women that I am sure they could write quite a book in their retirement years.

A special thanks

To the student who found my books in the parking lot and turned them in to Campus Security. Your honesty is deeply appreciated and I thank you very much!

each other, or exist at times side by side...But the one thing that usually persists through all these stages is hope."

Bookstore expands facilities

by V.K. Vardaman

The Campus Bookstore is expanding its facilities into the old recreation room across the hall from the bookstore. The new area will be used to store and sell the tremendous number of textbooks needed by students from all the Hinds Junior College locations. Mrs. Delores Henderson, the bookstore manager, says she plans for the new section to be ready in time for the summer semester.

The space previously occupied by textbooks will now be used to relieve the crowded conditions in the store and to make room for new products, though Mrs. Henderson says that she has not yet decided what these products will be.

Mrs. Henderson says that basically everything will remain the same in the bookstore except that students will have to walk across the hall to shop for textbooks. For those students who need to purchase all their supplies with one check, do not worry. Mrs. Henderson assures that the store will make arrangements for you.

21-13-2 Record

Baseball season complete, Lady Eagles softball now 22-12

Coach Rick Clarke and his Hinds Junior College Eagles have completed their season of play with a 21-13-2 overall record for the 1984 season. The Hinds Eagles are also 7-4 in their division of play which includes Copiah-Lincoln, Utica, and Southwest.

The Eagles beat Co-Lin twice and Southwest four times but were defeated by the Utica squad three times. Coach Clarke commented, "The one characteristic of this team this season is that we are very inconsistent and we haven't peaked yet."

Clarke also commented, "We have played every team that could win the state title and have beat them at least once so I believe that we are still in good position near the end of the season."

The Lady Eagles Softball team now have a 19-4 record for the season. Coach Deborah Nichols and her team just captured the Belhaven Tournament as well. The Lady Eagles defeated Clarke College 16-4, and Belhaven 3-2.

Since the Belhaven tournament the Lady Eagles have defeated Pearl River twice: 12-1 and 11-0; Clarke twice: 11-10 and 7-6; and Mississippi Delta twice: 11-0 and 11-4. The Lady Eagles leave this week for Pensacola, Florida for an invitational tournament.

In tennis news the Hinds team played Utica with both mens and womens teams losing to Utica 4-2. April 12 the Eagle squad played Southwest with the women winning 4-0 while the boys lost 4-2 to Southwest.

"DOC" MANCHESTER — Hinds Junior College Band Director John Manchester has been director of the Hinds Band for nine years. He arranges many of the show tunes that the band performs during the football game half-time shows.

Raymond Lake offers freedom from studies

With summer rapidly approaching perhaps the Students at Hinds Jr. College will enjoy some hot fun in the summer time, if so the ideal place for that is at the Raymond Lake and Golf Course. The lake and golf course is located directly across from the college on Highway 18. For several years the lake has been enjoyed by many. Among those to enjoy the lake are a

For all the fishermen and women, the lake permits fishing. Although the signs remain along the bank, the lake now allows Bass fishing. Bass fishing was once restricted at Raymond lake due to extinction of Bass fish. To correct that problem the lake was drained and restocked with fish. Although fishing is permissible, motor boating is off limits for fear of killing the fish with harmful chemicals. The lake with majority of Hinds Jr. College students.

The lake, which is far enough off the highway to be enjoyed and not to be interfered with by passing traffic, has a tremendous amount of outdoor beauty. It is surrounded by a number of pinetrees and has several tables and benches for the convenience of all summer picnic lovers. Otherwise, it provides a shady seat for all those who just want to watch the water.

its many beautiful features also offers a well equipped golf course for the enjoyment of golfers. The price for playing is $3.00 for 9 holes and $4.00 for 18 holes. Whether you may find your fantasy in the lake with its many wonderful attractions or on the well kept golf course, the lake and the course are opened for your enjoyment and is highly recommended for your recreation.

Band program offers more than a musical education

by Dena O'Bannon

The band program at Hinds Junior College (HJC) is a course that offers more than just a musical education to its students. It teaches them organization, cooperation, a sense of responsibility, and gives students the experience of performing.

The man behind this band is Dr. John Manchester, better known as "Doc". He has directed the HJC band for 11 years now. One unique thing about "Doc" is that he is not only respected as a teacher, but also trusted as a friend by his students.

The complete band program consists of three parts: concert, marching, and stage band. The first semester of band is marching and the second is concert; however, the stage band is offered both semesters. This year the marching band consisted of 75 members and the concert band of 65 members. "Doc" is expecting a band of approximately 80 members for the 1984 fall season.

Hinds has an excellent band program and facilities which compare favorably to many college band programs around the state. But one thing does need to be increased, and that is faculty. More faculty members would give both music majors and music lovers an opportunity to broaden their musical backgrounds.

The band performs not only at ballgames and pep rallies, but they also have marched in numerous parades and exhibitions. For instance, they marched in the Natchez, Clinton, Pearl, Jackson, and the Dixie National Rodeo parades. They have also marched as an exhibition band for the Forest Hill Marching Contest.

The band is also involved in many other activities. HJC hosted Mississippi's State Band Contest April 6-14. They will also host the Central Mississippi Band Festival for secondary high school bands and Jr. high school bands Saturday, April 28th. This is a one day contest.

"Doc" definitely has a full-time job that lasts year 'round. While school is in session he must not only consider his present band, but also his future band. Therefore, he must visit all the high schools in the HJC district and talk to directors and graduating seniors about joining the HJC band. Recruiting is very time consuming, but is necessary for a junior college band due to the large turnover in students from one semester to another.

During the summer, "Doc" rewrites and arranges music to suit HJC's instrumentation. He designs drills and field maneuvers, and he must order and purchase supplies needed for the upcoming season. Also if he feels there is not enough time to learn the drills for the first show when school starts, he must then make plans for a summer camp to learn part of the show.

The concert band is presently preparing for its spring concert which will be given Thursday, May 10th. They will also have an annual spring banquet toward the end of the semester for the presentation of the band awards.

HJC's band is definitely not a band of all work and no play. That is why students have decided to close the year with a little fun in the sun by going on a canoe trip.

Tryouts for a position on the flag or rifle corps, or for drum-major for the 1984 fall season have been tentatively scheduled for Saturday May 12th. People interested in trying out need to contact "Doc" in the Fine Arts Building.

AWARDS BANQUET SPEAKER — Guest speaker for the Awards Banquet was Strobe Talbott who is Diplomatic Correspondent for Time Magazine. His speech concerned the Reagan's Administration responses toward the Soviet Union.

Modeling class teaches techniques of fashion

by Kim Tucker

Students who are interested in modeling are in luck this semester. Mrs. Barbara Mayo, a D.H. Holmes' model, is now teaching a modeling class here at Hinds Junior College.

The class is focused on students who want to pursue a career in either modeling or fashion merchandising, but is open to all Vo-Tech students. At present, twenty-one girls are enrolled in the three-hour credit course which meets every Tuesday and Thursday.

The students take tests on lecture material and are also graded on appearance, modeling technique knowledge, and two major projects, but the class is a fun and easy course. They have guest speakers, put on fashion shows, are taught how to build a versatile wardrobe, and they even have an exercise period during class to help in staying in shape.

Students are taught such modeling techniques as: tea room, where the model approaches individual tables and customers; cosmetic, facial make-up modeling; formal, where the model appears in evening wear apparel; runway, where the girls model on an extended platform; accessory, which refers to taking an outfit and by simply adding or changing jewelry, hats and gloves make an entirely different outfit; and mannequin modeling, referring to the still-life approach. The one thing that the girls are taught to realize in learning each technique is that they are selling the outfit they happen to be wearing at the time. Also, like any other salespersons, they must know the techniques of their trade.

Even if the girls never model after they take the class, they can always apply what they have learned from it. The students' individual needs are taken very much into consideration when planning the activities for this course.

Mrs. Mayo stresses that self-confidence and a strong self-image are very important in this class. She hopes this class will help build self-confidence for those who seem to be lacking in this area. She considers the most important attribute for a model to possess, other than self-confidence, is a complete "head-to-toe look" or total image. A pretty smile and a good figure contribute to this area.

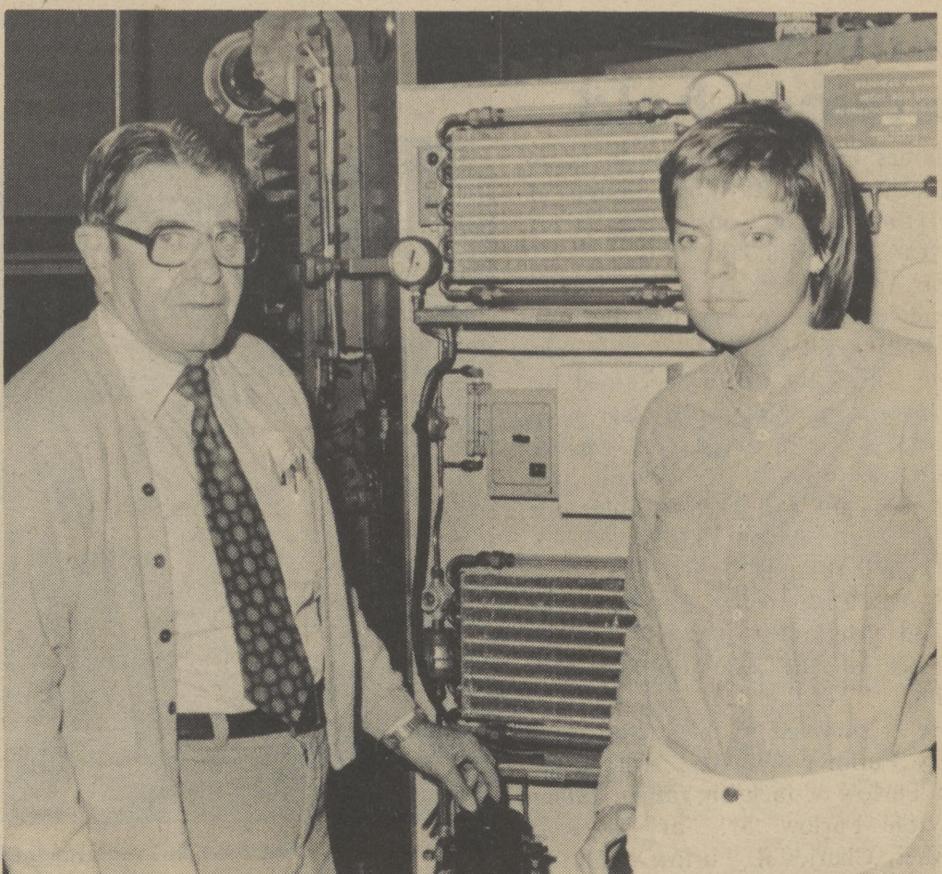

For those students who are secretly hoping to become the next Brooke Shields or are just interested in the world of fashion, this class may be for you.

Editor bids farewell

As a graduating sophomore, it is time for me as your editor to say my good-byes and wish the next editor my fascinating position.

I will certainly miss a lot of friends that have made my stay more pleasurable, and then there are some events that I'll miss which I will no longer be a part of, like Concert Choir.

All in all, I have had a good time and have learned a lot and the instructors have been very enlightening.

It's hopeful that more students will take an interest in our newspaper next year. Really, it doesn't take too much of your time and with some organization you'll find time to do lots of other things, I did.

Freshmen, be sure to take precautions this summer so that you will be bringing your smiling faces back to campus to finish your education. To all the students who are going on in their own endeavors, whether it is finishing college or going out to work, be sure to do the best you can and improve yourself a little every day and you'd be surprised at the results. Good-bye and good luck to everyone.

Carr appointed judge

The National Council of Teachers of English announces the appointment of Mr. Jerry G. Carr, Department of English, Hinds Junior College, Raymond, Mississippi, as regional judge for the 1984 NCTE Achievement Awards in Writing. Through this nationally recognized competition, now in its twenty-fifth year, approximately 800 high school seniors are cited for excellence in writing and are recommended to colleges and universities for admission and for financial aid, if needed. Over six thousand students have been nominated for NCTE awards in 1984. Results will be announced in October.

Students are nominated for Achievement Awards in writing by their high school English departments and are chosen for recognition by state judging committees. (Each nominee submits an impromptu theme and a sample of his or her best writing to be judged.) The regional judging committees are composed of both high school and college teachers who work under the direction of state coordinators.

The National Council of Teachers of English is made up of more than 100,000 individual teachers and institutional members at all levels of instruction, from elementary school through graduate college. Its goal is more effective teaching of English language and literature in the nation's schools and colleges. NCTE publishes journals, books and recordings to aid teachers in the classroom and in their professional development.

'Presidential Speaking'

by Clyde Muse

The 1983-84 college year has been both busy and exciting. This has been our second year in operation as the Hinds Junior College District, and the year has been filled with challenges but more importantly with opportunities. Our management system is working well on the two campuses and at the branches and centers.

The Hinds Junior College District Board of Trustees and the Mississippi Junior College Commission has approved the creation of a comprehensive community college campus in the city of Jackson. The campus will be comprised of a planned expansion of existing programs and/or facilities at the Jackson Branch, Nursing/Allied Health Center, and the Universities Center.

Special emphasis and objectives are:

(1) Jackson Branch - High technology programs and the academics to support these programs.

(2) Nursing/Allied Health Center - Nursing and allied health programs and the academics to support these programs.

(3) Universities Center - Academic transfer core programs, such as, accounting and general business, behavioral and social science, computer science and data processing, engineering and science, general education and liberal arts along with selected "white collar" technical and paraprofessional programs.

Particular attention will be focused on the need for educational services in Jackson as called for in the long range plan approved by the courts in the case of Ayers vs. Winter.

Jackson is an educational center served by a number of public and private colleges and universities, but by only two-year college, namely the Hinds Junior College District. Based upon past experience within the state of Mississippi, as well as other states, two-year colleges typically attract a new and previously unserved clientele into higher education based upon their low cost, special programs and closeness to home. Consequently, it is believed that such an expansion will have only minimal effects upon enrollments at other colleges and universities at the lower division level and would, in fact, enhance their enrollments at the upper division level.

I want every person - faculty, staff, student body, and citizens, to know that I appreciate every contribution you have made toward whatever progress we have made. Why does the institution exist? For students, therefore, I want students to know that I am very pleased that you chose Hinds. I hope that your experience here has been pleasurable and rewarding and that the excitement of learning will not fade. For those who have not finished the college's offerings in your course of study, I would welcome your return to continue your studies with us. Whatever your future plans may be, I trust that you will continue your education - a life-long process. At no time has it been more incumbent upon an individual to keep up with the rapidly changing needs of our society, to adjust to the demands of the job market, to upgrade old skills and learn new ones, to learn about other cultures and people. There is always more to be learned.

I hope all of you who are finishing your work with us will become active members of the Alumni Association. We would like to stay in touch. Best wishes for a good vacation.

Hi-Steppers known as busy campus group

by Renee Ramos

The Hinds Junior College Hi-Steppers are busy on and off the football field. Mrs. Anna Bee, Director of the Hi-Steppers, said that the Hi-Steppers are a group that is very much in demand because they are a year-round organization. The Hi-Steppers have a very busy schedule planned for the upcoming months, and through the summer.

While everyone was vacationing, the Hi-Steppers kept working, practicing routines, and Friday participated in a rally for Vice-President George Bush.

On Saturday, March 24, the Hi-Steppers held road blocks throughout Jackson, Pearl, Madison, and Vicksburg to collect money for Easter Seals. On March 31 and April 1, the Hi-Steppers performed on the Easter Seals Telethon. Mrs. Bee said that the Hi-Steppers had been working with Easter Seals for about 20 years.

Wednesday, March 28, the Miss Hinds Pageant was held. Among the entertainment, the Hi-Steppers were featured.

Coming up in April, the Hi-Steppers performed on the 10th and will perform again on the 18th. The 10th, the Hi-Steppers performed at the Holiday Inn North for the State Convention for Sunflower Food Stores. The 18th, they will be at Byram School.

Twenty-five of the girls will be participating in a movie that is to be filmed in Jackson. Since this is a new project, the girls who will represent the Hi-Steppers and the dates for filming are not yet known.

In May or June of last year, the Hi-Steppers were invited to participate in the 1984 World's Fair in New Orleans.

The Hi-Steppers have just recently completed their video tape for the World's Fair. They will be performing over the summer. Their performances will most likely be in July. Mrs. Bee stated, "I'll be anxious to compare the New Orleans World's Fair with the New York World's Fair that they performed at in 1964."

The Hi-Steppers are a group that deserves their recognition. PM Magazine will be running a second feature on the HJC Hi-Steppers sometime in the near future. "Perhaps this schedule of events explains why for the past 30 years Hi-Steppers have been representing Hinds Jr. College in the state of Mississippi and all over the United States," states Mrs. Bee.

ASB Miscellanea

Joe Cooper

With this being the last issue of the Hindsonian for the 1983-84 school year, it seems only proper to consider this a "farewell" article. I would like to begin by saying that the past year has been a very challenging and changing year for Student Government here at Hinds. As President of the Associated Student Body, I feel that much has been accomplished. Yet, there is so much left to do. Obviously, my impending graduation will limit my abilities to simply those afforded alumni of the Hinds Junior College District. However, by no means will I be any less concerned for the future of ASB and its success.

Secondly, I would like to say a very sincere word of thanks to all of those who have given of themselves to make ASB as organized and effective as possible, including the Administration, faculty, ASB staff, and the entire student body. Without your help, ASB would never gotten off the ground.

Finally, let me wish the very best of luck to Janice Patti, the 1984-85 ASB President. Janice has a great amount of enthusiasm and expectation for the year ahead, and I hope that each of you as part of the student body will give Janice and her staff your utmost support and encouragement.

I have to say, it won't be very long after I have left that I will begin to miss all that I have come to be a part of over the last two years. Nevertheless, my prayers and best wishes will always be with you as you go from here toward the place in life to which you have been called--may God bless you.

Newly elected ASB president

by Gilbert Anderson

Student apathy is the reason the ASB president-elect ran Janice Patty, the newly elected Student Body President of the Raymond campus, said that she has some ideas for next semester on how to get students involved.

Although Patty declined to reveal all of her ideas, she did say that she looked forward to activities after football games. She also said that she plans to appoint people to various committees and groups involving them directly, hopefully getting people interested in student events.

"It's got to be the students," she said. "No amount of money that Hinds Junior College spends is going to make them do anything. If they're not interested, they're not going to do it."

Patty will be attending the Hinds Junior College District's Raymond Campus for the third year, next year. Her first two years were academic, now

Breiger decides education is the right track for his life

Randy Breiger is one of Hinds outstanding students at Hinds who is majoring in Commercial Design and Advertising. He writes a variety of literature and is winning recognition for his work. Last week he won five trophies and has won a number of others, such as third place for his poetry in a state contest.

As you can see, Randy is very good, but he has told a story of his first 2½ years at college and we'd like to pass it along to you.

He entered Mississippi State a few years ago and started off well enough. But he had mixed emotions on which career to choose. He wasn't sure if he should a job with a large future salary or one to please others. As time went by Randy got involved with many activities, and many extracurricular activities. Generally, it became a large party, flowing one into another while his studies fell by the wayside. He began to worry about whether he'd make it or not, and got involved with drugs.

After seeing that his grades wouldn't make it, Randy left college and went to work. As he worked, his attitude started to change. He thought, "I surely don't want to be waiting tables the rest of my life, and if I get the chance, I'm going to go back to school and make something of myself."

Fate has a way of directing people and Randy feels that his bicycle accident that has had him on crutches for the past five months was the cause of his returning to school. His hip was broken in the accident and he was unable to work. His family decided to give him another chance at getting an education.

Randy would like other students who may be in the situation he was in to realize that positive change is possible. You can get your life back on the track. "It's attitude that has everything to do with success," says Randy. He knows whereof he speaks since not only are his grades better than ever, but he has had success as a writer while at Hinds. Some of his poetry will be published by a poetry magazine "Aluria". He has written a four-act play which he plans to do something with in the future called, "Keep Counting, Mrs. Browning," about the many ways there are to love.

Randy considers that the warmth generated by Hinds students and faculty, and the interest shown in students here, had made all the difference in helping him get back into his education.

WINS AWARDS — Randy Breiger is shown with five of the awards he won last week for his work. Breiger is a Commercial Design and Advertising student on the Raymond Campus.

Rosia Crisler leaves impression on students

Mrs. Rosia Crisler, instructor of English and French on the Raymond Campus for the past year, has in this short time made a lasting impression on her students. They see her as an outstanding teacher, advisor, and actress.

Mrs. Crisler has been with HJCD for 13 years, having taught at the Utica Campus for 12 years in the Modern Foreign Language and Dramatic Arts departments.

In addition to her role as instructor, Mrs. Crisler is an accomplished actress, having performed many important roles on stage as well as on screen.

MRS. CRISLER

Among her stage credits at New Stage Theater in Jackson are roles in "Getting Out", "Home", and "Street Car Named Desire". She also appeared in the recent NBC television movie, "Beulah Land."

In a student interview Mrs. Crisler revealed another aspect of her interests and that is, as with many of us, a pen-

Art donated

Artists Harry Maddox, painter, and Lewis West, sculptor, who exhibited their work in Marie Hull Gallery in April, have each donated an example of their artistry to the Hinds Junior College District.

Maddox gave HJCD an oil landscape entitled, "Little Sand Creek" and West contributed his alabaster sculpture aptly called, "Sleeping Cat".

The future location of the painting is not yet determined, but the sculpture will be on display in the Reference Room of McLendon Library.

chant for thinking of solutions to help better the world.

In the area of education, her idea is that a major problem is lack of proper funding, "which is causing schools to forfeit many important courses". She states, "Our schools and universities are losing good teachers because of low salaries." Her solution is for government and communities to focus more on education as it deals with the needs and demands of today's society, and to get back to basics in education. She credits outstanding teachers in her own educational process with inspiring her to become an educator. "It is a very important and rewarding field," she says, "helping students realize and develop their potentials." She feels that students are largely unprepared for today's job market and she is concerned with their becoming more aware of job requirements and the importance of good job performance.

She would also like to see everyone become more politically aware and involved so as to be able to help stem the tide of corruption and turmoil that have become the benchmark of 'politics'.

Mrs. Crisler has become an unofficial advisor to a great many Hinds students and has ample opportunity to imprint her upbeat philosophies on them. She serves as a role model to some, as well, showing that a woman can successfully combine a career and exciting outside interests while raising a family. Mrs. Crisler is married to Mr. Johnny Crisler, Dean of Students on the Utica Campus and they have three children, Johnny Fitzgerald, Marshand Kenyatta, and Rasheda LeToi.

Concerning next year Patty said, "I'm so excited about it. All these things keep coming to mind... I know it's going to be hard working with students like this but I'm going to do my best."

Patty said she would like to see teachers become more involved in what students are doing. If teachers show an interest maybe students will too.

Instructors, Hi-Steppers perform at World's Fair

Two Hinds Junior College instructors and the Hi-Steppers will take part in the 1984 World's Fair in New Orleans this summer, as craftsmen demonstrate their talents to World's Fair tourists. Bob Dunaway, Chairman of the Art Department at Hinds, will be featured in an exhibit showing the art of cutting miniature silhouettes June 11-14, and Nell Shivers, Psychology Instructor at Hinds, will perform her skills of storytelling on June 5 with four performances at scheduled times. All artists will be located in the Mississippi Pavilion of the World's Fair. The Hi-Steppers will says Shivers, "and there was no television, so people told stories. Small towns encouraged storytelling--people know everybody and talk to everybody," she says. "The people in the South are more interested in other people, especially the strange and eccentric people of a small town. "Storytelling," says Shivers is "something you are born with." Like Dunaway, Shivers took her lifelong talents and refined them into a fine art form.

"A good way to approach it (storytelling) is reading about it and thinking about it. Then you need to get perform at sometime in June.

Dunaway, who has cut silhouettes of famous celebrities like Vincent Price, Art Linkletter, and Osmond Family members, began the fine art of silhouette cutting almost by accident while teaching in the Jackson Public Schools in 1960.

"I was teaching seventh-graders about positive-negative space and started cutting silhouettes," Dunaway remembers. "I've been doing it ever since." The Mississippi native and Clinton resident maintains a studio at his home where he also paints with watercolor, makes small sculpture and jewelry with lost wax casting, and draws caricatures. He accepts commissions for water color paintings of specific subject matter anywhere in the U.S.A. When the World's Fair Commission asked for Mississippi natives to exhibit their fine arts and crafts, Dunaway applied and was accepted. "There are not many of us doing it," Dunaway says of his craft. "It is like drawing with scissors. I cut what I see--children, old people, people of different ethnic groups," says Dunaway. "I enjoy these kinds of people the most."

NELL SHIVERS

Nell Shivers began storytelling a long time ago as a small girl. Originally from the Mississippi Delta, Shivers grew up listening to members of her family tell stories--childhood entertainment which would later turn into a profession.

"We didn't have electricity then," a picture series in your mind, and write an outline about the things that you see."

Both Bob Dunaway and Shivers and the Hi-Steppers will be featured during Jackson Week at the World's Fair, in the Mississippi Pavilion along with other talented Mississippi Craftsmen. For further information about events scheduled at The World's Fair, call the World's Fair at 1-800-4730.

Students need to pay debts

by Frank Parsons

Student debts should not be taken lightly.

Any graduating students who ignore their obligations to Hinds Junior College District will not have their transcripts sent to any other institutions until all debts are paid.

Students who owe the school money will be sent a letter advising them of the amount owed according to C.V. Sullivan, Vice President of Business Services. Sullivan said the most common delinquent debts are library fines, traffic fines, and over due tuition and room and board expenses.

Students are urged to pay all overdue obligations at the Business Services Office in the Administration Building before the end of the semester. Those students who are planning to return to Hinds Junior College District next semester will not be allowed to register until all debts have been paid.
